PART I

Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, Land Revenue, dated 2nd April 1913.

No. R. 5505-15—L. R. 434-12-1, DATED BANGALORE, 2ND APRIL 1913.

ORDER THEREON.—It has been brought to the notice of Government that temporary huts or sheds for dwelling and other purposes are often erected in close proximity to Railway Stations during outbreaks of plague or other epidemic diseases and that these sheds constitute a danger to the safety of the Station staff as well as of the travelling public. Government consider that Deputy Commissioners who have the power to permit the erection of such sheds or huts on agricultural and Government land, should take special precautions to prevent any sheds being erected near a Railway Station so as to give any occasion for the spread of plague to the Railway premises. As far as possible, no such sheds or huts should be erected within two furlongs of a Railway Station. Sheds erected on private land which are found to be in any way likely to be a source of danger to the Railway authorities, should be removed on the requisition of the Railway authorities to a safe distance in exercise of the powers vested in Deputy Commissioners under Rule 9 of the Rules under the Epidemic Diseases Regulation of 1897.

Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore,

READ—

The following letter No. 29, dated the 30th August 1912, from the Superintendent of Inam Settlements in Mysore, submitting the Annual Administration Report of the Inam Department for the year 1911-12.

From Rajakarya Prasakta D. Shama Rao, Esq., R B., Superintendent of Inam Settlements in Mysore, Bangalore, to K. R. Srinivasiengar, Esq , M.A., Secretary to the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, General and Revenue Departments, No. 29, dated Bangalore, 30th—31st August 1912.

I have the honor to submit herewith, the Annual Administration Report of the Inam Department for the year 1911-12.

2. Changes in the staff—There were no changes in the department. Rajakarya Prasakta Rao Babadur D. Shama Rao continued to be in charge of the department throughout the year.

3. Cases during the year.—During the year under report eight land inams comprising in extent of 127 acres, 20 guntas assessed at Rs. 150 were newly confirmed on which a combined quit-rent of Rs. 22 was fixed.

In addition to these, two ready money inams of the value of Rs. 96 were confirmed.

Sixteen minor inams and two whole inam villages were resumed to Government and struck off from the inam registers, during the year under report, by which Rs. 26-14-10 were reduced to Government in Inam. Revenue, while there was a corresponding increase of Rs 1,595-5-1 under Land Revenue in the shape of assessment. In addition to these one ready money inam of the value of Rs. 5-11-0 per annum was struck off

4. Revision of Inams.—Three land inams and one ready money grant were revised during the year, with the result that the combined quit-rent was reduced by Rs. 35-13-0.

5. Registers.—The number of quit-rent registers prepared was 48 for confirmed cases and 94 for resumed and struck off cases. Besides these, 300 supplemental final quit-rent registers and correction statements were prepared and issued during the year on the basis of Purvani-Tarav-Patricks and Government Orders.

6. Extracts and title-deeds.—The number of new extracts and title-deeds prepared was 8 for land inams and 2 for ready money inams.

7. Final title-deeds for minor inams in sircar villages.—During the year under report, 3,728 final title-deeds for minor inams in the Government villages of Srinivaspur, Chintamani, part of Nanjangud and portions of Sidlaghatta and Bowringpet Taluks were prepared. The title-deeds of the first three taluks were completed and will be despatched during the current year for distribution among the inamdars. Those of Sidlaghatta and Bowringpet Taluks are on hand and will be despatched for distribution in due course.

8. Final title-deeds for whole inam villages.—The final title-deeds for whole inam villages in the Districts of Shimoga, Kadur and Chitaldrug were carefully compared with the original inam and quit-rent registers and are now ready for despatch to the inamdars. The work of comparing involved a great deal of labour, as the title-deed of each village had to be compared with the original Inam Settlement Registers, the original and the revised final quit-rent registers and the valuation statements received from the Survey Department.

9. Revised final quit-rent registers.—Twenty copies of the revised final quit-rent register of the Chintamani Taluk were corrected, compared and despatched to the Secretariat and other offices as usual. The comparing and correction work of the Malur Taluk is taken on hand. The number of cases dealt with in these quit-rent registers was 3,600.

The revised final quit-rent registers of the Bowringpet Taluk sent to the Press for being printed were received during the current month after the close of the year under report.

10. Inam Revenue.—During the year under report there was a decrease of Rs. 40-11-10 in inam revenue, as shown below, while there was a corresponding increase of Rs. 1,595-5-1 under land assessment:—

	Rs.	a.	p.
Quit-rent on newly confirmed cases	22	0	0

On account of revision	35	13	0
Total ...	62	11	10
Balance decrease ...	40	11	10

Revenue (Land Revenue), dated 2nd April 1913.

11 Expenditure—The total cost of the department for the year was Rs 4,456-4-0 as against Rs 4,105-8-0 or Rs 350-12-0 more than in the previous year The increase is mainly due to the expenditure under travelling allowance, tour charges and purchase of furniture.

12 The total cost of the department from 1868 up to the end of the year under report, was Rs 11,80,496-8-7 and the total amount recurring revenue is Rs 2,73,444-11-11.

13 Correspondence—The amount of correspondence both English and Vernacular was 1,465 as against 1,439 in the previous year. The major portion of the work of the office lies in hunting up the old records required for references, which takes up much time and labour

14 General remarks—In conclusion, I am glad to say that the establishment has worked hard and satisfactorily during the year under report.

No. R. 5533—L. R. 229-12 2, DATED BANGALORE, 2ND APRIL 1913.

BEFORE THE GOVERNMENT OF HIS HIGHNESS THE MAHARAJA OF MYSORE.

APPEAL No. 34 OF 1911-12.

Appellant	vs.	Respondents.
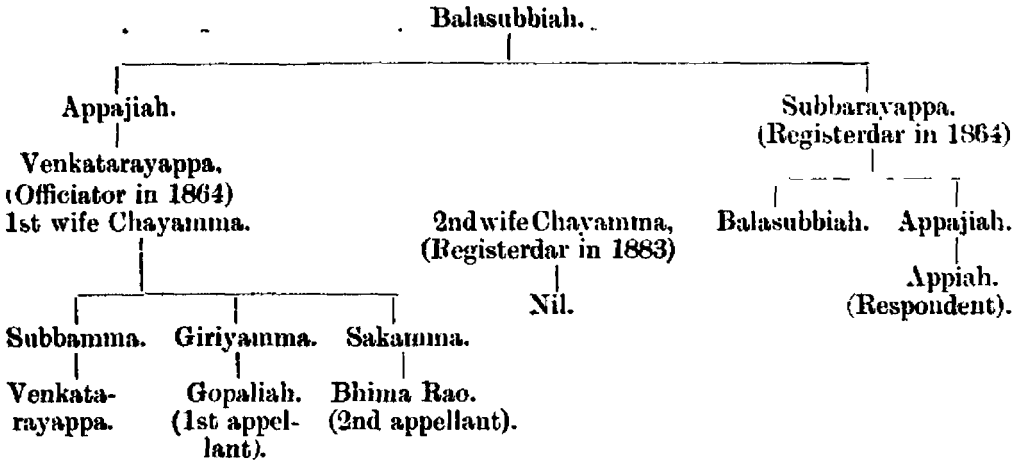
Appia of Tinnali village in the Srinivaspur Taluk.		1. Gopaliah. 2. Bhima Rao.

Subject.

Appeal against the order of the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, declining to recognize the appellant's claim to the shanbhogi of Tinnali village in the Srinivaspur Taluk.

Facts of the Case.

The following genealogical tree shows the relationship of the parties concerned in this case:—



One Subbarayappa, the grandfather of the respondent Appia'h, was the barawardar shanbhog of the village and his brother's son Venkatarayappa was doing the duties thereof. On the death of Subbarayappa, the Officiator Venkatarayappa continued in the office and on his death in 1882-83, the Deputy Commissioner ordered on 17th December 1883 that the shanbhogi office should be registered in the name of his (Venkatarayappa's) second wife Chayamma. Appiah's claim to the office was rejected on the ground that he was a distant divided agnate of the deceased. But in 1891, this Appiah was appointed to act as gumasta of Chayamma at her own request and continued to act as such till her death on 28th October 1908. Thereupon the shanbhogi office was claimed by Gopaliah, Bhima Rao and Venkatarayappa, the sons of the daughters of the deceased Venkatarayappa by his 1st wife Chayamma on the one hand and by respondent Appiah on the other hand. The Sub-Division Officer Mr. Humza Hussein decided that Appiah was the nearest agnate and should succeed to the office. On appeal the Deputy Commissioner affirmed the above order. Gopaliah and Bhima Rao then preferred an appeal to the Revenue Commissioner who reversed the order of the Deputy Commissioner on the ground that Appiah was only the Gumasta of Chayamma since 1891 and can have no right to the office. He further directed that Gopaliah and Bhima Rao, who are the daughter's sons, should succeed to the office.

Hence the present appeal to Government. The case came on for hearing on the 20th February 1912, when both the parties were present and heard.

Land Revenue, dated 18th April 1913.

Order.

There is no doubt whatever that Venkatarayappa was substantially the rightful holder of the office and that his wife was entered in his place in 1883. The appellant who acted as her gumasta all along till her death can hardly be allowed now to set up his own independent right. As the existence of dauhitras is admitted, the appellant cannot be regarded as the nearest heir entitled to succeed to the office. The petitioner represents that he being an agnate is properly entitled to the shanbhogi office in preference to dauhitras and relies on Government Order No. 721-2—P. F. 1 of 1902-03, dated 31st July 1908, passed in Review Case No. 5 of 1902-03.

Government, after careful consideration, are of opinion that the decision in the said review case should be overruled as it is opposed to existing practice and is also in conflict with the provisions of the Village Offices Regulation since passed into Law.

The Revenue Commissioner's decision in this case is therefore correct and this appeal is rejected.

MEMO No. R. 5912-20—L. R. 170-11-4, DATED BANGALORE, 18TH APRIL 1913.

Copy of the above is forwarded to the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore together with the records received with his letter No. 5081, dated 14th November 1911, and (2) to the Deputy Commissioners of Districts.

The Revenue Commissioner is requested to cause this decision translated into Kannada and published in the Revenue and Agricultural Gazette.

READ—

Letter No. 165, dated the 22nd December 1912, from the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, suggesting that, with a view to enable him to know something about the work of Assistant Commissioners and Amildars as Police Officers and Magistrates when questions of their promotion and transfer come up for consideration, copies of judgments of Magistrates and Sessions Judges may be sent to him when they contain observations upon the capacity and honesty of these officers and that the Inspector-General of Police may be requested to communicate to him any observations which he may have occasion to make when he thinks that the Revenue Department ought to know them.

No. R. 6273-5—L. R. 311-12-2, DATED BANGALORE, 30TH APRIL 1913.

ORDER THEREON.—Government consider it to be desirable that the Magisterial and revenue duties of Assistant Commissioners should be kept distinct and that when questions of promotion of Revenue Assistant Commissioners come up, the Chief Court should be consulted with regard to the former and the Revenue Commissioner with regard to the latter.

2. In the case of Amildars and Deputy Amildars, however, who are heads of Taluk Police, the Inspector-General of Police is requested to bring to the notice of the Revenue Commissioner any facts concerning them which in his opinion indicate the character of their work.

3. The Registrar of the Chief Court is requested to arrange that copies of judgments containing reflections on the work of any Revenue Assistant Commissioner, Amildar or Deputy Amildar, which are submitted to Government, are also sent simultaneously to the Revenue Commissioner for his information.

Letter No. 5872, dated 28th September 1911, from the First Assistant Resident in Mysore, requesting at the instance of the Government of Madras that an officer may be deputed to meet the Land Records Tahsildar of Bellary with necessary records to prove that the Mysore boundary as laid down in the revision survey of 1903 is in accord with the boundary shown in the map prepared at the original survey of 1870.

VI. Letter No. 3374—L. S. 24-10-9, dated 22nd November 1911, to the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, requesting him to arrange to depute the Amildar of the Molakalmuru Taluk and the District Surveyor of Chitaldrug to meet the Land Records Tahsildar of Bellary with all records and to submit a report on the result of the joint inspection.

VII. Letter No. 2148, dated 24th August 1912, from the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, forwarding a copy of letter No. 93, dated 6th August 1912, from the Deputy Commissioner, Chitaldrug District, together with the report of the Amildar of the Molakalmuru Taluk and the District Surveyor, Chitaldrug, on the result of the joint inspection of the disputed boundary.

Report on the result of the joint inspection of the boundary between Kadalur, Rayadurga Taluk, and Machinahalli, Molakalmuru Taluk.

In obedience to the Deputy Commissioner's Order No. 45, dated 15th June 1912, the Land Record Tahsildar of Bellary District and myself with the District Surveyor went to the disputed land Maji Survey No. 48 of Machinahalli village on the afternoon of the 6th July 1912 and in the morning of the 7th idem and measured this and other adjoining numbers. The accompanying map prepared at the instance of Land Record Tahsildar of Bellary shows the positions where we stand.

1. As desired by the Collector of Bellary, the original measurements of numbers adjoining No. 48 were procured from the Survey Department and some lands were measured in accordance therewith. The eastern boundary of Survey No. 52 C to F was found to measure 7 annas more than what is mentioned in the Tippani.

2. The southern boundary of 48 F to T was found to measure 6 annas more than 45 chains mentioned in the Tippani. This excess measurement is noted at the time of resurvey when subdividing Survey No. 52 out of old 48 on the southern side.

3. At the time of inspection of the boundary in February last a bandh was found at H and a wrong bandh was found at K pointing towards G. When measured from F to G and G to K, the measurement came 1 chain less. When compared with the Tippani of Resurvey No 50 out of Survey No. 48 with the line from G to K and the position of the British stone, the point H was determined and with it the correct Mysore boundary was found out running along L. Then the measurement of F G H was taken and it was found to tally with the Tippani of 48.

4. In February last the District Surveyor with the Land Records Tahsildar produced the line F G H to the north up to 11¼ chains and measured the north-eastern line of Survey No. 48 and it was found to measure exactly 45 chains. Producing the same line to the north by 12 chains, the line from P runs exactly to point O.

5. The southern boundary of Survey Nos. 29 and 30 R S T when measured was found to agree with the original measurement and the Land Records Tahsildar did not measure other survey numbers.

6. The present dispute relates to 3 acres, 14 guntas out of Survey No. 48 K H P M which the Land Records Tahsildar first said belonged to British No. 337 and which we included in Survey No. 48 during resurvey.

7. The Land Records Tahsildar has now as a final adjudication of the dispute drawn the line $\frac{F}{1}$, $\frac{H}{1}$, $\frac{N}{1}$, in red dots thereby showing that 11 guntas of the disputed land between red and red-dotted lines should go to the British Territory. This he has done by adopting arbitrary point at F on the south without ignoring the excess of 6 annas from T to F and 7 annas from C to F. To suit this arbitrary line he has produced the red-dotted line to the north to $\frac{H}{1}$ and producing 23¾ chains further north and taking 23¼ chains off set to take the terminal point $\frac{N}{1}$ in the Hagari stream. Mysore survey being the one first conducted and all the bandhs and stones are all intact, and the final disputed land being small in extent, i.e., 11 guntas and considering the fact that the Land Records Tahsildar has adopted an arbitrary point to draw the red-dotted line, it is not possible to accede to his decision and I think he is making hair-splitting differences only to gain some land to his Government comparing both the line on the land and on the original map the natural boundary appears to be from O to L and L to H.

8. Opportunity was also taken to measure the extent between one British stone and another to compare the actual measurement with that mentioned in the British map. The following differences were observed:—

From M to K	...	11 links less.
„ K to G	...	3 links excess
„ G to F	...	4 links excess.
„ F to E	...	5 links excess.
„ E to D	...	8 links excess.
„ D to C	...	2 links excess.

9. Such differences in measurements both in the case of the British and Mysore are due to configurations of grounds such as eminences and hollows, bushes and plants. While there are natural disadvantages in the way of accurate measurements the Land Records Tahsildar has made much of the difference of 7 annas from C to F and 6 annas from F to T.

10. A B C in black ink is British boundary. A C in red ink is Mysore boundary. As the boundary marks on the ground are all right it was agreed to by the British representative that the triangular piece should go to Mysore.

11. C D E F in black ink is British boundary. C F in red ink Mysore boundary. As the piece between these two lines is not included in the Mysore survey which is prior to British survey it is agreed to by the Mysore representative that it should go to British Territory.

12. In the same way if the British Survey had been conducted in consonance with the Mysore boundary lines, there would have been no room for dispute. If at the time of British survey the survey plans of Mysore villages had been consulted, the difficulty in this matter would have been at a nil point. It is because this was not done the difficulty often arises in regard to boundary lines. For the above reasons $N\frac{N}{1}$ $H\frac{H}{1}$ G, i.e., the piece of land between red line and red-dotted line measuring 11 guntas should belong to Mysore.

This above report was drawn up with assistance of and in consultation with the District Surveyor whose Kanarese memo is hereto attached.

VIII Unofficial note dated 6th November 1912, from the Superintendent of Revenue Survey and Settlement in Mysore.

On examining the sketch and the reports of the Amildar and the District Surveyor, it is found that the contention of the Amildar is well founded. Our survey being prior to the Madras survey, the boundary as fixed at the time of our survey should in fairness be followed. The bandhs at K and M mentioned in the note on the sketch appear to be incorrect. There is no reason for their existence there nor are they mentioned in any of our records. It is not known how they happen to be there. As they are incorrect their existence has to be ignored. A reference to my letter No. 76, dated 6th January 1911, will show that no encroachment on British land has been made during resurvey.

The Amildar's report may be accepted.

IX. Letter No. 1423, dated 3rd March 1913, from the First Assistant Resident in Mysore, stating that the Government of Madras agree to the adoption of the boundary line as fixed by the Mysore Survey.

No. R. 5846-8—L. S. 24-10-15, DATED BANGALORE, 12th APRIL 1913.

ORDER THEREON.—Recorded.

2. The Revenue Commissioner is requested to issue instructions to have the incorrect bandhs referred to in the Survey Superintendent's note read above (VIII) removed and to see that the boundary is properly demarcated. A report should be submitted to Government when this is done.

(1)

Endorsement—from R. W. DAVIES, Esq., I.C.S., Director of Land Records.

Dated—the 9th May 1912.

No.—R.C. 354.

Submitted to the Secretary to the Commissioner of Revenue Settlement, Survey, Land Records and Agriculture, through the Director of Survey. I have been in touch with the work throughout and have little to add. The main principle followed, which is also the authorised principle, has been a strict adherence to the Mysore Survey boundaries. The cases mentioned in memorandum A follow this principle and require no comment. Memorandum C relates to portions of land outside the Mysore boundary which were not included in British territory at the time of our original survey. As the Mysore boundary has been accepted as the true one, these patches belong to us. I do not understand why the Mysore representative has not accepted this position.

2. With regard to memorandum B, I think that the Madras representative's views are practical and represent the most convenient solution. The Mysore Survey included half the area of the "vanka" and of the "rasta" in their village area. They did not demarcate their half share, as this was not physically possible, and they only plotted it in their maps by dotted lines. There can be no doubt however that they claimed half of the "vanka" and of the "rasta" at the time of their survey (1860) and the fact that we surveyed the whole of these fields as British territory thirty years later does not, I imagine, in itself, establish our claim. The Mysore Government may therefore be requested to waive their claim to the lands referred to in memorandum B, not as a matter of right, but as a concession to suit our convenience.

3. In paragraph 12 of the report, the Commissioners point out that these disputes, which have only been finally settled in the case of 11 villages and which doubtless will arise in course of time in other villages along the frontier, are all due to the fact that the survey party responsible for the survey of Anantapur did not follow the Mysore boundary. Instructions were issued to them to do so and the work of the present Commissioners shows that the Mysore boundary is in existence and can be ascertained without difficulty. The present position must be ascribed to faulty work in the past, but we are not aware how far the evil actually extends in the case of the boundaries of Foreign States which adjoin our territory. As far as Anantapur is concerned, however, I do not agree to the suggestions of the Commissioners with regard to fresh disputes. I think that the reconciliation of the boundary should be left over until Anantapur District is taken up for resurvey. The British boundary can then be adjusted to meet the Mysore boundary with far less expenditure of money than is involved either in the course now adopted or in that proposed by the Commissioners. The whole boundary can then be be dealt with together, and not in the form of isolated cases.

Endorsement—W. A. HASTED, Esq., Acting Director of Survey.

Dated—the 22nd May 1912.

No.—Dis. 797—C.

Forwarded.

2. I agree with Mr. Davies in the views expressed by him in respect of memoranda A, B and C drawn up by the British and Mysore representatives.

3. With reference to the question of the disposal of disputes that may crop up in the future, Mr. Davies, suggestion that this settlement should lie over until such time as the Government taluks adjoining the disputed boundaries are taken up for revision survey or resurvey has my approval.

ENCLOSURES.

Letter.—from M. R. Ry. T. A. SUNDARAM IYER Avargal, Superintendent of Land Records, Groupe No. II, Madanapalle.

Dated.—the 28th April 1912.

No.—R. Dis 1.

Adverting to your endorsement D. Dis. No. 790, dated 1st November 1911, on Board's Proceedings Mis. No. 3671, dated 30th October 1911, communicating G. O. No. 3097, Revenue, dated 18th October 1911, I have the honor to submit herewith a joint report signed by me and Mr. Darashah, the Mysore Durbar Representative, together with the memoranda and sketches referred to therein. Mysore Representative's memorandum of arguments on my note in memorandum B will follow on its receipt from him.

2. The boundary examined by us relates to 11 villages on the Mysore side and 16 villages on the British side, the number of discrepant cases dealt with being no less than 118. Each contiguous plot of land has been counted as one case, irrespective of the number of fields it may take in on either side. Were the plots numbered fieldwar, as would appear to have been done in former reports, the total number of cases would come to much more than 118.

3. The discrepancies are classed under two heads, viz.—

(i) Plots included on both sides, and
(ii) Plots not included on either side.

The former, otherwise called encroachments, are dealt with in memorandum A and are assigned Roman numerals. The latter form the subject matter of memorandum C and are denoted by capital letters.

Twenty-nine of the cases had been investigated on previous occasions and reported on. The enclosed comparative statement shows what numbers in our series correspond to old cases. The differences in areas between the previous and the present reports are due to our having taken into account even minor variations and carried the discrepancies until they closed on identical points.

4. The cases of encroachments dealt with in memorandum A are 57 in number in all of which the encroachments have been removed by following the Mysore boundary. The total area given up to Mysore in consequence is 37·92 acres, exclusive of the two cases of apparent encroachment, Nos. IX and XI Nagalapura village. Attention is solicited to my marginal notes on these cases. They are not really encroachments and involve no loss of area on the British side, though the Darbar representative would apparently wish to make out that a large area has been reclaimed from the British.

5. The number of "excluded" plots dealt with in memorandum C is 61. Their presentation in a separate memorandum is a new departure initiated by the Durbar representative. His doubts in regard to them are not understood. The demarcation on the ground has been altered so as to include the plots within the British limits. The dispute which led to the appointment of the Commission was that the Mysore boundary had not been adopted by the Madras Survey and the claim was based upon the priority of the Mysore Survey and the rule enjoining that the prior survey in such cases should be followed by the later survey. The adoption of the Mysore boundary must necessarily result in the inclusion of all land lying outside it within British Territory, and this was taken for granted at all previous investigations, as indeed no other course would appear to be reasonale, for the Durbar cannot ask that its demarcated boundary should be adopted and lay claim at the same time to lands beyond that boundary.

6. The areas of such plots were also on previous occasions taken account of on the British side and the net areas, plus or minus as the case may be, for each British village were exhibited in the joint reports. The Durbar's representative on the present occasion did not agree to that method. I submit herewith a statement giving the information. It will be observed that the net area given up to Mysore in all the 16 villages examined is 20·51 acres, of which 20·49 acres relate to one village—Bastarapalle of the Kalyandrug Taluk.

7. Memorandum B relates as stated in our joint report to a claim put forth by the Mysore representative for a portion of a vanka and road adjoining the common boundary between Arsikere (Mysore) and Halukur (British) villages. It is true that half the area of the vanka and the road is shown in the Mysore Survey records under cover of a Mysore Survey rule but I submit that for the reasons explained in my note, the Mysore measurer was not right in applying the rule to the case in question and that the road and the vanka should be considered to belong entirely to British, subject only to a right of easement on the part of Mysore to a mamool kalva running along the bank of the vanka.

2. The controversy as to Survey No. 102 has become personal, but the personalities have been introduced by the Mysore representative. Mr. Sundaram Aiyar may therefore be excused if he has taken exception to the tone of Mr Darashah's letter

3. The stream is a petty one but it acts as a feeder channel to Halkur tank. Hence the comparative importance of the question raised. For, Mysore ryots are continually interfering with the feeders of British irrigation sources. The fact remains that the Mysore Survey did measure half the stream as Mysore territory and their claim must hold good.

4. The British system of surveying the whole stream and mapping on artificial boundary line down the centre is preferable to the Mysore system of measuring half the stream (road, etc.) but mapping only up to the edge thereof. We might however utilise the Mysore stones instead of planting our own stones on the Mysore side of the boundary.

2. I agree that if we adopt the Mysore boundary as the true one and give up lands in accordance with this principle, we are entitled to claim whatever falls outside that boundary. I would remark that these boundary disputes really concern the maintenance of law and order between frontier ryots rather than any serious contention between the Governments as to insignificant strips of land, in many cases valueless. I make this rather sententious remark because I seem to detect a tendency here and there to regard the matter as momentous to the Empire and to the State of Mysore and to place it on an equality with the cession of the French Congo to Germany. It seems to me that the claim for half the stream and half the road referred to in Memorandum B is conceived in that spirit, and though I do not deny that subordinate officers investigating disputes may rely on the published survey records without considering the necessary qualifications, I think a note safeguarding the Mysore interests in both cases should be sufficient and there is really no need to disturb existing arrangements and thereby to raise a host of other disputes of a similar kind that no body ever thought of before. I therefore endorse Mr. Davies' remarks. I also consider that his remarks on future disputes are sound.

I agree with the Directors of Land Records and Survey that since the Mysore Government have the right to half the stream and road, the survey must carry out that right if it is insisted upon. The Mysore representative takes the view of law, the British Survey Officer that of common sense. That which is vital seems to be unaffected whichever view be taken.

Abstract—Reporting that the reply to Board's Reference No. 1383, dated 1st July, was sent with this office R. Dis. No. 292, dated 6th July, and returning the two original statements appended to the letter of the Land Records Superintendent.

Reference—No. 1832, dated 20th August 1912.

The Board begs to submit to Government the joint report of the British and Mysore representatives appointed with reference to G. O. No. 2048, Revenue, dated 5th July 1911, for the settlement of the disputed boundary between the Pavagada Taluk of the Mysore Territory and the adjoining British taluks of the Anantapur District. In accordance with G. O. 3097, Revenue, dated 18th October 1911, the British Government was represented by M. R. Ry. T. A. Sundaram Aiyer Avargal, Land Records Superintendent, Group No. I while the Mysore Government was represented by Mr. D. K. Darasha, Deputy Superinten dent, Mysore Revenue Survey. The two representatives commenced work on the 12t February 1912 and finished it on the 29th of the next month. The results of the work o the two officers are embodied in three memoranda A, B and C appended to their joint repor Memorandum A deals with all cases in which the boundary, as laid done by the Myso Government, has been accepted and the Madras demarcation has been altered so as t agree with that boundary. In two cases, however, viz., cases IX and XI in the village o Kurakalapalli in the Kalyandrug Taluk, the discrepancy in the boundary was due to wron demarcation and existed only on the ground; the survey records of the two territories di not disclose any substantial difference.

2. Memorandum B deals with a claim put forward by the Mysore representative to portion of the stream and of the road running between the village of Arsikere in the Myso Territory and the village of Halakur in the British Territory. The Mysore representativ claimed half in the case both of the stream and of the road, contending that they were s measured and mapped at the Mysore original survey and that it was in accordance with th law of riparian rights. The British representative, on the other hand, contends that th principle of the law quoted above does not apply to the stream in question and that th present demarcation of the stream according to which it is included in the British Territor should not be disturbed. He however states that the Mysore Government's right to th use of the water of a channel running near the northern bank of the stream may be accep ed. The British representative is not prepared to concede the Mysore representative claim to half of the road and points out that the principle of the midstream boundar applicable to frontier streams cannot be extended to frontier roads. The Director o Land Records however states in his endorsement on the joint report that, as half bot of the stream and of the road was claimed by the Mysore State at their survey and a the stream and the road were surveyed as British Territory about 30 years latter, the Myso representative's claim must be recognised He however recomends that that Government b requested to waive their claim, not as a matter of right, but as a concession to suit ou convenience. This view has been endorsed both by the Director of Survey and by th Collector of Anantapur. The Board considers that it is not likely that the Mysore Durba will accede to such a request and submits that the matter may be compromised by acceptin the Mysore claim as regards the stream and rejecting that relating to the road.

3. Memorandum C deals with plots of land not shown in the records of eithe Government. As these plots lay outside the boundary as determined according to th Mysore Survey records, the demarcation on the ground has been altered so as to includ them within the British limits. The Mysore representative, however, appread to have fel some doubt in the matter and the cases are accordingly submitted for the orders of Goverr ment. As the Mysore Government have been pressing for the adoption of their boundar and as the plots in question lie outside that boundary, the Board considers that thei inclusion in the British Territory is proper, now that the Mysore boundary has b adopted.

4. In paragraph 12 of their joint report, the representatives state that their investiga tion of the Pavagada boundary has impressed them with the fact that the Madras Surveyor have not exercised proper care in demarcating the frontier and accordingly propose that i the case of disputes cropping up in the future, the settlement of such of them as are of simple nature may be left to officers specially empowered to pass decisions thereon, matter of delicacy or importance alone being reserved for investigation by expensive commission The Director of Land Records does not approve these proposals, but suggests that the settle ment of such disputes should lie over until such time as the Government taluks adjoining th disputed boundaries are taken up for resurvey or revision survey. The Director of Surve and the Collector of Anantapur also approve this suggestion. The Board, however, is unable a present to state whether the taluks referred to above will come up for resurvey in the nea future and fears that if Mr. Davies' proposals as to the settlement of future disputes wer accepted, the settlements would have to be postponed indefinitely. The Board does no consider that this course is desirable, especially as one such dispute has already arisen in th Madakasira Taluk (Vide paragraph 5 infra) and is awaiting settlement. If therefore recom mends that the proposal of the joint representatives contained in paragraph 12 of their repor be adopted.

5. With his letter R. Gl. C. No. 1710, dated 26th June 1912, the Collector of Ananta pur submits for orders a fresh boundary dispute in the villages of Govindapuram in th Madakasira Taluk which adjoins the Mysore Territory. The steps to be taken for the settle ment of this dispute will depend on the decision that may be arrived at on the genera question raised in the preceding paragraph and the board accordingly submits the Collector's report for the orders of Government.

ENCLOSURES.

Letter—from M. R. Rv. T. A. SUNDARAM AIYAR Avargal, Superintendent of Land Records, Group No. II, Madanapalle.

To—the Director of Land Records.

Dated—the 3rd June 1912.

No.—Dis. 2-B of 1912.

In continuation of my letter R. Dis. No. 1 of 1912, dated 28th April 1912, I have the honour to forward herewith the Mysore Representative's note regarding Memorandum B and beg leave to submit that it is full of much irrelevant matter and special pleading. As you have already submitted the case to the Board with an expression of your views, I do not think it necessary to traverse the present note at any great length and I shall confine my remarks to explaining away certain misstatements and misconceptions.

2. As regards paragraph 1 of the note, I regret to have to take exception to the insinuation made therein. I have already explained to you in my demi-official from Penukonda, dated 20th April 1912, the circumstances under which I was obliged to leave Bangalore without completing Memorandum B; it is unnecessary to recapitulate them here.

3. The statement of the case in paragraphs 2 and 3 of the note is at variance with what is stated in Mr. Darashah's preliminary note. In the note last mentioned, half the stream adjoining field No. 102 alone was claimed and during our inspection the whole of the stream number (332 of Halukur, British village) adjoining Arsikere fields 102, 114 and 115 came under discussion. The stream touching field No. 116 is measured as varka peramboke field No. 331 in the Halukur village and the stream shown as adjoining field No. 118 is included in Halukur tank field No. 320 (vide sketch A submitted with my original note).

I believe the stream adjoining field No. 116 included in the claim is the small portion touching the south-eastern boundary of the field, as half the area of that portion alone is included in the pakka books of Arsikere. The omission to include in the Mysore books of the remaining portion of the British field No. 331 which is also stream touching Mysore field No. 116 materially affects the claim in my opinion and indicates that the Mysore measurer blindly followed the mid-stream rule without understanding the principle of its application. This is the view I took in my previous note and I do still maintain that the Mysore surveyor was not right in applying the rule to the boundary in question. For the above reason and in consideration of the nature of the stream as explained in paragraph 5 of my note, I am unable to agree with Mr. Darashah that the problem before us should have been solved on the solid ground of his record alone.

I would close my criticism on the preamble, so to say of Mr. Darasha's note by pointing out that rule 25 B of the Mysore Land Revenue Rules quoted by him is at variance with the British rule prohibiting free enjoyment of trees on peramboke lands.

4. In paragraph 4, Mr. Darashah deals with my note somewhat in detail. I have no quarrel with his representing his side of the question in his own fashion; but it is to be regretted that he should have misconstrued some of my statements and misread some of the papers he has traced out on the subject.

5. Mr. Darashah refutes my statement that the present claim was not pressed or discussed at previous investigations (not on previous occasions as misquoted by him) by referring to certain old reports on his side. It is true that these reports were shown to me but I did not refer to them in my note, because they are mere one sided reports of subordinates and did not prove at all that the midstream claim had been discussed at the then investigations.

I enclose a translation of the joint report of the Mysore measurer and Sheikdar, dated 23rd January 1896, as made out by Mr. Darashah himself together with a copy of the sketch appended to the report. The stream adjoining field No. 118 in the sketch is the stream marked X in sketch A attached to my original note. It will be observed that the Madras Deputy Superintendent who settled the dispute on this part of the boundary in 1896 did not go into the question of the stream at all and yet the matter was allowed to rest there until now.

The following statement in Mr. Darashah's translation of the measurer's report above referred to, viz., " We drew his attention to the fact that there still remain some disputes on other points of this same boundary, etc. " is ambiguous if not incorrect. Mr. Darashah evidently intends to read into the passage that the stream dispute at this part of the boundary was reserved for subsequent investigation ; for in his note under criticism he quotes the Deputy Superintendent to have said that "the other items of the dispute whould be attended to at a future time," I had the original report in Kanarese read out to me and my translation of the passage is as below :—

"We drew his attention to the fact that there were some disputes on other portions of the boundary, etc."

6. In this connection I beg to solicit reference to plots Nos. VII and L, Arsikere village, under A and C Memorandum respectively. A copy of the sketch of the plots and of our joint remarks thereon is submitted herewith for ready reference. The dispute about plot VII is apparently " the dispute on other portions of the boundary " left over uninvestigated by the Madras Survey Deputy Superintendent in the year 1896. The officers who jointly investigated the dispute about plot VII in 1906 agreed that the British demarcation should be altered so as to include the plot in the Arsikere field. No claim for half the stream was raised or considered then. The Land Records Tahsildar of Anantapur who was deputed to prepare a measurement sketch of the plot for correction of records, reported on 9th March 1907 that he had planted a stone at S in the sketch to give effect to the agreed decision. At our inspection, however, we found that British stones were missing at all three points r. s. t.' and that the Mysore stone S was at position S S and that a new stone t t with a bandh was placed between S and t as shown in the appended sketch. This must have occurred subsequent to the Land Records Tahsildar's visit with the object,- evidently, to make it appear that as per Mysore original survey the site of the Kondapuram kalva fell within Mysore demarcated limits and that the joint Commissioners also found it to be so.

7. Mr. Darashah.—However, relaid the boundary as r, s, t, in accordance with Mysore original survey measurements and removed the incorrect stones and bandhs. The above facts would show that what was troubling the ryot's mind for a very long time was not the mid-stream question as asserted by Mr. Darashah but the inclusion in the British village of a triangular plot of land on the Mysore side of the Vanka and the apparent desire on the part of the Mysore ryot to get the Kondapuram kalva included within the demarcated limits of his patta field. This desire naturally led to the pulling out by the Mysore ryot of several British stones including theodolite stations and fixed new stones to suit his own ends. The stone pulling mania would appear to have spread to other parts of the Arsikere village also, as I found some theodolite stations pulled out higher up where they did not indicate any boundary at all. On the matter being brought to notice by the Halkur village officials the firka inspector held an enquiry in 1907 within a few months of the occurrence and reported that the Arsikere ryots and village officials were responsible for the wholesale removal of British stones. The Revenue Inspector's report and the statements taken by him were read out to Mr. Darashah at our joint inspection to rebut certain irresponsible statements made on the Arsikere side incriminating British ryots, and I then pointed out that the written statements taken five years ago immediately after the occurrence, might be considered more trustworthy than the random and irresponsible oral statements made at our inspection. I regret that Mr. Darashah has chosen to misrepresent me here again by saying " that I informed him that I had ascertained for a truth, " that the Mysore royts had plucked out the stones. I fail to see, however, the bearing of the statement even if it were a fact, on the point at issue. As already represented, the officials who went over the boundary did not considered the mid-stream question as apparently it was never pressed on them and it is neither a fair nor a correct presentation of facts to read otherwise into the correspondence. It may not be out of place to mention here that the alleged high feeling between the Arsikere and the Halukur ryots on which much stress is laid by Mr. Darashah is not quite a fact. The British hamlet adjoining the boundary is Chitnaduku and most of the residents of the village are Mysore ryots owning lands in Arsikere and the few that are not, will not come forward to make any statement against them. The only persons taking objection to and reporting on their actions from time to time have been the village officers of Halukur. It has thus been easy for the Arsikere ryots to meddle with the boundary as they pleased.

8. The Land Records Tahsildar during his inspection and measurement of plot VII discovered that as per Mysore map plot " L " should form part of British field No. 332, Halukur. Thereupon some correspondence ensued between the Collector of Anantapur and Deputy Commissioner, Tumkur division, with which latter officer the Land Records Tahsildar's sketches were pending at the time of our inspection. The Amildar's report, dated 31st September 1907, referred to by Mr. Darashah was perhaps submitted in the above connection but it is not in the Collector's file and was apparently never brought to the notice of the British authorities. According to Mr. Darashah's own showing this report did not state facts correctly and it was perhaps for that reason the Deputy Commissioner ignored it altogether The pending sketches were obtained and the boundary at this part was duly verified and related by us with reference to Mysore records as shown in red ink in the enclosed sketch I could not find in the correspondence relating to plots " VII " and " L " any discussion or reference to the mid-stream question now raised by Mr Darashah.

9 With reference to my remarks that Mr. Darashah's memorandum did not contain a full presentation of his case, he says that it was only a brief preliminary statement intended for convenience of discussion and that there was nothing unusual in that procedure As however we had completed our discussions on the spot during inspection and we were at reporting stage in office, I submit that the note should have contained a full statement of the case

10 As regards paragraphs 2 and 3 of my note, the gist of Mr Darashah's remarks is that the Mysore survey mid-stream rule is based on a totally different law from the law of riparian rights, i e, some " natural, if unwritten law, ' whatever it may mean The existing demarcation would appear to be more natural in view of the character of the stream in dispute.

11 In commenting on paragraph 4 of my note, Mr Darashah has misquoted and misunderstood my statement and his high sounding remarks are therefore beside the point I did not question the applicability of the mid-stream rule to the frontier boundary but I only pointed out that a stream on another part of the frontier boundary in the same village had not been included in the claim although half its area had been put down in the Mysore Pakka books Mr Darashah explains the omission by saying that he chose the more complex claim and intended to apply the conclusions arrived at there to other cases and he had informed me so

I do not see the greater complexity referred to nor do I consider it right to content oneself with personal information when the matter had reached the reporting stage But his personal information has been found to be at variance with his subsequent written statement in respect of the road claim.

12. The trend of the Mysore Representative's remarks on paragraphs 5 and 6 of my note is perhaps to be found in his remarks on paragraph 11 of the note, wherein he suggests the adoption of the reverse of my proposal The unfairness of my argument pointed out by Mr. Darashah is not patent to me. The larger must include the smaller and not the reverse and considering the nature and position of the vanka and the included kalva, there can be no doubt that reason and convenience are in favour of my proposal Mr. Darashah says that the flow in the Kondapuram kalva may more easily be interfered with than that of the broad stream in which it is situated It had been better he had quoted any case of such interference. I believe, however, the flow in the Kondapuram klava has never hitherto been obstructed by the British ryots, while there has been at least one recorded case of interference on the Mysore side, with the broad stream as explained in paragraph 6 of my note Mr Darashah himself recognises that by such interference the volume of water, to which the Halukur tank has a right, may diminish, but considers that the right can be safeguarded as effectively when the stream is excluded from the British village as when it is included He supports his view by adding that if the Mysore ryots bunded up the stream higher up where it is entirely within Mysore Territory, thereby interfering with the usual flow, the Madras Government would, none the less, have good reason for protesting. Mr Reilly, the Sub-Collector of Penukonda, told me that there were cases of such bunding up within Mysore Territory, of streams flowing into Madakasira Taluk and they were giving him a good deal of trouble. He particularly cautioned me to see that my settlement of the boundary anywhere did not tend to facilitate such objectionable action on the part of the Mysore ryots While it gives trouble enough to safeguard the free flow of water into British tanks through streams entirely within Mysore Territory, it is very undesirable to increase the difficulty by allowing avoidable additions to the category of such streams

13. The other portions of the Mysore Representative's note represent his view of the controversy and of the facts bearing upon it and I leave them for what consideration they deserve at the hands of the Government I might be permitted however to mark that they contain much irrelevant and unnecessary matter, bringing to the aid of the disposal of a simple question relating to a small feeder channel, considerations which prevailed in the case of large rivers and under different conditions Free flow of water through Kondapuram kalava situated within the dispute vanka in front of Arsikere field No. 102 is the only essential requirement to be secured on the Mysore side and this right has never been questioned or interfered with and my proposal also is to recognise the easement and make a record of the same, which seems to my mind to be a simple and practical solution of the question

14. I shall touch on one more point only Mr Darashah makes capital out of my omission to refer to pamash account in the case of the stream and questions the property my pressing the account into service in the case of the road dispute, on the score of my having agreed with the Deputy Collector who reported on the Bastarapalle dispute that pamash accounts were not of much help in such matters It is true that pamash accounts are generally vague and often difficult of identification on ground I even agree with Mr. Darashah in his statement that the pamash is not "a reliable guide in minute matters" but that is no reason why it should be discarded or ignored where it is clear or evidences the existence or otherwise of a particular item In fact Mr Darashah himself states in this connection that "a reference may usefully be made to them (pamash accounts) on broad features relating to the country" Streams and roads are, I believe, among the broad features of a country and the Kalukal pamash accounts do furnish us with some useful information regarding the stream and road in dispute The vanka on the northern boundary of the village is found mentioned in them although its extent and other particulars are not satisfactorily verifiable on ground, owing to the difficulty of identifying the old names and references, but the existence of the vanka at the time of pamash might be taken as a fact In the case of the road dispute however, they furnish definite and conclusive information Two roads are referred to, one leading to Arsikere and the other to Sivaram, both of which exist even now No mention is made however of any road on the eastern boundary of Halukur which is described simply as "Arsikere Polmera," Had a road existed there, it must certainly have found place in the pamash, in as much as other existing roads have been noted A comparison of areas of the survey and pamash fields concerned is also in favor of the above conclusion as shown in my note I do not see any reason therefore to discard the pamash account as unreliable in this particular instance

Translation of report of measurer Ramachandra Madna and Sheikdar Hanumantha Row, dated 23rd January 1906

The Deputy Superintendent of Madras Survey Party came on the 22nd January 1896 to settle the boundary between Halukur and Arsikere, he told us he had cancelled the former delineation of the boundary as illustrated by the record on the sketch herewith submitted according to orders and the shisana stone placed between Nos 118 and 119 has been removed, and has informed us that he has rectified the previous British boundary in accordance with the blue line shown in our sketch We cannot say what arrangements he is going to make regarding fixing British stones in conformity with our boundary We drew his attention to the fact that there still remain some disputes on other points of this same boundary which has recently come into question he told us he would not examine the matter then, but would come for it on a future occasion

Letter—from the Hon'ble Lieut.-Col. Sir HUGH DALY, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., Resident in Mysore.
To—the Secretary to the Government of Madras, Revenue Department.
Dated—Bangalore, the 23rd August 1912.
No.—4292

With reference to the correspondence ending with your letter No. 3098, dated the 18th October 1911, regarding the rectification of the boundary dispute between the Pavagada Taluk of the Mysore State and the adjoining British taluks of the Anantapur District, I have the honour to forward herewith, for favour of consideration, a copy of letter No. 141-Pol., dated the 16th August 1912 (with enclosures), from the Mysore Durbar.

ENCLOSURES.

Letter—from the Officiating Secretary to the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, General and Revenue Departments.
To—the First Assistant to the Honourable the Resident in Mysore.
Dated—the 16th August 1912.
No.—141-Pol.

With reference to your letter No. 4079, dated the 11th July 1911, communicating the decision of the Madras Government to accept the proposal of the Durbar to have the entire disputed boundary line between the Pavagada Taluk and the adjoining British taluks of the Anantapur District rectified by two representatives, one on behalf of each Government, and subsequent correspondence ending with your office endorsement No. 6403, dated the 26th October 1911, forwarding a copy of a letter from the Madras Government stating that Mr. T. A. Sundaram Aiyar has been appointed as the British representative in the place of Mr. R. H. A Johnston, who was originally, selected, I am directed to forward herewith copy of a joint report drawn up by the two representatives, Mr. T. A. Sundaram Aiyar on behalf of the Madras Government and Mr. D. K. Darashah on behalf of the Durbar, together with three Memorandums, A, B and C containing the results of their inspection. The only questions on which they have differed relate to the portion of a stream and a road running between the Arsikere village of Mysore and the British village of Halukur. Their views with regard to these questions are contained in Memorandum B, and the points discussed therein will be dealt with later on in the course of this letter.

2. The representatives have accepted the principle that the Mysore boundary which was demarcated long before the Madras Survey, should be followed and have rectified the Madras boundary in accordance therewith, wherever, it disagreed with that of Mysore as explained in detail in Memorandum A in all the villages in which the boundary was examined by them. The corrections have been made on the ground; and as soon as the approval of both the Governments is given to the settlement effected by them, it is proposed to rectify the maps and survey records also. Theodolite stones which were not on the boundary line have been allowed to remain with the letters N. O. B. carved on them; but where the difference between the position of the correct boundary marks and the theodolite stones or other British boundary marks is slight and the introduction of a new boundary mark is likely to cause confusion, the original stones have been left undisturbed, a note having to be made in the survey records of both villages regarding the variation. The result of the inspection is that encroachments by Madras Survey were discovered in 57 cases involving 69 acres and 19 cents which have been restored to be Durbar. The Durbar are of opinion that the settlement effected by the representatives, as summarised in Memorandum A, may be accepted, and that the Madras Government may be requested to get their maps and survey records rectified in accordance therewith.

3. In the course of their investigations, the representatives came across several plots of land which were outside the Mysore boundary limits, but which had not been included within the British boundaries in the course of the Madras Survey. Full particulars of these cases are given in Memorandum C, and the total area of the plots is stated to be 17 acres 41 cents. The representatives propose to have these bits added on to the British Territory, in accordance with the practice stated to have been followed in similar cases by previous commissions. The circumstances under which these bits of land came to be excluded from their demarcation by the Madras Survey party are not known; but as the Durbar have no intention of going behind the boundary fixed during the original survey made in 1869, they have no objection to the Madras Survey marks being shifted so as to include these pieces in question in Madras Territory. In the case of the Nagalapur village referred to as case No. XI in

Memorandum A, the Durbar have, for the same reason, decided to abide by the original survey boundary, though the existence of the rock with an inscription to show that it was taken as a boundary raises some doubt as regards the correctness of the boundary in this locality. The Durbar's desire is that this principle should be consistently applied irrespectively of the results in any particular instance The Durbar also agree with the suggestion of the joint representatives that in order to minimise disputes, the Madras Survey officials should obtain the services of a measurer from the Mysore State to point out the correct boundary whenever they have any difficulty in identifying the original Mysore boundary so that Commissioners may be appointed, if necessary, only to settle cases where the issues involved are important The Durbar will be prepared to issue instructions to their officers to co-operate with the Madras Survey officials in such cases

4. The only question that remains for further consideration is in regard to the boundary (1) along the stream that separates Survey Nos 102 114, 115, 116 and 118 (that is Re-Survey Nos 122, 136, 137, 138 and 142) of Arsikere from Survey Nos 332, 331, and 320 of Halukur and (2) along the road adjoining Nos 96 and 99 (Re survey Nos 114 and 161) This question forms the subject of Memorandum B Mr Darasha has, in his note, elaborately refuted Mr. Sundaram Aiyar's arguments and assigned cogent reasons for holding that, in the case of such streams and roads, the middle line should be regarded as the real boundary, subject to any prescriptive rights that may have come into existence The Durbar agree generally with the views expressed by Mr Darasha and consider that the boundary line in these cases has been correctly indicated by him

5. The stream in question is a continuation of the surplus channel coming from the Arsikere tank which is entirely in Mysore, and Mr Sundaram Aiyar contends that the Mysore Government can have no rights over it as it is a feeder to the Halukur tank and does not re-enter the Mysore territory after it has once left it In regard to this, it has to be observed that if the stream "does not re-enter Mysore Territory after it has once left it," it does not enter British Territory either, and it is thus that it constitutes the boundary between British and Mysore land Further, it is not clear how Mr Sundaram Aiyar can distinguish the case of the present stream from that of Kadehude, the decision with respect to which is contained in letter No 153, dated the 6th February 1904, from the Acting Secretary to the Government of Madras to the Honourable the Resident in Mysore, and in which the right of the Durbar up to the middle of the stream has been admitted The channel in that case took the percolation water and the surface drainage of wet fields under the Valsa (a British) tank and, until it bifurcated, it irrigated British fields entirely After the bifurcation, one of the branches supplied water to the Valsa (British) fields and the other, which received water only in good years, irrigated Mysore fields Thus the main part of the channel irrigated British fields and, notwithstanding this fact, the right of the Durbar to the land up to the middle of the stream on the Mysore side was recognised wherever the channel intervened between Mysore and British lands The Durbar do not consider it necessary to adduce any argument in support of their claim to a mid-stream boundary when the stream passes along Mysore lands on one side and British lands on the other, as it is not only a well-known rule of riparian law but has also been adopted as a guiding principal both in the Mysore and Madras Survey rules It has not been questioned in any previous case, and the Durbar consider that it would be dangerous to depart from such a well settled principle In order to indicate that the mid-stream is the boundary, the Durbar are of opinion that Mysore stones should be newly put up alongside the British stones on the British side just like British stones which have already been planted along side Mysore stones on the Mysore side and that the stream so demarcated should be treated as belonging to both the Governments as was done in the case of the Kadehude and Kyadigunte disputes already referred to.

6. The principal of the mid-stream rule is applicable also to roads which exist for the common benefit of both the villages and have been in use from time immemorial, As observed by Mr. Darashah in his memorandum it would be unsafe to draw any inferences from the paimash accounts merely, while there is no evidence to show that the road has been made out of British lands or has been treated as British land from time immemorial. The Mysore Survey having deliberately taken the middle of the road as the boundary, the question is one which should not be treated as any longer open in accordance with the principles upon which the present entire settlement had proceeded, viz, to accept the Mysore boundary as originally laid down.

7. In these circumstances, I am to request you to kindly move the Madras Government to accept the settlement agreed to by their representative with the modifications herein above stated and to get their survey maps and records rectified accordingly.

Joint report.

In pursuance of Mysore Government Order No. 424—L. S. 44-08-15, dated 19th July 1911, and Madras Government Order No. 3097, Revenue, dated 18th October 1911, appointing us as the Mysore and the British Representatives, respectively, for the settlement of the disputed boundary between the Pavagada Taluk of the Mysore Territory and the adjoining British taluks of the Anantapur District, we have the honor to report as follows.

2. The correspondence printed with Madras Government Order No. 2048, Revenue, dated 5th July 1911, discloses disputes on the boundaries of the 14 Mysore villages, named in the margin, touching villages in the four taluks of Madakasira, Kalyandurg, Dharmavaram and Penukonda of the Anantapur District. We found, however, that the disputed boundary in the four villages of Hussainpura, Kyadigunte Arlikunte and Kadamalakunte had been finally disposed of in Madras Government Order No. 430, dated 11th February 1911, and that the rectification of the boundary had been effected in the field by the Maddagiri Sub-Division Officer in conjunction with the Sub-Collector of Penukonda. These four villages were, therefore, left out of the scope of our work, the Director of Madras Survey, the Collector of Anantapur and the Superintendent of Mysore Survey, all agreeing that nothing was required to be done by us in regard to them. We had, however, to examine the boundary of Arsikere, Mysore village, not previously listed, so that the total number of villages examined by us was 11.

1. Dommatamari
2. Veeralagundi.
3. Mangalvada.
4. Tumkunte
5. Mudgamahalli.
6. Sasalakunte
7. Maremmanahalli.
8. Nagalapura
9. Dettadakeiganahalli.
10. Kyatagamachanlu.
11. Hussainpura
12. Kyadigunte.
13. Arlikunte.
14. Kadamalakunte

3. We commenced field work on the 12th February and finished on the 29th of March. Had we not frequently done two days' work on a single day, we fear we should have taken considerably longer to compass the tedious and difficult work we were set to do.

4. In every case of dispute, the necessary verifications were made in the field with reference to the measurement records of both the Madras and Mysore Surveys.

Where measurements and other means of verification did not leave any room for doubt as to the boundary laid at the Mysore Survey in the year 1869, the Madras Survey rule enjoining surveyors to accord with the duly laid boundary of the prior survey of a foreign State was followed by us, and the Madras boundary was accordingly rectified. In no case settled by us has actual enjoyment been found to be inconsistent with settled lines.

5. Where the defaulting British boundary mark happened to be a theodolite station, the stone was left undisturbed, as the retention of a theodolite station stone, which did not also mark the boundary, would involve no loss of area to Mysore, while its removal would entail the alteration of the Madras traverse records. Where, however, such stations happened to be boundary marks as well, the symbols for boundary (two parallel lines ‖) were erased, or the letters N.O.B., meaning "Not on boundary," carved on them. Defaulting offset stones were removed and planted close to Mysore marks. In a very few instances, particularised in the due places in the appendices to this report, where the discrepancy was so slight as to be practically nil, we have agreed to do no more than to make a note of the circumstance in the survey records of either village.

6. In all cases of field correction, we have, as far as we could, given personal instructions to village officers and other ryots on either side as to the character and effect of the alterations made by us.

7. The sketches submitted with this report have been drawn not to scale, to enable us to exhibit small discrepancies in figures connected with them with clearness.

8. The results of our investigation are embodied in three Memoranda A, B and C submitted herewith. The Mysore boundary has been accepted in all the cases. These are treated of in Memorandum A. In regard to a claim put forth by the Mysore Representative for a portion of a stream and of a road running between the Arsikere village of Mysore and the British village of Halukur, we have thought it advisable to submit the case for the orders of Government in a separate Memorandum B, as it involves a principle of importance. Memorandum C relates to lands not hitherto included by the survey of either Government.

9. Tabular statements are attached to Memoranda A and C, showing the villagewar and total areas encroached upon in Mysore, and those which till now have not been taken account of by either survey.

10. In a large number of the cases we have dealt with, Revenue officers of almost every grade had previously examined the localities concerned and made diverse observations not based upon old measurement records, so that each of the cases of dispute has a pretty long history behind it; and, to have delineated the history of every case, would have rendered our memos, cumbrous without helping the understanding of them. We have therefore thought it better to make our memos as brief as possible, referring to facts connected with past investigation, only where a recital of them appeared to be necessary or desirable.

11. Though the alterations in demarcation on the ground have been completely carried out in all cases agreeably settled by us, the necessary corrections and notings in the survey records of either side have been left over to be made after the final orders of Government are received.

12. Our investigation of the Pavagada boundary has impressed us with the fact that the Madras surveyors have not exercised the necessary care in demarcating the frontier. We venture to recommend that in cases of dispute cropping up in future an experienced surveyor of Madras be deputed in advance to examine the ground in company with a measurer from Mysore. Discrepancies would be reported on, and alterations in the field might be effected under the orders of officers specially empowered to pass decisions in the more simple of the cases. Only matters of delicacy or importance may be reserved for the investigation of expensive commissions.

Dated Bangalore, 16th April 1912.

Deputy Superintendent,
Mysore Revenue Survey.

MEMORANDUM A.

(1)

Mysore village :—DOMMATAMARI, Pavagada Taluk.

British village :—ANANTAPURAM, Madakasira Taluk.

The dispute in this village was that two British theodolite stations on the eastern boundary of fields Nos. 8, 6 and 7 of Anantapuram village had been planted within the limits of Survey No. 117 of Dommatamari.

2. The disputed boundary was jointly inspected by us and the positions of the British and Mysore marks concerned were verified with reference to the recorded measurements on either side.

3. A sketch of the disputed boundary is attached. The plots coloured yellow and numbered I and II represent the disputed areas, 6 and 18 cents, respectively.

4. The Mysore boundary has now been followed, British stones being planted alongside the Mysore marks.

5. We have agreed to let the two British stones (a) and (b) remain where they are, in consideration of their being theodolite stations, which it is not advisable to disturb. But the parallel lines cut on them to indicate that they are on the village boundary, have been erased.

6. The plots marked A, B and C in the sketch refer to land not hitherto included on either side, and form the subject of Memorandum C.

Mysore village:—VEERALAGUNDI, Pavagada.

British village:—RALLAHALLI AND AMDALGUNDI, Madakasira.

The dispute here related to cases of encroachment in Survey Nos. 15, 16, 17, 21, 25, 26, 31 and 32 of Veeralagundi, which abut Survey Nos. 42 of Amdalgundi and 118—1, 117, 115, 114, 112—1, 112, 109 and 96 of Rallahalli.

2. The plots in dispute are eight in number, of which four had been previously inspected by the Amildar of Pavagada and the Tahsildar of Madakasira jointly, and the boundaries concerned had been ordered by the Madras Government in Order Mis. No. 220, Revenue, dated 27th January 1909, to be rectified in conformity with the Mysore Survey Demarcation. In the course of the rectification carried out as per these orders, the Tahsildars discovered and reported on some further cases of discrepancy. The Director of Survey, on an examination of the connected records, reported to the Madras Government that a comparison of the maps indicated still further discrepancies.

3. We have now examined all this boundary and have taken notice of eight cases in all. The sketches attached illustrate the cases.

Case I—Area encroached upon—18 cents.

(Case IV disposed of in Madras G. O No 220, dated 27th January 1909.)

This was due to the British tri-junction boundary mark a and the offset stone b having been placed within Mysore Territory as exhibited in the sketch. Both of these were rock-marks. Offset mark b has been erased by us and a fresh stone planted close to the Mysore mark b. The tri-junction mark a has been erased, and a fresh mark has been carved at aa close to the Mysore mark.

Case II.—Encroachment—10 cents.

(Case III under Madras G. O. of 1909)

An offset rock-mark at c situated within Mysore Territory has been erased.

The mark at d is a theodolite station and it was represented on the British side that a removal of it would necessitate numerous alterations in the Madras records, apart from a revision of the field traverse. The mark was therefore not disturbed and to compensate for the area of one cent of Mysore land excluded from Veeralagundi to the Madras side by the retention of the mark in its existing situation, an equal extent of land was taken from British Territory by recognising a fresh bend at e. The above adjustment was effected in one and the same survey field on their side.

Case	Encroachment on Mysore Territory	Remarks
III	1 cent . ..	British demarcation
IV	2 cents	corrected as per
V (case II of Madras G. O. of 1909) ...	32 cents ..	Mysore survey.
VI .. .	91 square links ..
VII (case I-B of Madras G O. of 1909 .	3 cents ..

Case VIII —Encroachment on Mysore Territory—33 cents

The encroachment was caused by the Madras Survey not taking cognizance of bends marked f, g, h, and k as per sketch, on the Mysore boundary. British stones have now been planted at each of these and of the two encroaching British stones m and n, m being only a boundary offset stone has been removed; n however was a boundary mark and a theodolite station combined. The parallel lines indicating boundary were effaced and the letters N. O. B. (meaning "not on boundary") were carved on it.

4. The plots marked A to K in the sketches refer to land not hither to included on either side, and form the subject of Memorandum C.

D. K. DARASHAH,
Dy. Supt., Mysore Rev. Survey.

T. A. SUNDARAM AIYAR,
Supt. of Land Records, Madras.

(3)

Mysore village:—MANGALVADA, Pavagada.

British village:—ALADAHALLI, Madakasira.

The dispute relates to a case of encroachment in Survey No. 96 of Mangalvada adjoining No. 27—3, 4 of Aladahalli. On verification we concluded that the Mysore boundary should be conformed to. Of the two encroaching stones, the one marked (a) has been removed and planted in its due place, i.e., next to Mysore stone (aa). The other being a theodolite station stone (b), has been left to remain in its present place, but the letters N. O. B. have been carved on it to indicate that it is not on the boundary.

Amount of encroached area given up to Mysore—31 cents.

The plots marked A and B in the sketches refer to land not hitherto included on either side and form the subject of Memorandum C.

D. K. DARASHAH, Deputy Superintendent, Mysore Revenue Survey.

T. A. SUNDARAM AIYAR, Superintendent of Land Records, Madras.

(4)

Mysore village:—TUMKUNTE, Pavagada.

British village:—ALADAHALLI, Madakasira.

The disputes here relate to six cases of encroachment of British boundary marks into Survey Nos. 29, 30, 34, 40 and 41 of Tumkunte, adjoining Survey Nos. 27/1, 13/3, 13/2, 13, 12/6, 4/5, 4/4 and 4/2 of Aladahalli.

On making the necessary verifications we decided that the Mysore boundary should be conformed to. Accordingly the following changes were effected on the field:—

Case I.—(Vide sketch)—Amount of encroachment—12 cents. Boundary stones have been newly-planted at (a), (b) and (c) and the encroaching stone at (d) has been removed.

Case II.—Amount of encroachment —19 cents.

The encroachment was removed by recognising the Mysore bend at (e) and planting a British stone close to it.

Case III.—The amount of encroachment is 192 square links.

The encroaching stone at (f) being a theodolite station, it was left in situ, but the letters N. O. B. were carved on it to indicate that it was not on the boundary. The Mysore boundary was followed by planting a fresh British offset stone at the point (g) alongside the Mysore mark.

Cases IV and V.—The encroachments 14 and 5 cents, respectively, are due to the two Mysore bends at (h) and (k) not having been recognised at the British Survey. The omission has now been supplied by planting two British stones at these points. The British theodolite station 1, which is not quite two links within the Mysore boundary, was treated as being practically on the boundary, the encroachment technically caused by its position being not worth disputing. The matter will, however, be made a note of in the survey records.

Case VI.—The encroachment here of 14 cents was removed by planting two British stones at (m) and (n) and removing the British stone at (o).

The plots marked A to E in the sketch refer to land not hitherto included on either side and form the subject of Memorandum C.

Mysore village—ARSIKERE, Pavagada. British villages :—1. ALADAHALLI, 2. SHIVARAM and 3. HALAKUR. Madakasira.

The verification of the disputes listed on the boundary of Tumkunte took us on to the boundary of the Mysore village of Arsikere, adjoining the British villages of Aladahalli and Shivaram, so as to permit of the listed discrepancies in Tumkunte being closed on undisputed points Hence the origin of cases I and II between Arsikere and Aladahalli and of cases III and IV between Arsikere and Shivaram.

Cases V, VI and VIII were examined because of a reference made at the time of our perambulation, by the Amildar of Pavagada.

Case VII is connected with a file of correspondence received from the Collector of Ananthapur.

Details are given below:—

Case Number	Area	Mysore village and field	British village and field	Remarks as to action taken by the Commissioners
I	1 cent	Arsikere—Survey No 240	Aladahalli—Survey No 3	A fresh British stone has been planted at the Mysore bend at a (vide sketch).
II	9 cents	Arsikere—Survey No. 241	Aladahalli—Survey Nos. 1—1, 1	The intruding theodolite boundary stone at b has had N. O B. carved on it British stones have been newly planted at c and d on the Mysore boundary
III	3 acres 43 cents	Arsikere—Survey No 242	Shivaram—Survey No. 3	The encroachment was caused by the British boundary having been traversed ignoring the Mysore bends at e, f, g, h and k. British offset stones have now been planted at these points
IV	2 acres 52 cents	Arsikere—Survey Nos 253, 254 and 255	Shivaram—Survey No 3	As the British stone at 1, the extreme east of plot No. IV, is only 3 links away from the Mysore mark on the Madras side of the boundary and is in addition a village theodolite station, the British Representative has taken the two marks to be practically coincident, and will make a note of the matter in his records.
V	8 cents	Arsikere—Survey No. 257	Halakur—Survey No 391	The encroaching British boundary mark at m was declared to be not on the boundary and the letters N. O. B. were accordingly carved on it. Two British offset stones were newly planted alongside Mysore marks at n and o.
VI	1 cent	Arsikere—Survey Nos. 95 and 96	Halakur—Survey No. 319	The theodolite boundary stone at p has had N O B cut on it. With regard to the British boundary stone q, which is hardly 2 links away from the Mysore bend stone there, it was considered by us to be quite sufficient to make the note of the matter in the records of either Survey and to treat them as being identical for practical purposes
VII	27 cents	Arsikere—Survey No 102	Halakur—Survey No. 382	In May 1906, the Deputy Commissioner of Tumkur District, brought to the notice of the Collector of Ananthapur the fact of an encroachment of 7 guntas in field No. 102 of Arsikere. This occasioned the joint inspection report dated 6th November 1906, drawn up by Mr. Sesai Ananda Rao, Assistant Commissioner, Maddagiri, Sub-Division, and Mr E. P. Walsh, I.C.S., Head Assistant Collector, Penukonda, in which they agreed that the area in question belonged to Mysore and should be given up. Three British boundary stones have now been planted by us at r, s and t to conform with the Mysore demarcation.
VIII	6 cents	Arsikere—Survey No. 116	Halakur—Survey No 351	Discrepancy rectified here by planting a British mark near the Mysore mark at u.

The plot marked A to N in the sketches refers to land not hitherto included on either ide and forms the subject of Memorandum C.

Mysore village—MUDUGANHALLI, Pavagada, British village :—GOWDANAKUNTE, Madakasira.

We examined and verified the disputed boundary here and found encroachments from the British side in three plots of land marked, I, II, and III in the sketch.

The fields concerned were—

Muduganahalli Survey Numbers 23, 24, 25 and 26.

Gowdanakunte Survey Numbers 312, 313, 314 and 315.

Case I.—Area, 5 cents. Rectified by planting a British stone close to each of the Mysore marks a and b and by carving the letters N. O. B. on the intruding theodolite boundary station at c.

Case II.—Area, 4 cents. The British stone at d was removed to e on the Mysore line.

Case III.—Area, 7 cents A British stone was planted next to Mysore mark at f. The British stone at g was removed to point h on the Mysore line.

Mysore village :—SASALKUNTE, Pavagada.

British villages :—1. NIJAVALLI AND 2. JAMBAGUMPLA, Kalyanadurga.

The survey fields to which the dispute here relates are Survey Numbers 22, 23, 38, 43, and 44 of Sasalkunte, which adjoin No. 138 of Nijavalli and 68, 70, 71 and 150 of Jumbagumpla. The disputed plots are six in number as shown in the sketches appended. The Mysore boundary in all these cases was duly verified with reference to old survey measurement records and now adopted as the frontier line.

Case I.—Area encroached upon, 13 cents, is due to non-recognition by the British Survey of Mysore bend stone at a. A British stone has now been planted at the spot, and another has been planted on the boundary at b, where, though there is no Mysore mark, the British representative found it necessary to place a mark of his own to indicate a block junction on Nijavalli side. The Mysore stone c being in a straight line with a and d, there was no necessity for a British mark at that place. The British mark, which should have been as d, is carved on a rock about 3 links south-east. We have thought it necessary in this case to do any more than to make a note of the relative situation of the marks in the records of either survey.

Case II.—Area of encroachment, 1 cent.

The encreaching British stone at e has been removed.

Case III.—Area of encroachment, 11 cents.

The discrepant offset stone at f was removed to its correct position ff next to the Mysore mark.

Case IV.—Area of encroachment, 1 acre, 44 cents.

The encroachment here is due to the British Survey having run its boundary straight without recognising the Mysore bend at g. A British stone has now been planted at the spot. The theodolite boundary Station at h is 9 links south-east of the Mysore mark. The letters N. O. B. have been carved on the former, and a fresh offset stone has been placed along side the Mysore stone.

Case V.—Area of encroachment, 78 cents.

Case VI.—Area of encroachment, 5 cents.

The encroachments here were due to the British boundary along the adjoining hill having been traversed with the theodolite without the Mysore bends at k and l being recognised. British stones have now been planted at these bends and the letters N. O. B. have been carved on the theodolite rock marks m, n, o, and p. The plots marked A to L in the sketch refer to land not hitherto included on either side and form the subject of Memorandum C.

Mysore village:—MAREMMANAHALLI, Pavagada.

British villages:—1. BESTARPALLI AND 2. JAMBAGUMPLA, Kalyandurga.

The dispute here relates to plots of land claimed as parts of Nos. 46, 47 and 45 of Maremmanahalli village, adjoining No. 209 of Bestarapalli and 232 of Jambagumpla. The encroachments are in three blocks. I and II failling on the side of Bestarapalli and III on the side of Jambagumpla.

Block I measures 21 acres, 18 cents which the Mysore side claims as forming part of No. 46 of Maremmanahalli. The Mysore marks concerned were all found to be in their correct position according to the map and the measurement records of 1869. The adjoining British field is No. 209 of Bestarapalli, a very large hill perambobe traversed all round by theodolite in the year 1892. This field is measured and mapped so as to include the disputed plot, which is marked on the sketch as a, b, c, d, a d being the British traverse boundary.

It is on record that No. 46 of Maremmanahalli has been in the Patta of a Mysore raiyat, Appu Rao, since 1872 until the time of his death about two years ago. Appu Rao's tenant, who cultivated the number in the years 1904 and 1906, was charged penal assessment for 9 acres and 6 acres, respectively, of Sivayi Jama cultivation discovered in the plot in dispute. Finding it difficult to pay assessment to two different Governments, the tenant, Chakodi Ramagadu, appears to have brought the matter to the notice of Appu Rao, and ceased to cultivate the Maremmanahalli field. Appu Rao then threatened to sue the Madras Government for demanding assessment on land which he averred was part of his holding in Mysore territory. Such is the origin of the dispute in question, which has been investigated by officers of either Government more than once but without definite results.

We have gone over the proceedings in the previous investigations and examined the materials on which they were based; we have also made the necessary local enquiries from village officers and other raiyats on either side. We found no evidence as to British possession or enjoyment of the land in question prior to the Madras Survey of 1892, the Paimaish accounts being "conflicting and not a reliable guide in matters of this nature," to quote the words of Deputy Collector Mr. Ramamurti Naidu, who conducted the investigation jointly with Mr. M. A. Narayana Aiyangar, Maddagiri Sub-Division Officer, in July 1909.

The Karnam of Bestarapalli produced a "B" memorandum (corresponding to Takrar Takhta in Mysore) for 1897 and two Adangals (Pahani Accounts) for the years 1895 and 1896, to show that there was Sivayi Jama (i.e., unauthorised) cultivation to the extent of 10 to 11 acres in No. 209 of Bestarapalli, and wanted us to believe that this area lay within the dispute plot; but in the absence of measurement sketches indicating the locale of such cultivation in a large field containing over 941 acres we took further evidence on this point and found it impossible to conclude with any degree of certainty that the Sivayi Jama cultivation was situated in the disputed area.

There is a British offset rock-mark near Mysore bandh and stone at c, a fact noticed also at previous investigations. As the Bestarapalli map took no cognizance of this point, the genuineness of the rock-mark was a matter of suspicion with Madras officers, who happened to enquire into the dispute on former occasions, the Mysore side holding that the mark was genuine but that the mapping was incorrect.

Were these all the data available for deciding the question, we still think we should have hesitated to conclude that the land did not belong to Mysore. But we have now come upon a record of correspondence which took place in 1892-93 between the Deputy Commissioner of Tumkur and the Collector of Ananthapur, in which we see that the boundary in question was disputed by the Maremmanahalli raiyats immediately after it was laid down by the Madras Survey, and the matter was settled by the Deputy Superintendent in charge of the party conducting survey operations in Ananthapur District who reported that the boundary "has been demarcated according to the published maps of villages of Mysore Territory." (Vide copies of correspondence enclosed.)

The above proves to our mind that the British offset marked at c was carved during the rectification that was evidently affected by the Madras Survey Party on the complaint of the Mysore authorities in 1892. A corresponding alteration, however, in the map of Bestarapalli would appear not to have been made.

In these circumstances, we have agreed that the plots belongs to Mysore and that it should be excluded from the records of the Bestarapalli village. The British marks at a and c are not sufficiently close to the Mysore marks at these points for a coincident boundary. The a mark being a theodolite tri-junction station is left undisturbed with the simple expedient of the letters N.O.B. carved on it, but a fresh offset stone has been put up close to the Mysore point. The rock-mark at c has been erased and a fresh stone has been planted close to the Mysore mark.

Block II.—Area, 48 cents of a rocky hill side.

Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore,

The Mysore boundary has been conformed to by carving the letters N. O. B. on the British stations at e, f, g, and h, and by cutting a fresh rock-mark next to Mysore mark at k.

Block III.—Area, 60 cents.

This encroachment was occasioned by the British tri-junction stone at a in Block I not being situated close to the Mysore mark The procedure followed in the case of Block I has served to effect the rectification required in this case also Mysore village—NAGALAPURA, Pavagada.

British villages—1. KAMBADUR, 2. CHANNAMPALLI and 3. KURAKALAPALLI, Kalyandrug

The fields concerned are 33, 55, 104, 107, 108, 121, 122, 123, 126, 138 and 139 of Nagalapura adjoining Nos. 345, 688, 689, 723 and 727 of Kambadur, No. 143 of Channampalli and Nos. 2 and 156 of Kurakalapalli. The number of disputes is 11 as marked in the sketches.

Case.		Area of encroachment.
I	...	24 cents.
II	...	1 acre 30 cents.
III	...	7 cents.
IV	...	7 cents.
V	...	300 sq. links.
VI	...	8 cents.
VII	...	4 cents.
VIII	...	7 cents.

In these cases, the Mysore boundary was followed, after the necessary verifications. All the defaulting British stones have been removed, and fresh stones have been planted alongside the Mysore marks.

NOTE.—By British representative.

Case IX.

As already reported by the Director of Madras Survery, only an unnecessary stone had to be removed on the ground. As the records did not take account of the stone there is no giving up of any area on the British side.

T. A. SUNDARAM AIYAR.

Vide Note by Mysore representative on case XI below.

D. K. DARASHAH.

Case IX —Area of encroachment, 4 cents.

An intruding British boundary stone, not however shown in the British map has been removed.

Case X.—Area of encroachment, 1½ cents.

The encroachment was removed by the intruding British boundary stone at a in the sketch being shifted back 3 links to fall on the Mysore line. At this point a there is also a British forest cairn, which the Forest Department will have to move to the new position of the British Survey stone on the boundary. Another forest cairn, which should be on the boundary at b, is 5 links off the line within Mysore Territory. There is a forest stone close to the cairn, which has to be removed to the true boundary along with the cairn. A missing British offset stone has been planted at c.

No. 3273, Revenue 1st November 1912.

Case XI.—Area of encroachment, 31 acres 23 cents.

This is a case of encroachment on the field, though not on the map, due to boundary symbols having been carved at the theodolite stations lettered d and e in the sketch. The incorrect symbols have now been erased. Though so far only as the field mark is concerned, an encroachment into Mysore territory must be said to have taken place, the Madras surveyor did not intend the marks to be on the true boundary as is evidenced by the block map which does not include the land in question within the adjoining British field. The British stone, which was 9 links away from the Mysore mark at f, has now been fixed close to the latter.

NOTE by the British representative.

Case No. XI.

There is no disagreement here between the British and Mysore demarcation of the frontier boundary. The two rock-marks at d and e used for purposes of a theodolite traverse had the boundary symbols (parallel lines) carved on them. The incorrect symbols were removed by me. It is no case of encroachment really either on the field or in the map, as the area mentioned is not included in the British records and none has now to be given up to Mysore.

T. A. SUNDARAM AIYAR.

The object of this note as of the one made by the Madras representative on case IX above is not quite clear. The Madras surveyor has had boundary symbols carved on the stones. That, after all, is the main consideration for the Mysore raiyat and for the Mysore official, who never get a chance of consulting British measurements or block-maps until a commission is appointed to settle the dispute. When a British stone bearing boundary symbols is planted within Mysore territory, I submit it is quite proper to hold that an encroachment in the field is caused thereby.

D. K. DARASHAH.

Point x.—On the sketch (plot XI) marks a a spot on rock, where the inscription ಮೈಸೂರು ಕಿರೊಯು ಫಲ ಮುಂದೆ (Mysore Province boundary) is carved. The point falls outside of the Mysore field marks as laid down at the original survey and is excluded also from the Mysore measurements and map. From the sketches and inspection notes appended to Pavagada Amildar's memo to Tumkur Deputy Commissioner, No. A, dated 10th May 1910, it would appear that the Sub-Division Officer of Maddagiri, who inspected the spot in company with the Amildar, was of opinion that the Mysore boundary on that side should extend to the point x in our sketch and run as f, x, y, advancing the following as his reasons :—

(1) The existence of the inscription at the point.

(2) The existence of a British survey mark near the point.

(3) The existence of a forest cairn at the place.

(4) The British map takes the point x as being on the boundary.

We find, however, that the British map and measurements of Kurakalapalli do not take any point near x either as a theodolite or as a boundary station. It appears to us further that the British rock-mark near x was first carved by mistake and was afterwards abandoned as there are evident signs of an attempt of getting it erased. The traverse line according to British measurements and map really goes along d, e, y in the sketch. The forest cairn near x is of recent erection, and is no evidence of the survey boundary. The Forest Department were apparently misled by the half-erased survey mark, and put up a cairn there without consulting the village map. Had that department taken notice of actually existing British boundary marks, they would have set up a cairn at e, where as shown above (case XI) there was a theodolite boundary mark. As for the Kanarese inscription, the fact remains that it was not recognised at the Mysore survey in 1869. The Madras representative draws attention to the fact that ancient "sasanams" have in several instances not been followed at the original survey.

To sum up, both the British and Mysore maps and measurements agree is not taking the point x as being on the boundary; the British mark at the point, first carved by mistake, was subsequently erased; the forest cairn was set up in ignorance, and without reference to maps; and the presence of an old inscription is not a fact strong enough to lead us to attempt an alteration of boundaries. The area involved lies partly on rocky hill sides and partly within scrub jungle.

In view of the above facts, the Mysore representative does not press a claim for alterations

MEMORANDUM B.

STATEMENT OF CLAIM BY MYSORE REPRESENTATIVE.

The Madras Representative wishes to know on what basis I claim half the stream adjoining No. 102 of Arsikere village. My reply is that the Mysore measurer has measured and mapped half of the stream, and that the claim to midstream from either side of a stream is a natural if unwritten law. If the Madras Representative has objections to make I should like to hear him and either accept or rebut his arguments.

BANGALORE,
19th April 1912.

D. K. DARASHAH,
Dy. Supt., Mysore Revenue Survey.

The arguments applicable to boundary streams apply equally to roads on the boundary. The road bordering on Nos. 96 and 99 of Arsikere will be dealt with accordingly

D K DARASHAH.

19th April 1912.

NOTE BY THE BRITISH REPRESENTATIVE.

The claim put forth by the Mysore Representative in the attached memorandum is one not pressed or discussed at previous investigations, although the boundary at this part of the frontier would appear to have been in dispute for a long time. The memorandum does not contain a full presentation of the claim as several points and arguments urged by the Durbar Representative at our personal discussions are omitted to be given thereon, but I shall state and meet them so far as I have been able to understand them.

2. The dispute is as to the right of the ownership to a stream and a road which are now wholly measured in the British village of Halukur, adjoining the Mysore village of Arsikere as shown in sketch A appended. The Durbar's claim for half the stream and half the road is based on the fact that the Mysore measurer has measured and mapped accordingly and that the midstream boundary is "a natural, if unwritten law."

Revenue (Land Survey), dated 22nd April 1913.

3. The Mysore survey rule in this regard reads as below :—"The area of the site of a village and of roads, nallas and rivers which have not been included in the measurements of 'numbers' should be computed from the map in the manner directed below and entered after the last 'number' in the fair field book; but in case a road or nalla or river forms the boundary between two villages, only half its area should be put down to the village under examination."

The above rule is stated to be based upon the general law of riparian rights referred to in paragraph 2 but then the inclusion of roads under the rule would not appear to be correct. The rule does not lay down how such roads, nallas and rivers should be demarcated on the ground but the Mysore Representative informs that the demarcation stones are always placed on the adjoining field boundary for the reason that they cannot be planted in mid-stream.

The British survey rule however which is also, I believe, based upon the "natural law" lays down that when a river forms the boundary between two villages second class station stones should be erected on either bank of the river and the mid-stream taken as the true boundary provided however that existing rights are not interfered with.

4. The latter portion of the Mysore rule applies, it is stated, to the interior as well as the frontier boundary of villages. In the fair field book of Arsikere village accordingly, not only has half the area of the stream and road referred to in the claim memorandum been put down to the village but also half the area of the streams on other portions of the village boundary including the stream marked X in sketch. This last is on the frontier and yet the Darbar Representative has not included it in the claim as per his memorandum.

Even accepting the Mysore rule to be correct as it is, I consider that its application to the case in question is not right as will be shown in the succeeding paragraphs.

5. The stream (vanka) in question is a feeder to the Halukur tank and is a continuation of the surplus channel coming from the Arsikere tank. It has been measured as vanka poramboke field No. 332 in Halukur village and continues westward through British field No. 331 and empties itself into the Halukur tank, field No. 320. That is to say, the vanka after it leaves the Mysore territory does not re-enter it at all and no water is taken from it to irrigate the Mysore fields.

6. On the slope of the northern bank of the vanka, runs a kalva called Kondapuram kalva through which the Arsikere (Mysore) tank water is carried to the lands of one of the Mysore raiyats. This kalva takes its source within the Mysore territory and no water, either surface or sub-soil, is let into it from the dispute vanka. This Kondapuram kalva is considered a mamool kalva and the Mysore raiyats' right to carry the Arsikere tank water through it has never been questioned.

In the year 1898 when one of the Mysore raiyats, Kensarama by name, dug a new kalva in the bed of the vanka in question he was forbidden to do so by the Taluk Magistrate of Madakasira, but the Mysore right of easement to the mamool kalva (Kondapuram kalva) was admitted; vide Taluk Magistrate's order enclosed D. Dis. No. 952, dated 18th June 1899, and sketch B appended thereto. No other right over the vanka can or need be claimed on the Mysore side in view of the character of the vanka as described in paragraph 5 supra. Subject therefore only to the right of easement in the Kondapuram kalva or the part of the Mysore raiyat, the vanka field No. 332 has been treated entirely as British, and the existence and recognition of such a right of easement need not militate against that action

7. During our inspection of the vanka in dispute, it was alleged that the trees on either bank were being enjoyed by the respective adjacent raiyats. This counts for nothing as enjoyment of the trees in a poramboke land is generally unauthorized and would confer no title to the enjoyer. Moreover, the raiyat of field No. 102, Mysore village of Arsikere, which adjoins the vanka in question was prosecuted in the year 1907 for cutting the leaves of some trees on the Mysore side of the vanka, before the Madakasira Taluk Magistrate who convicted and fined him Rs. 2, vide Proceedings C. C. No. 129 of 1907, dated 25th July 1907.

8. The Darbar Representative quoted also a precedent to show that the Madras Government have already accepted the mid-stream rule in a similar case. The reference is to Madras G. O. No. 152, Revenue, dated 6th February 1904, and Mysore G. O. Nos. 2866-8, dated 19th March 1904. I do not think that the present case is on all fours with the cases disposed of in the above Government Order, nor does it appear that the orders conveyed therein were intended to have a general application.

9. Out of the two vanka disputes settled in the Government Order of 1904, the channel between the British village of Valasa and the Mysore village of Kadahodi was apportioned, it appears, for the reason that the channel which had its beginning in the British village, after running along the common boundary for a short distance, divided itself into two branches one entering the Mysore village and the other flowing into the British village.

Revenue (Land Survey), dated 22nd April 1913.

It was also the case here that the channel had been included entirely in both the surveys Mysore and British.

10. In the other dispute, between Valasa and Tammadahalli on the one side and the Mysore village of Katigunti on the other, the channel is seen to begin and end in the Mysore territory, traversing the common boundary in its middle course So far as can be judged from the map, the channel does not appear to lead into any water course or tank on the British side.

The Commissioners who enquired into the case were perhaps guided by the above circumstance in making their recommendation for apportionment.

11. But in the case now under consideration there is no justification for the Mysore claim. As already stated, the vanka is a feeder to the British tank in Halukur village and does not re-enter the Mysore territory before it empties itself into the tank. No water is being, nor can any be permitted to be, taken on the Mysore side from the vanka or its continuation to the west as it would be prejudicial to the interests of the Halukur British raiyats There is no reason therefore to disturb the present demarcation according to which the vanka is measured as a separate field and registered as vanka poramboke in the British records, subject only to the existing right of easement in the Kondapuram kalva on the part of the Mysore raiyat. This right might perhaps be noted in the annual adangal and in the permanent A Register of Halukur village to avoid dispute in the future.

12. Following the precedent quoted by the Durbar Representative, I would challenge the measurement and inclusion entirely within the Mysore village of Arsikere, of the channel touching the eastern boundary of British field No. 342 and claim half the stream for the British village and suggest that the claim should be extended to all similar cases.

13. As regards the claim for the roadway adjoining Mysore fields Nos. 99 and 96, it does not appear that the application of the law of riparian right to the case is correct. The Mysore Representative first said he would not press his claim for the road but has since revived it. No precedent in support of the claim has been quoted, and I am not aware of any.

14. The British fields adjoining the boundary in question are 347, 348 and 349 of Halukur. Field No. 347 is road poramboke and is comprised of the cart track running north to south adjoining Arsikere boundary and the road running east to west and leading to Arsikere village. There is no road way shown in field Nos. 348 and 349 which are patta and inam, respectively.

15. Field No. 347 and the adjoining field 346 take in the whole of Paimash No. 70, the area of which is recorded as acres 7 guntas 206— or acres 7·51. The survey area of the two fields is acres 7·33 so that it is clear that the extent of the two fields is entirely covered by the paimash account.

Field Nos. 348 and 349 to the south of 347 correspond to paimash fields 1 and 2 (portion) respectively, the eastern boundary of which is described in the paimash as Arsikere Polimerah and no mention of any road between is made. The northern boundary of S. No. 348 is the road leading to Arsikere and it is noted as such in the paimash. The western boundry of paimash No. 2 (fields Nos. 349 and 307) is described as Sivaram road, which is also the case now on ground. Evidently therefore there was no road at the time of paimash in the eastern portion of fields Nos. 347, 348 and 349 and the inclusion, in the Mysore village, of any portion of the road that might have existed at the time of the Mysore survey must be considered unauthorised.

Enclosure No. 1

PROCEEDINGS OF THE ACTING TAHSILDAR OF MADAKASIRA.

D. Dis. No. 952, dated 18th June 1899.

The village officers of Halukur have reported in their Arzi No. 3, dated 10th April 1898, that there is a vanka in a nalla in their village leading to Doddaghatta tank, that while the Halukur raiyats are, as per mamool, carrying the vanka water for the cultivation of their fields under the tank, one kapa Kencha Rama of Chitnaduku hamlet holding lands in Mysore village of Arsikere has been bunding up and carrying all the water for irrigating the Mysore lands and that the raiyats should be sent for and necessary bundhobusth ordered. The Halukur village officers have also executed a kyphiat in support of the above arzi adding that the vanka in question is within their village limits and the defendant (the Mysore raiyat) has, for the first time this year contrary to mamool, dug a new channel and taken the water to his well from which to irrigate his lands and requesting an early settlement of the matter.

2. On sending for the defendant Kencha Rama and enquiring of him, he stated that he was a pattadar of Mysore, that he was, as a mamool, carrying water from the vanka leading to Doddaghatta tank and that as he was told by the Arsikere village officials that he could every year dig a channel and carry water to his lands, he has been accordingly taking water to his lands.

3. In this connection a reference was made to the Amildar of Pavagada who in his yadast No. 267, dated 16th June 1898, stated that the channel in question was within the Mysore boundary and that the complaint of the Halukur raiyats was not right.

4. The report and plan submitted by the Revenue Inspector, Amarapuram, have been perused. From a copy of the plan attached it is made out that, in the surplus channels B named Gujjarappa Marava vanka, a new channel K was dug by Kench Rama from J to L who then carried it across the Government vanka C through fields Nos. 332 and 331, and storing it at M led the water on to the well N for irrigating his lands, that channel K was newly dug but channel G was old and there was no dispute about it and that the new channel should be filled up.

5. Further the raiyats of Chitnaduku, hamlet of British village Halukur, have also deposed that the channel in question was dug up newly against mamool.

6. I personally inspected the disputed channels and vankas, etc., on the 6th instant. The sketch now prepared by me agrees with that submitted by the Revenue Inspector. There is no reason for any dispute as regards the Mysore boundary. There is no reason either, to doubt as to how far the British boundary extends as to how far the Mysore boundary. The British stones have been planted alongside the Mysore marks and bandhs and the boundaries laid out correctly. The Mysore mamool Kalva runs within the British territory as shown in violet ink in our sketch. The Mysore new kalva runs within the British territory as shown in red pencil. The Halukur mamool kalva runs both in Mysore and British territory as shown in blue pencil. The fact that the channels shown in violet ink and blue pencil are old mamool ones and that the disputed channel shown in red pencil is the new channel dug by Kencha Rama will be evident on local inspection. It is objectionable to dig a new channel within the British limits. It is equally objectionable for the Mysore raiyats to obstruct the Halukur mamool kalva shown in blue pencil. In the matter of taking water through the Mysore mamool kalva shown in violet ink and through the Halukur mamool British kalva shown in blue pencil, it will not be proper for either party to obstruct each other. The newly dug channel shown in red pencil should be covered up and necessary steps will be taken to have it done. A portion of the Halukur mamool kalva higher up comes from within the Mysore territory and in case the Mysore raiyats object to the channel in question thus running in the Mysore territory, the Halukur raiyats are informed that they will have a right to obstruct the channel (kalva) shown in violet ink.

MEMORANDUM B.

NOTE BY THE MYSORE REPRESENTATIVE.

The joint report on the Pavagada Boundary Commission submitted to the Superinten dent, Mysore Revenue Survey, with my letter No. 763, dated 30th April 1912, was prepare by myself and Mr. Sundaram Aiyar together at Bangalore. The case of the stream and th road now under consideration were put off to the last. But it is to be regretted tha Mr. Sundaram Aiyer could not stay in Bangalore for completing this part of the work so tha the somewhat unsatisfactory procedure has now to be adopted, of his writing his note at Anan tapur, and of my writing mine at Bangalore. Could we have sat together for it, misconcep tion on his part on several of the points raised by him would have been avoided.

2. The stream in dispute varies from 150 links to 200 links in breadth and is on th common boundary of the Mysore village of Arsikere and the British village of Halkur. Th survey numbers of Arsikere adjoining the stream in dispute are Nos. 102, 114, 115, 116 an 118. The case for Mysore is that the middle line along the stream on the common boundar should be considered to be the true boundary. The reason underlying such a proposition i clear enough. I understand it to be based on the unavoidable necessity of investing ripariar proprietors with rights of various kinds in the stream, as also of arranging to prevent disputes among the rivals, by drawing the line along the middle, beyond which neither side is to ven ture. The rules in all countries, so far as I have been able to ascertain, are substantially in accordance with this idea. The privileges ordinarily enjoyed in a stream of the kind in ques tion are such as free-grazing on the banks, the use of leaves and twigs from trees growing or them, the use of water for cattle and for domestic or other ordinary purposes, and the benefi of alluvial accretions. Of course, limitations may have to be imposed in individual instances but the rule is undoubted as a general law. The revenue Code of Mysore has, in recognition of the liberal basis on which it rests, provided for all of these rights to riparian owners. The right of grazing, watering and of alluvial additions up to a certain limit have all been conceded Even in the case of so valuable a user as that of trees, Section 25 (b) of the Land Revenue Rules lays it down that "when a stream forms the boundary of an occupied survey number, " the occupant should be allowed the benefit of the trees up to mid-stream, subject to the " provisions of the Land Revenue Code regarding alluvion."

3. Following the spirit of this general law the Mysore Survey rule deals with streams on the boundary of villages as follows:—"In case a road or a nala or river forms the boundary "of two villages, only half its area should be put down to the village under examination." Mr. Sundarm Aiyar has satisfied himself that the Mysore measurer measured and mapped in the year 1869 a half of the stream in question into Arsikere, and I believe the problem before us should have been solved on that solid ground alone. But he enters on an exam nation of the rationale of law itself. I much doubt if we are at all called upon to venture beyond the fact that the measurer has measured, mapped and made a record of his half of the stream, in conformity with the survey rule in force in Mysore for nearly 48 years, itself drawn from the rule in force for over 70 years in another British Province, the Bombay Presidency. I have, however, no alternative but to follow Mr. Sundarm Aiyar into the mazes of the elaborate presentation of his side of the question.

Revenue (Land Survey), dated 22nd April 1913.

4. I give below my replies in what I call for brevity's sake, the "Mysore Note," along side of a short statement of each of Mr. Sundaram Aiyar's arguments which I call the "Madras Note."—

Madras Note, paragraph 1.

The present claim was not pressed or discussed on previous occasions.

Mysore Note

The claim is not a newly got up one. The Madras Survey of Halakur took place in 1893, and the first time that steps were officially taken in Mysore was in 1895, when the taluk measurer reported (No. 10—1, dated 6th August 1895) to the Amildar of Pavagada about Madras stones having been planted without regard to mid-stream and mid-road boundary in Arsikere. Correspondence then ensued, when the measurer and the shekdar met the Madras Surveyor Doraswamy Naidu for the settlement of boundary in compliance with the Anantapur Collector's letter No. 3175, dated 4th December 1895, to the Deputy Commissioner of Tumkur. The surveyor is reported to have taken certain measurements but declined to enter into the stream and road question, which, he said, was beyond his powers to decide Then again we read of the Madras Deputy Superintendent No. 2 Division, asking the Deputy Commissioner (in his No. 1—1. dated 4th January 1896), to depute a revenue official to meet, him at the boundary. The shekdar and the measurer were, sent again, whose joint report says that the Deputy Superintendent had a few stones removed, that had been fixed in the interior of Survey Nos. 118 and 119, that he said that the Halkur boundary had been corrected in accordance with the Mysore demarcation, but that the other items of the dispute would be attended to at a future time. This record which ends here was placed in Mr. Sundram Aiyar's hands. It shows that the question under consideration is not a new one. In his memorandum No. A, dated 31st September 1907, to the Deputy Commissioner, the Amildar returns to the topic, and says he learns from the raiyats that the mid-stream boundary had been accepted by the Madras Government. I have not been able to find any record about this; but it is certain that the raiyats of Arsikere who had been waiting for a settlement have actively resisted encroachments, ever since the survey of Halkur took place. British stones on the Mysore bank were being continually thrown out by the more unruly of them. This is said to be the burden of many a report sent up by the subordinate officials of Madakasira. At our own inspection we found several British stones which should have stood on the banks thrown aside. Mr. Sundaram Aiyar informed me that he had ascertained for a truth, that the Arsikere raiyats, on one occasion, had gone to the length of sounding a tom-tom, perambulating the boundary, and plucking out all British stones they thought had aggressed on their grounds. All this was reprehensible conduct indeed, still it proves beyond a doubt that the mid-stream question has troubled the raiyat's mind for a very long time.

The memorandum is not a full presentation of the case for Mysore.

The memorandum drawn up by me was a brief preliminary statement of the leading points in the case for Mysore, intended, for convenience of discussion, to elicit objections, if any, from the Madras representative, which could then be met by me. There is nothing unusual in such a procedure

Madras Note, paragraphs 2 and 3.

The Mysore rule regarding boundary streams is stated to be based on the riparian law, which cannot apply to roads.

The rule regarding boundary roads can have nothing to do with riparian law; but considerations similar to those underlying the dicussion on streams govern the road law, as will be shown in the sequel where the Arsikere road is dealt with.

The Mysore rule does not lay down how field demarcation has to be carried out in the case

Stones and bandhs in the bed of a water course are liable to be washed away by the floods. Besides, raiyats find no difficulty in locating the middle of a stream in the event of a dispute among themselves. Hence, there is no mid-stream demarcation of boundary streams and roads, but the Mysore Representative says the marks are always placed on the boundary of the adjoining field, because they cannot be planted in mid-stream.

in Mysore, as there is none in Madras. With regard to the boundary of a field adjoining a stream, the Mysore Survey rule, Section VIII, paragraph 12, is that no artificial demarcation is at all necessary, since the edge of the bank itself presents a natural boundary line. But, where the edge happens to be irregular, the officer testing the measurer's area may feel a doubt as to what points on the bank the measurer took his offsets to. Hence the supplemental provision that bends along a bank may also be demarcated. Our measurer's took a proper advantage of this rule in their own interests and put stones on the bends along a bank, otherwise a palpable discrepancy between the officer's measurements and their own might produce a discrepancy of area, possibly resulting in undeserved punishment. It is to be borne in mind that the demarcation and measurement refer exclusively to the field on the bank for purposes of calculation of area and assessment. It is not a substitute for mid-stream demarcation. The privileges over half the stream that the proprietor of the field enjoys, is acquired under a totally different law, the Natural Law alluded to before.

The Madras Survey rule anent streams should also be considered to be based on Natural Law.

The Madras rule as quoted by Mr. Sundaram Aiyar is also founded on Natural Law, and is in keeping with the Mysore and Bombay rule. It lays down the general principle of mid-stream and adds a proviso for exceptions. Where, for instance, a person has by lawful means acquired the right to easements of every description on the whole of the stream, it is manifest that mid-stream cannot for him be the true boundary. The Survey demarcation is, however, to be the same in all cases second-class station stones planted on both banks.

Madras Note, paragraph 4.

Whether the midstream rule, if applicable to villages in the interior, can apply also to villages on the frontier of foreign territory, may be open to question.

The mid-stream law should in all reason be respected even in the case of villages belonging to different Governments. I am unable to see either the necessity or the desirability of substituting any rule at variance with one which is founded on an equitable adjustment of the natural needs of proprietors on opposite banks. The law is heartily approved by the village communities of both Mysore and Madras; and as international rules rest directly on the Law of Nature as understood by those who obey it, only an extraordinary political necessity can give rise to a doctrine of a different kind.

Half the area of the stream on other portions of the Arsikere boundary should, under the same principle, have been claimed by the Mysore Representative. Such claim is not made in his memorandum.

The disputed portions of the stream are on the frontier in four places, namely, along the borders of Survey Nos. 102, 114, 115, 116 and 118 of Arsikere. The case of No. 102, which is more complex than any of the others, was selected by me for a concentration of the discussion of the points involved. The conclusions arrived at there, would apply "mutatis mutandis" to the other cases as I had informed Mr. Sundaram Aiyar.

Madras Note, paragraphs 5 and 6

Accepting the Mysore Rule to be correct, its application to the present case would be wrong, because the stream is a feeder to the British tank in Halkur, bearing to it surplus water from the Arsikere tank. After it leaves Mysore territory, it never re-enters it, and no water is taken from it to irrigate Mysore lands.

The surplus water in the stream may all flow into the Halkur tank, but I fail to see how it follows from this circumstance alone, that the bed and the banks should be wholly taken into Madras territory, in contravention of the Universal law providing for a just distribution among rival riparian owners, of the several other easements to which a stream is subject. Perhaps, the only reason that can be advanced in the case in hand is, that by doing so, the volume of water to which the Halkur tank has a right may not diminish, by raiyats unlawfully diverting any of it. But the right to this safeguard can be exercised just as effectively when mid-stream is the boundary, as when it is not. Supposing Mysore raiyats bunded up the stream higher up where it is entirely within Mysore territory, thereby interfering with the usual flow, I imagine the Madras Government would, none the less, have good reason for protesting. The mere inclusion, therefore, of a boundary stream into the British village cannot be held to afford opportunities for a more effective exercise of the right to guard the flow.

Revenue (Land Survey), dated 22nd April 1913.

The existence of the "Kondapura Kalve" on the slope of the Mysore bank, which receives water only from the Arsikere tank, makes no difference, though Halkur has nothing to do with the "Kalve" The existence and the recognition of a right of easement by Mysore raiyats over the "Kalve" need not militate against the action of the Madras Survey who have treated the whole stream as theirs.

But when we are told in the same breath that the "Kondapura Kalve" an exclusively Mysore channel, may be included within British boundaries though the Halkur channel, should not be permitted to fall within Mysore territory, the reasoning for the Madras side becomes of a strangely simple character. There is patent unfairness in the argument moreover, the flow in the "Kondapura Kalve" is, if anything, more easily interfered with than that of the broad stream in which it is situated.

A Mysore raiyat Kensarama dug a new "Kalve" in the bed of the stream, but the Tahsildar of Madakasira subsequently prohibited him.

The case referred to, is that of Kencharama, who in 1898, dug a "Kalve" in the bed of the stream to lead sub-soil water to his well on the bank adjoining No. 115. Correspondence on this subject ensued between the Tahsildar of Madaksira and the Amildar of Pavagada. Both officers held independent investigations; finally, the Amildar wrote to the Tahsildar (his No. 267, dated 20th June 1898), forwarding all the evidence, and stating the grounds on which he thought the action of the Mysore raiyat was justified and that the mid-stream was the true boundary. Unfortunately, this record has been destroyed at Madakasira under Record Destruction rules (vide Tahsildar's Yadi No. 584, dated 14th March 1892, to the Amildar). We, however, are not concerned with the merits of Kencharama's case. Mr. Sundaram Aiyar puts the Tahsildar's order in evidence, to show that the prohibitory order on a counter-complaint from the Halkur village officers, was based on the presumed fact of the stream belonging wholly to Halkur. But that was a mere presumption. The fact presumed is itself the issue before us The order says, "There is no reason for any dispute regarding the Mysore boundary. There is no reason either to doubt as to how far the British boundary extends, and as to how far the Mysore boundary. The British stones have been planted alongside of the Mysore marks and bandhs, and the boundaries laid out correctly." Thus, the Madras Representative's quoting an order founded on a presumption of the point he seeks to prove, amounts to a begging of the question.

Madras Note, paragraph 7

If the trees on either bank have, as alleged by the raiyats, been enjoyed by the cultivators on either bank, that can prove nothing, because, trees in peramboke land are generally Government property, and the enjoyment was unauthorized.

The raiyats of both Halkur and Arsikere told us, without a dissentient voice, that the trees on either bank were always enjoyed free by cultivators on the respective sides. Mr. Sundaram Aiyar says that was unauthorized. I am not aware of the Madras rule on the point. But the raiyat on the Mysore bank was well within his rights under the rule I have quoted above in paragraph 2.

The taluk magistrate of Madakasira punished the holder of No. 102, Arsikere, in 1907, for cutting caves off some trees on the Mysore bank.

Here is another instance of a presuming of that which has to be proved. It is suggested that the stream must entirely belong to Madras, because the Magistrate believed it so. No more comment is necessary. I may add, however, that the copy of the judgment furnished by the Madras Representative does not specify which of several peramboke fields in Halkur the leaves were taken from, and if it be the vanka peramboke (No. 332), on which of the banks the tree grew. Nor can I find any evidence anywhere, as to the matter having been brought to the knowledge of the Mysore officers.

Madras Note, paragraphs 8, 9 and 10

The cases of Kadehude and Kyadigunte in which the Madras Government agreed to the middle line in boundary streams, are not on all fours with the one under consideration, because, in Kadehude v. Valasa, the channel, after running on the common boundary for a short distance, divides itself into two branches, one entering the Mysore village and the other the British village. Moreover, the channel had been included entirely in both surveys.

In the Kyadigunte Thamadihalli case the channel, so far as Mr Sundaram Aiyar can judge from the map, does not lead into any British watercourse or tank.

The cases are similar in all essentials. In the Kadehude case, the channel marked A B in the sketch of the Commissioners (printed along with Mysore Government Proceedings No. R. 2866-8, dated 19th March 1904), is something like 1,200 links long, and irrigates only British fields. Yet, the Madras Government made no hesitation in accepting the mid-stream boundary in accordance with the Kadehude survey papers.

As for the Mysore stones having been found by the Commissioners on the British bank, that is no matter for surprise. The Commissioners found, to quote their own words, "that sufficient accuracy is not attainable, as the channel is only three or four links in most places;" so that, while two of the four measurements taken, reached down to the British bank, the other two ended at mid-stream, while the survey records of the village, which Mr. Sundaram Aiyar was given the opportunity to examine, show that all measurements were taken to marks situated neither on the farther bank nor in mid-stream, but to marks on the Mysore bank. Anybody with any experience of land surveying would decline to commit himself to an unqualified conclusion as to marks being found in their original situation on the banks of a channel no more than three or four links wide. Had the liberty been given me to express an opinion on the probabilities of the situation, I should have said that the Mysore measurer had, in accordance with his rules, and as evidenced by his books, laid his marks on the Mysore bank, but that when the Madras Survey, which followed in 1892, placed their stones on the same bank so as to include the whole of the channel into the British village, the Kadehude raiyats who felt aggrieved, must have retaliated, as raiyats are so apt to do, by taking their own stones across and planting them on the British bank.

In the case of Kyadigunte the Mysore stones were actually found on the Mysore bank; nevertheless the Madras Government was not deterred from accepting a middle-stream boundary. Nor is there anything in the Madras letter (No. 153, dated 6th February 1904, addressed to the Honourable the Resident in Mysore) to show that in arriving at their decision, they had considered it relevant to give prominence to circumstances connected with rights of irrigation in a stream dividing the two territories, or of where it takes its origin and where it ends, or of whether a stream happens to be bifurcated. The reason is quite obvious, the rights of irrigation possessed exclusively by one party cannot be interferred with by another party enjoying easements of a different kind over a half of the stream; and equally well, the latter cannot be deprived of his privileges because the former has a right to the unobstructed flow of water over the whole of the bed.

Madras Note, paragraph 11,

The Mysore right over the "Kundapuram Kalave" may be noted in the "Halkur Adangal" and the permanent A register.

After summarising his arguments in the previous paragraphs, Mr. Sundaram Aiyar proposes that a note should be made about the Kundapura channel in the Madras Survey records. If the Mysore measurer has, in obedience to his rule, reckoned the boundary of his village up to mid-stream, the more reasonable course to take would be, to have such boundary accepted and reaffirmed, a note about existing British rights being made in the Mysore records, if necessary.

The channel in the bed of the stream, marked blue in the Tahsildar's sketch, and black (X) in Mr. Sundaram Aiyar's sketch, is termed the "Halkur mamool Kalva" in the Tahsildar's order. Arsikere raiyats say that it was dug by Halkur people within recent years and in spite of protests. I cannot say whether the Halkur tank can have a right to the sub-soil percolated water that must flow in the channel when the surface current stops, nor do I think it is indispensable to our purpose to have the point decided. Granting that the channel is there of right, it is to be noted that it runs entirely within the British half of the stream, and a mid-stream line would not interfere with it.

Madras Note, paragraph 12.

Mr. Sundaram Aiyar would challenge the measurement and inclusion entirely within Arsikere, of the channel touching the eastern boundary of British field No. 342.

The challenge is due to a misconception that might have been avoided. The stream on the east of the British field, runs along the western boundary of Mysore field No. 100 (Resurvey No. 120), and has not been either measured or mapped entirely for Mysore. Even the Mysore marks on the field are on the Mysore bank. The fact is, that the Madras Surveyor himself was inconsistent in fixing the British marks on the British bank of No. 342, while his treatment of other portions of the stream was on a different principle. The Mysore survey has never claimed nor taken in the western half of the stream. The Madras Government are welcome to it yet.

5. The Madras Note, bearing on the stream question has now been answered according to my lights I think I should add that Mr. Sundaram Aiyar, who quotes the authority of the old Halkur "Maji Pannash" in another connection, must have consulted it on the matter of the stream. Had he discovered any entry in it in support of his claim to the whole of the stream, I presume he would not have failed to put it forward. The older survey records of all Indian provinces, are admitted faulty in some respects. In point of accuracy of measurement, calculation, mapping or descriptiveness they fall sensibly below the standard of the more scientific surveys of modern times. But reference may usefully be made to them on broad features relating to the country, such as is the stream we are discussing.

6. To my mind, the course our discussion has taken goes a good deal beyond the necessities of the case. It is well to recollect that, disputes of this kind originate in foreign surveyors failing to realize the meaning of stones placed on the near banks of streams on the boundary. It is perhaps an excusable failing; perhaps also, the Madras method of slicing off the whole of a stream from adjacent lands, while admitting the boundary to be on the middle line, is one less liable to misinterpretation, and may be adopted in Mysore. But the fact is to be regretted, that, the working out of the rule of the Mysore survey, has, off and on, exposed it to the effects of extraordinary endeavours on the part of foreign representatives on Boundary Commissions, who, with the most approvable of motives, have striven to repulse any suggestion of error in their own survey.

7. The survey of Halkur took place 23 years after the Mysore survey of Arsikere. The latter has reckoned its boundaries in conformity with its rules. All that is now asked for is that the Madras survey may carry out its own rule (Section 66, Madras Survey Manual), in which it is prescribed that Madras Surveyors should follow the boundary previously adopted by the survey of a foreign State, when the boundary has been fixed in accordance with the rules of that foreign survey.

8. The fundamentals of the rule obtaining in Mysore have been made clear; and I beg to be permitted to entertain the hope, that it will be recognized how very safe, as a principle of general application in frontier questions, is that of mid-stream boundary. One of its mainsprings being the prevention of bitterness between man and man, it would be proper to resolve to abide by the provisions of the Natural Law in the present case, were it only to serve the purpose of allaying the fierce hostility between the raiyats of Halkur and of Arsikere, brought about, unforeseen, by intrusive British survey marks, and of which Mr. Sundaram Aiyar and myself can, from personal observation, furnish testimony with confidence.

9. In the light of precedents, it will be all the more easy for the Madras side to come to a mid-stream agreement. The cases of Kadehudc and Kyadigunte have been already noticed. In other parts of the Mysore frontier, the Madras Government have adopted the same principle, where the Cauvery river was concerned. The Bombay Government has never made any doubt about sharing the Tungabhadra with Mysore, wherever that river intervened. The latest instance was that of the stream Sheravati at the Gersoppe falls, where survey records left matters in doubt, and correspondence ended in the Mysore Public Works Department Secretary's letter to the First Assistant to the Resident, No. 866--4660, dated 6th August 1904, in which he said that "the Government of His Highness the Maharaja concur in the view expressed therein (i. e., the Bombay proposal) that there cannot be any question about accepting the mid-strerm as the boundary." In a decision arrived at only a few months back, the First Assistant Resident writes to the Mysore Government, accepting the mid-stream boundary (vide his letter No. 416, dated 22nd January 1912) in a case in which the Province of Coorg was concerned. The circumstances are, that a boundary survey between Dodbandarahalli, the Coorg village and Madlapura of Mysore, took place in the year 1874, when the Madras Survey Department, which carried out the village boundary survey of Coorg, placed its stones along the Mysore marks on the Mysore bank of a boundary stream. The patel of the Coorg village had been preventing Mysore cattle from grazing on the Mysore bank, and a small wet land of 6 cents in area, situated on the Mysore side of the stream, but falling within Coorg territory according to the Coorg boundary marks, was given out for cultivation by the Coorg authorities. This gave rise to the dispute The necessary investigation was made. Mr. Haller, Deputy Director of Land Records and Agriculture in Coorg, after quoting in his note, Madras Survey Rule 23, Chapter II, page 9, says "Only one set of stones was "placed for this village by the Madras Survey Department in 1874, but this does not in my "opinion infringe the principle that the middle of the stream should be considered the true boundary." This opinion was concurred in by the Chief Commissioner who ordered the cancellation of the grant of the wet land. All of these rivers and streams, so far as I have been able to ascertain, flow entirely within Mysore Territory for a distance, then run along the frontiers for a space, and eventually pierce through British Territory. Yet, in no case did the investigating officers consider it relevent to set up nice distinctions of the course of a stream or of its ultimate destination.

10. I think, therefore, that a mid-stream line should be adopted as the common boundary between Arsikere and Halkur, where Survey Nos. 102, 114, 115, 116, and 118 (i. e., Resurvey Nos. 122, 136 137, 138 and 142) of Arsikere, adjoin Survey Nos. 332, 331 and 320 of Halkur. This can be done either by the Madras stones on the Mysore bank being removed, or by Mysore stones being newly put up alongside of the Madras stones on the southern Madras bank, and the intervening stream being shared in halves by the villages concerned.

11. With reference to the claim for a half of the road adjoining Nos. 96 and 99 (Resurvey Nos. 114 and 116) of Arsikere, I have to say, that the matter had not been brought forward by the raiyats; and at one time, I did not consider it necessary to go into a question about which there was no dispute existing among themselves. But, as it would be better not to leave a matter unsettled, which might on a future occasion cause trouble, I thought it advisable to put it before the Madras Representative.

12. The object of the Mysore rule about village boundary roads being shared in by adjacent villagers, appears to be, to provide a safeguard against disputes about the plants that often line Indian village roads, especially those that run through garden cultivation, where the hedges are composed of plants and trees of value. In this respect, the law bears a similitude to that relating to easements in a river.

13. The Mysore Survey rule as regards such roads is just the same as for streams, the boundary marks being placed on the limits of the fields, but a half of the road being reckoned into each of the adjoining villages. The measurer of Arsikere has followed the rule faithfully in the case of the road in question, and it would be right, if the Madras Survey, who have placed their marks, some on the Halkur hedge, some on the Mysore edge, and one even in the middle of the track, would be good enough to place all their offset marks in the Halkur hedge, and reckon the western half of the road as theirs, in compliance with Rule 66 of the Madras Survey Manual.

14. I would repeat here, what I indicated in the case of the stream, that the Madras Survey placed the majority of their stones on the Mysore hedge, in all probability, for the simple reason that the Mysore stones were there.

15. The Halkur Paimash accounts are here pressed into service, to show that the present survey area of Halkur Survey No. 347, which includes the whole of the road, is actually less than the Paimaish area, and that no mention of any road on the boundary is made in the case of land now known as Survey Nos. 348 and 349. Had I had the opportunity of knowing what use entries in the Maji Paimash would be put to, I should have tried to verify matters related in it, with conditions in the field. At present, I am not in a position to state anything beyond the fact that the Maji Paimash cannot be held up as a reliable guide in minute matters. Mr. Sundaram Aiyar himself quotes with approval, the opinion of a brother officer of the Revenue Department, who described these old accounts as being untrustworthy—vide para 4 of our joint memo on Maramnanahalli vs. Bestarapalli, submitted with my letter to the Superintendent, Revenue Survey, No, 763, dated 30th April 1912.

16. I would, in concluding, propose that a change of demarcation be made in the case of the road, corresponding to that proposed for the stream, in para 10 above, and that, a note be made in the Halkur records to say that the west half only on the road, belongs to it.

Deputy Superintendent, Mysore Revenue Survey.

MEMORANDUM C.

In adopting the Mysore boundary and altering the British demarcation for removal of the encroachments dealt with in Memorandum A and its appendices, certain plots of land, which had not been included hitherto either in the Mysore or the Madras survey maps, necessarily got included in the British Territory. These plots are denoted by capital letters in the several sketches appended to Memorandum A. The annexed statement shows their areas.

2 Plot L adjoining the boundary of Mysore village Arsikere had been taken notice of by officers who examined the boundary prior to ourselves in connection with encroachment plot VII of that village. It is referred to in correspondence ending with Anantapur Collector's letter to the Tumkur Deputy Commissioner No. Ref. on Genl. C 1209—1908, dated 11th June 1911.

3. We find that in the case of similar plots of land, discovered in the course of the work of previous commissions, appointed to settle disputes between Mysore and Madras, the respective Governments had agreed to treat them as Madras lands, apparently on the score that the Madras survey being subsequent to the Mysore survey had a right to include within its limits all such land as was not taken in by the prior survey in Mysore.

4. With these remarks, we think it fit to submit the matter for the disposal of Government.

D. K. DARASHAH,
Deputy Superintendent, Mysore Revenue Survey.

T. A. SUNDARAM AIYAR,
Superintendent of Land Records, Madras.

Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore,

Order—No. 3273, Revenue, dated 1st November 1912.

Miscellaneous

With its Reference No 1832, dated 20th August 1912, read above the Board of Revenue submits the joint report of the Commissioners appointed under Government Order No 2048, Revenue, dated 5th July 1911, to settle the disputes regarding the boundary line between the Pavagada Taluk of the Mysore Territory and the adjoining British taluks of the Anantapur District.

2. The results of the Commissioners' investigations are embodied in three memoranda A, B and C appended to their joint report Memorandum A deals with 57 cases involving 69·19 acres in which the plots concerned were included both in the British and Mysore survey maps. The Commissioners have accepted the old Mysore boundary line as surveyed in 1869 as correct and the Madras demarcation has been altered so as to agree with that boundary. The Commissioners have not, however, removed the theodolite stones which were not on the boundary line but have carved on them the letters N. O. B. (not on boundary). The Government accept the settlement effected by the Commissioners and direct that instructions be issued by the Board to have the British maps and survey records corrected accordingly.

3. Memorandum C relates to 61 cases involving 17·41 acres of land in which the plots concerned are included neither in the survey records of Mysore nor in those of the British Government. Adopting the principle that the earlier Mysore survey of 1869 which excluded these lands from Mysore Territory should be followed, the Commissioners have recommended that these plots should be included in the British Territory. The Darbar has in its letter No. 141; Political, dated 16th August 1912, to the Honourable the Resident in Mysore, stated that it has no objection to the Madras survey marks being so shifted as to include these lands. The Board will therefore take early steps to have the British maps and survey records rectified accordingly, in case this has not already been done.

4. The only points on which the Commissioners have disagreed relate to a portion of the stream and a portion of the road which lie on the boundary between the village of Arsikere in the Mysore Territory and the village of Halakur in the British Territory. The case is dealt with in memorandum B The Mysore representative has claimed half the road and half the stream for Mysore, while the British representative has urged that the whole of the road and the stream are in British Territory. The Darbar supports its representative and contends that when the stream passes along Mysore lands on one side and British lands on the other, the mid-stream boundary should be followed. The Darbar further observes that the principle of the mid-stream should be made applicable to the road also and that the Mysore survey has already taken the middle of the road as the boundary. In the circumstances of the case the Government are ready to agree that the mid-stream line and the middle line of the road should be taken as the boundary line.

5. The Government also accept the recommendation of the representatives in paragraph 12 of their joint report which is supported by the Board and has been accepted by the Darbar, that in cases of future disputes regarding the boundary line a Madras Survey official should be deputed in advance to examine the ground in company with a measurer from the Mysore State and that alterations in the field should be effected under the orders of the officers specially empowered to settle simple cases, important matters alone being reserved for investigation by Special Commissions The Board of Revenue is requested to issue instructions that in future a Land Records Inspector should be deputed to inspect and measure ordinary cases of dispute along with the Surveyor who will be deputed by the Mysore Government. The final decision in such cases should rest with the Collector and any corresponding officer to be nominated by the Darbar.

6. The sketches relating to the disputed boundary between the Mysore State and Govindapuram village, Anantapur District, referred to in paragraph 5 of the Board's Reference read above will be returned to the Board of Revenue to be dealt with in accordance with the decision arrived at in paragraph 5 supra.

7. The following letter will be addressed to the Honourable the Resident in Mysore.

(True Extract.)

L. M. WYNCH,
Ag. Secretary to Government.

To the Board of Revenue (Revenue Settlement), with (1) copy of letter to the Honourable the Resident in Mysore, (2) two sketches and (3) enclosures to the letter No. 1710—12, dated 26th June 1912, from the Collector of Anantapur.

No. R. 6068-77—L. S. 44-08-32, DATED BANGALORE, 22ND APRIL 1913.

ORDER THEREON.—Recorded.

2. The Madras Government have accepted the settlement of the Commissioners in all cases in which they have agreed, and with regard to the stream and the road which form part of the boundary between the Arsikere and Halkur villages, that Government have also agreed that the middle stream line and the middle line of the road should be taken as the boundary as desired.

3. In accordance with the recommendation made by the joint representatives in para 12 of their joint report and accepted by the Madras Government in para 5 of their Order No. 3273--Rev. dated the 1st November 1912, the Government direct that in cases of future boundary disputes between Mysore and Madras villages, the District Surveyor concerned be deputed to meet the Land Records Inspector deputed by the Madras Government and after ascertaining the correct boundary as laid down in the Mysore Survey records by a reference to the Superintendent of Revenue Survey, if necessary, point out the same to the Land Records Inspector, and to submit a report in each case to the Deputy Commissioner of the District concerned. In all ordinary cases, the Deputy Commissioner should, in consultation with the Collector of the Madras District concerned, arrange to have the boundary properly rectified. Important cases should however continue to be submitted to Government for orders.

Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, Revenue (Agriculture), dated 18th April 1913.

READ—

Letter No. 14835, dated 26th June 1912, from the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, submitting for orders copy of letter No. C 184, dated 30th May 1912, from the Deputy Commissioner, Chitaldrug District, suggesting the desirability of amending Rule V. B.(i) of the Rules under the Land Improvement Loans Regulation and Section 194 of the Land Revenue Code, issued under Notification No. R. 4319—Agri. 91-08-4, dated 2nd January 1909, so as to extend the period for the repayment of loans granted for the purchase of seed, sugarcane and manure therefor from one to two years.

2. Letter No. 4338, dated 15th November 1912, from the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, submitting for orders copy of letter No. 274, dated 9th October 1912, from the Deputy Commissioner, Tumkur District, stating that, as the time allowed for the repayment of loans for the purchase of agricultural implements and machinery, viz., three years, is very short, people hesitate to take loans for this purpose, and recommending that the period may, therefore, be extended to ten years.

No. R. 5923-31—Agri. 3-12-3, dated Bangalore, 18th April 1913.

Order thereon.—Government consider that there is much force in the representations made in the papers read above. It is a well recognised principle in the case of takavi loans that the terms of repayment should be sufficiently favourable to enable the borrower to derive some profit with the exercise of due diligence from the improvements he is able to carry out with the aid of the loan before he is called upon to repay it. Government are, therefore, pleased to amend the Rules so as to allow two years' time to be given for the repayment of loans taken for the purchase of sugarcane and other seeds which cannot yield a profit within one year and five years' time in the case of loans for the purchase of agricultural implements or machinery. The accompanying notification will accordingly be published in the Gazette.

201. The periods for which District Forest Office records should be preserved are given in Appendix VIII. Every year between the 15th of August and the 30th September, the District Forest Officer and his clerks will sort the records of the previous year and arrange them in groups according to the period for which they are to be preserved and prepare descriptive lists of the documents and covering slips indicating the subject and the number of years for which they should be preserved (the whole being kept in a separate dafter or almirah). At the same time, such of the records of the preceding years as are not considered of any further use should be destroyed, the descriptive lists and covering slips alone being preserved with a note under the signature of the District Forest Officer that they have been destroyed. A report must then be submitted to the Conservator of Forests of the action taken in the matter. The District Forest Officer shall, during the Conservator's tours of inspection, place before him, the list of records assigned for destruction in the District Forest Office for scrutiny.

The following papers relating to the settlement of the Heggavadi Forest Block II in the Chamrajnagar and Gundlupet Taluks :—

I. Letter No. 4348, dated the 15th November 1912, from the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, submitting the following letter from the Forest Settlement Officer in Mysore, reporting on the conclusion of the settlement of the block.

I have the honour to report on the conclusion of the settlement of the Heggavadi Block II in the Chamrajnagar and Gundlupet Taluks of the Mysore District.

2. The initial notification under Section 4 of the Mysore Forest Regulation was issued by Government with Government Order No. R. 8129—Ft. 122-08-3, dated the 13th April 1909, and the same was published in Part I of the Mysore Gazette dated the 15th April 1909, on pages 135 and 136.

The proclamation under Section 5 of the said Regulation was issued by my predecessor Mr. M. Shama Rao, Esq., M.A., which appeared in the Mysore Kannada Gazette, Part II, dated the 20th May 1909, on pages 396 and 397. The proclamatory notices were also served on the affected villagers, through the Amildars concerned.

3. The block under report was inspected and perambulated by me in company with the Amildar Mr. M. Kesaviah and the Range Officer Mr. B. Narsimha Iyengar from the 28th May 1911 to the 31st of the same month. The tract is mostly studded with 'Hangarika' and 'Avarika' shrubs. As the soil is stony and very shallow in many places the growth must necessarily be very slow in spite of rigid protection. In my perambulation, I found no tree standing on it worth mentioning.

4. During my enquiry 6 claims were preferred to me as detailed below :—

(i) One claim to right of way ;

(ii) Five claims for miscellaneous rights.

As the village lands were entirely excluded from the reserve, no finding was recorded on claim under (i).

All the claims under (ii) were admitted by excluding for the raiyats' use, sufficient extent of lands out of the proposed area. I have ascertained from the Taluk Amildar that there is a great demand for lands for agricultural purposes and already a large extent of kharab and gomal lands have been, on the application of the raiyats for cultivation, made into small survey numbers and given out for cultivation. The villages affected by the proposed reservation are thickly populated and there is every likelihood of almost all the arable lands in the neighbourhood being brought under the plough in the very near future. I had therefore no alternative but to exclude a large extent of lands out of those proposed to be included in the reserve, for expansion of cultivation and for the pasturage of the large stock of cattle owned by the raiyats.

5. The Deputy Commissioner of the Mysore District has intimated to me in his docket No. 2892, dated the 4th November 1911, that no appeals have been preferred to him against my decision relating to the settlement of the block under report.

6. The following records are herewith submitted :—

1. The 'B' Register.
2. The 'C' Register.
3. The draft boundary notification.
4. The sketch map.
5. The topo-tracing.

7. The date from which the reservation is to take effect may kindly be inserted in the draft boundary notification.

1	Dyavalgowda, a raiyat of Chirakanhalli.	30th May 1911	Prays that no lands of his village may be included in the forest, as the only tract which supplies them materials for agricultural implements has been proposed to be included in the forest	.....	A portion of the proposed area may be excluded for the use of the raiyats, wherein they can meet their agricultural requirements	As there is demand for lands for agricultural and other purposes in the locality the raiyats prayer deserves favourible consideration The preliminary demarcation line will accordingly be shifted from the southernmost corner of Survey No 85 southward to a point on the west side of Survey No 84 by about 53 chains and made to run north east along the halla till it meets the Kadbur gadi (Sd) C VENKATA RAO, Forest Settlement Officer 31st May 1911
2	Mallah, patel of Kadbur	Do	Requests that sufficient extent of grazing lands for the cattle and for agricultural expansion may be excluded from the reserve as owing to the inadequacy of pasture lands the cattle are being taken to the adjoining State Forest of Moyar		A portion of the proposed area may be excluded for the exercise of these privileges	In the interests of the agricultural population which shows signs of increase, it is necessary to exclude adequate extent of lands for grazing and other purposes The demarcation line will accordingly be shifted to the point where, the forest boundary line running within the limits of the adjoining village of Chirakanhalli meets and be made to run due east in a straight line, so as to meet the gadi bandhs of Yeraganhalli at the southernmost corner of Survey No 76 of Kadbur (Sd) C VENKATA RAO, Forest Settlement Officer 31st May 1911
3	Siddegowda, patel of Yeraganhalli.	Do	States that the temple of Beeredevaru as well as the adjoining katte (in Survey No 16) may be excluded and that the line shifted as far as the 'Muchalgadar Betta'		The temple and the katte may be treated as enclosure and access to them given	The deviation of the line ordered in the case of Kadbur involves the shifting of the demarcation line southwards from the westernmost corner of Survey No 17 of Yeraganhalli to the south western corner of Survey No 16 Thence it will run north east till it meets the halla, then along the said halla for a distance of about 156 chains to a point about 33 chains south-west from the south east corner of Survey No 18, then north east in a straight line to the said south east corner of the said survey number The alteration of the line excludes the temple and the katte refered to by the village patel. 4	Madiah of Yangumba	30th May 1911	States that if the entire area proposed for inclusion in the forest be taken away from his village, there will be difficulty for pasture for the village cattle Besides a large portion of khatab land has been brought under cultivation and some more lands have been darkhasted by the raiyats Therefore prays that excepting Survey No 49 the remaining extent proposed for the forest may be left for the use of the raiyats		A portion of the gomal land included in the proposed reserve may be excluded for the pasture of the village cattle	For reasons stated with reference to claim No 1, it is found necessary to exclude some lands from the reserve for the use of the villagers The demarcation line will accordingly be deviated so as to run along the south side of Survey No 62 to its south east corner (Sd) C VENKATA RAO, Forest Settlement Officer 31st May 1911
						Claims 5 and 6
5	Madiah, patel of Vaddarhalli	Do	States that some portions of Survey No 92 having already been taken up for cultivation much inconvenience will be caused if the extent of 493 acres, as prososed, be included in the forest			As the deviation of the demarcation line in the adjoining village does not admit of running it within the limits of Vaddarhalli it is ordered that the lands proposed for inclusion in the forest from out of the Vaddarhalli village, be excluded altogether for the use of the raiyats of that village (Sd) C VENKATA RAO, Forest Settlement Officer 31st May 1911
6	Do	Do	The Basavanna temple on the Yettukatte Betta at the trijunction of Yangumba, Vaddarhalli and Byannapura and the tank adjoining the temple known as 'Gudikere' may be excluded, with access to the cart track leading to them.		The temple may be treated as an enclosure and access given to it

The following papers relating to the settlement of the Bellenne Forest Block in the Sagar Taluk :—

(1) Letter No 1740, dated the 10th August 1912, from the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore.—

I have the honor to forward herewith for the orders of Government, letter No. 139, dated 28th October 1911, together with the enclosures (in original) from the Forest Settlement Officer in Mysore, reporting on the conclusion of the settlement of the Bellenne Block in the Sagar Taluk, received through the Deputy Commissioner, Shimoga District, with his letter No. 789, dated 17th April 1912, and to state as follows.

2. The Block in question, as settled, measures 2,002 acres or 3 12 square miles, consisting of assessed waste, kharab and gomal lands and affects five villages The tract lies between the Talguppe and Sagar high road and the eastern bank of the Sharavati river.

3. The following statement shows the extent of gomal lands taken up for inclusion in the block and the extent remaining available for the village cattle.

Village	Gomal taken up	Gomal remaining	No. of cattle
	A. g.	A. g.
1. Hiremane	. .	126 4	303
2. Honne Maradu	...	7 4*	323
3. Balagere	289 3	171 8	181
4. Belenne	63 0	985 1	228
5. Malali	25 0	481 26	149

* There is an extent of 631 acres 16 guntas of kharab available for grazing in addition

The raiyats of Balagere village have been conceded the right of free grazing in the reserve but the Forest Settlement Officer in conceding this right has fixed the number of cattle to be allowed at 181. The Deputy Commissioner takes objection to it as the fixing of the numbers would lead to petty disputes between the villagers and the forest officials if any prospective addition made to the cattle be taken for grazing. It is brought to notice by the Deputy Commissioner that an extent of 63 acres taken out of Survey Nos. 74 and 132 of the Bellenne village should be excluded from the block as the raiyats of the four Majre villages, noted in the margin, depend for their supply of grass on this area. If it is not possible to shift the demarcation line, the Deputy Commissioner suggests that these villagers, as well as those of Santemane and Kyasappanamane villages—two other Majre villages depending for grass on Survey No. 134—should be conceded the right of free grazing.

1. Suranamane.
2 Byagadipalu.
3 Chowdidadlu.
4 Hakripalu.

4 The quantities of fuel and soppu as conceded by the Forest Settlement Officer are considered inadequate by the Deputy Commissioner for the needs of a malnad raiyat. He is of opinion that larger grants are necessary.

5. The following 15 claims were preferred before the Forest Settlement Officer during his enquiry :—

(1) Right to free graxing ...	2
(2) Right of way	2
(3) Right to water	1
(4) Claims not falling under any of the above	10

All except one claim under the first head were admitted. The claim in respect of the free grazing right preferred by the villagers of Bellenne was disallowed, as they have sufficient extent of gomal still left. The Deputy Commissioner points out that the demarcation line touches assessed Survey Nos. 5 and 27 of the Honnemaradi village and that it is only 3 or 3¾ chains distant from certain other survey numbers in the same village. He, therefore, suggests that the demarcation line should in all cases be shifted away so as to leave the prescribed margin of five chains.

6. It is reported that no appeals were preferred to the Deputy Commissioner against the decisions of the Forest Settlement Officer. I agree with the Deputy Commissioner's observations. Subject to them the final notification may issue.

ENCLOSURE 1.

Letter No. 789, dated 17th April 1912, from the Deputy Commissioner, Shimoga District, to the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore :—

I have the honor to forwrd herewith the marg in ally noted papers re the settlement of the proposed Bellenne State Forest, received with the Shimoga District Forest Officer's docket No. 390, dated 1st November 1911, with the following observations.

1 Forest Settlement Officer's letter No 139, dated 26th October 1911
2 Draft Notification with Appendix A.
3. B Register.
4 C Register.
5 Map.
6 Sketch.

2. The demarcation line touches Survey Nos. 5 and 27 of Honnemaradi village which appear to be assessed lands. It seems desirable that the prescribed margin of five chains should be left from the edges of these survey numbers.

3. The demarcation line runs at a distance of 3¾ chains from Survey No. 155 and of about 3 chains from Survey Nos. 152 and 150 of Honnemaradi village. It is necessary that the demarcation line should be shifted away from its present position so as to leave the prescribed margin of 5 chains.

4. In claim No 2 recorded in the "B" Register, the raiyats of Honnemaradi village desire that a portion of Survey No. 1 which has been assigned as gomal and soppinabetta for the use of the villagers, as well as a portion of Survey No. 165 should be excluded from the reserve The decision of the Settlement Officer shows that a portion of Survey No. 165 on which the raiyats depend for Karada grass has been excluded from the reserve. It is also seen from the "C" Register that an extent of 208 acres and 20 guntas out of Survey No. 1 and an extent of 374 acres and 21 guntas out of Survey No. 165 have been left for the use of the villagers. As the assessed occupied area in the village is only 234 acres and 1 gunta, it appears that necessary provision has been made for "Soppu" for the garden lands in the village, although it has not been specifically so stated in the Settlement Officer's decision. It is desirable that this fact should be made clear and recorded in the Settlement Officer's decision.

5. In the decision against claim No. 10 in the "B" Register the number of cattle of Balagere village allowed to graze free within the block has been specified. As the concession is intended for the benefit of all the cattle of the village, including any prospective additions to the present number, specification of number of cattle entitled to the concession seems to be unnecessary and may in fact give rise to petty disputes between the villagers and the departmental subordinates in future.

6. From the vernacular record received with the Sagar Sub-Division Officer's yadi No. 793, dated 24th March 1912, it seems necessary that the area taken up out of Survey Nos. 74 and 132 of Bellenne village aggregating to 63 acres, in all, should be excluded totally from the proposed reserve, as the raiyats of the Majre villages of Suranamane, Byagadipalu, Chowdikodlu and Hakripalu entirely depend for their supply of grass on this area. If it is not possible to shift the demarcation from its present position, it is necessary to allow to the raiyats of the above named villages the rights of free grazing and of removing Karada grass from these survey numbers.

7. So also it is necessary to extend the same concession out of Survey No. 134 of the same village to the raiyats of the Majre villages of Santemane and Kyasappanamane.

8. The Amildar of Sagar Taluk and the Sagar Sub-Division Officer also recommend that the concession allowed to the raiyats of Thalaguppe village to remove fuel and materials required for agricultural implements from Survey No. 137 of Honnemadu village may be extended to the raiyats of Marathur and Balegar villages, although the claims of these villages for the concession were not pressed for consideration at the time of settlement.

9. The quantities of fuel and soppu allowed to the raiyats of the Balagere and Thalaguppe villages within the block as specified in Appendix A to the draft notification are inadequate for the needs of the malnad raiyats, and larger grants appear to be necessary.

Revenue (Forest), dated 12th April 1913.

10. With the foregoing remarks, I have no objection to the proposed block being notified under Section 17 of the Forest Regulation as a State Forest.

11. The vernacular papers referred to in para 6 supra accompany for reference.

ENCLOSURE 2.

Letter No. 139, dated 28th October 1911, from the Forest Settlement Officer in Mysore, to the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, through the Deputy Commissioner, Shimoga District :—

I have the honor to report on the conclusion of the settlement of the Bellenne Block in the Sagar Taluk of the Shimoga District.

2. The initial notification under Section 4 of the Mysore Forest Regulation, proposing to constitute the area into a State Forest appeared on pages 527 and 528 of the English issue of the Mysore Gazette, Part I, dated the 27th August 1908, and the proclamation under Section 5 of the said Regulation was issued by my predecessor Mr. M. Shama Rao and the same was published on pages 623, 624 and 625 of the Kannada issue of the Mysore Gazette, Part II, dated the 15th October 1908.

The proclamatory notices were got served on the villagers concerned through the Amildar of the Sagar Taluk.

3. I perambulated and inspected the tract in question in company with Mr. D. Raja Rao, Forest Sub-Division Officer and Mr. B. Krishna Rao, Amildar of the Sagar Taluk, on the 23rd and 24th March 1911. As the country in these parts consists of high ridges and valleys, the cultivated plots of lands are necessarily scattered over the entire village area. Besides, the houses of the cultivators do not from one compact block; but they are constructed in close proximity to the cultivated lands. As I was of opinion that the demarcation as laid out according to the proposal of the Forest Department would entail considerable difficulty on the raiyats concerned in obtaining the required quantity of fuel and soppu, I thought it necessary to alter the line, so that each of the villages affected by the reserve may have an adequate extent of gomal and kharab lands for the use of the raiyats.

4. The following 15 claims were preferred to me during the enquiry :—

(1) Two claims to right of free grazing.
(2) Two claims to right of way.
(3) One claim to right to water
(4) Ten claims for rights not falling under any of the above.

Of the two claims in (1) one was admitted and the other rejected. All the claims in 2, 3 and 4 were admitted and recorded in the 'B' Register.

5. The Deputy Commissioner has intimated in his docket No. 413, dated the 18th July 1911, that no appeals have been preferred to him against my decision relating to the block in question.

6. The following records are herewith submitted —

(i) 'B' Register.
(ii) 'C' Register.
(iii) Sketch map.
(iv) Boundary notification.
and (v) Topo tracing.

7. The date from which the reservation is to take effect may kindly be inserted in the draft boundary notification.

I agree with the alteration of the line in the limits of Malali villages.	There can be no manner of objection for including within the Reserve the area proposed. But as the line touches the margin of cultivated lands, viz., S. Nos. 75, 76 and 77 it will be shifted away to a distance of 5 chains as usual (Sd.) C. 15	Mancha Setty, patel of Talguppe, on behalf of rayats.	"	States that the rayats of his village have been removing for the past 60 years fuel and materials for agricultural implements from the District Forest lying within the limits of Honnemaradu and Bellenne villages and that if these concessions are not granted the rayats will be put to much inconvenience.	.....	There being nothing on record to show that the villagers of Talguppe should exercise the rights prayed for, they may be rejected. The area of the forest being too small, it is no use to burden the same with rights of surrounding villages.	The rayats of Talguppe have set up a claim to the right for the removal of fuel and materials for agricultural implements from Survey No. 137 of Honnemaradu which is close to their village limits, and have adduced evidence in support of it. I accordingly decide that this claim be admitted with the limitation that the right is to be exercised only in respect of unclassified and non-reserved kinds of trees in the survey number referred to, to the extent specified in Appendix A. (Sd.) C. VENKATA RAO, Forest Settlement Officer. 24th March 1911.	.....

1	Singappa, a leading raiyat of Thondebhavi, on behalf of the villagers.	12th September 1911	States that much difficulty will be experienced by the raiyats of his village if the line is confirmed and therefore prays that more gomal lands may be excluded from the reserve for the benefit of the raiyats	. .	Out of 997 acres 38 guntas only 235 acres, 25 guntas forming the hilly portion of the village have been proposed, as they contain Jalari trees from which lac is propagated Owing to its distance from the village, the raiyats of Thondebhavi do not graze their cattle in the area proposed, with the exception of the raiyats living in the dakle village of Motakapalli	This is the biggest of the villages affected by the proposed reserve It has 325 dwelling houses, with a population of 1,628 and a stock of cattle consisting of 891 head of horned cattle, in addition to large herds of sheep and goats It has also 4 dakle villages attached to it The area under cultivation is 915 acres According to the proposal it has to contribute towards the formation of the reserve 235 acres out of the village gomal lands measuring 704 acres The balance of gomal, viz, 469 acres is quite insufficient for the pasturage of the large herds of cattle mentioned above It is therefore necessary to exclude some lands from the area proposed out of this village The District Forest Officer contends that as the hilly portion of the village which contains Jalari trees from which lac is extracted every year is proposed to be included within the reserve, no reduction from the proposed extent can be made But during my perambulation I found Jalari trees only on the hill tops and it is therefore possible to exclude a portion of the hill slopes without prejudice to lac industry After some discussion the District Forest Officer himself has agreed to the modification of the forest boundary so as to exclude 100 acres for the benefit of the raiyats This arrangement while increasing the gomal area left for the village cattle by 100 acres, has secured to the Forest Department, the best tract of land suited for the propagation of lac (Sd) C VENKATA RAO Forest Settlement Officer 14th September 1911	.
2	Forest Settlement Officer on behalf of the raiyats of Thondebhavi village	Do . 3	Papiah, patel of Devarahalli, on behalf of the rayats	12th Sept 1911	States that another preliminary demarcation line had been cut some time previous to the cutting of the present preliminary demarcation line, and that the old line may be confirmed		As only a small area of 166 acres has been proposed for the forest any portion of it can not be excluded as requested by the rayats	The area of gomal land remaining to the village after the exclusion of the lands proposed to be included within the Reserve is 245 acres and 6 guntas and this extent is more than enough for the cattle of the village which at present number 121 Owing to the diversion of the forest boundary in the adjoining village of Kuntachikkanhalli the northern boundary line within the limits of Devarahalli has to be altered It will on leaving the limits of the former village run due east almost at right angles to the south west corner of Survey No 31 of the latter village (Sd) C VENKATA RAO Forest Settlement Officer 14th September 1911
	Do	Do "	Represents that the Gangamma's pond which is now included within the reserve, to which the cattle of seven villages go for drinking water, may be excluded with a right of way thereto		Cattle may be allowed to take water in Gangamma's pond, when water fails elsewhere and for which a right of way may be admitted	The patel's claim to Gangamma's pond in Survey No 30, which is said to be the only source of water supply in the hot weather for the cattle of no less than seven adjacent villages, will be admitted and the pond demarcated out free from reservation, with a camping ground of five ghalns all round Access to it will be by means of the foot paths leading from Devarahalli, Kuntachikkanahalli and Thondebhavi (Sd) C VENKATA RAO, Forest Settlement Officer 14th September 1911 Claims 5 and 6
5	Somareddi, patel of Kuntachikkanahalli, on behalf of the villagers.	13th Sept 1911	States that Survey No 22 of his village is the only land assigned as village gomal and that it is proposed to include one half of the said survey number within the Reserve He prays that the line may be shifted as far as the Chowdiah's kunta, so that 150 acres out of this survey number may be excluded from the Reserve for the use of the rayats	...	Out of the proposed area an extent of about 45 acres may be excluded from the Reserve	Survey No 22, having an extent of 292 acres and 23 guntas is the only gomal land for the village According to the proposal of the Forest Department 110 acres out of this survey number has to be included in the block in question, leaving an extent of about 182 acres for the use of 281 head of horned cattle. As agreed to by the

Revenue (Forest), dated 21st April 1913

								District Forest Officer, I would exclude about 45 acres more, for the use of the rayats I accordingly direct that the demarcation line be shifted farther south wards to a distance of 14 chains so as to exclude Chowdiah's katte (Sd.) C VENKATA RAO, Forest Settlement Officer 14th September 1911
6	Somareddi, patel of Kuntachikkanhalli	Do	.	There is a katte called Chowdiah's katte, which may be excluded from the Reserve	.....	Vide claim No 5		Claims 7 and 8
7	Ranggowda, patel of Mallasandra, on behalf of the villagers	12th Sept. 1911	Represents that the preliminary demarcation line touches the edge of cultivation in some places and that it should be shifted further away so as to exclude more lands for grazing of the rayats' cattle and that the entire Gudare Betta should be excluded	.....	Part of gomal Survey No 87 is 25 acres Survey Nos 82 to 84 85 and 86 which are assessed waste lands and about 40 acres in Survey No 72 may be excluded from the forest so as to exclude the temple and the katte, mentioned by the patel, with the exception of one katte to which a right of way may be admitted.	..	The area of gomal lands remaining after deducting the extent of 171 acres and 17 guntas, proposed to be included in the Reserve is 56 acres, which is inadequate for the pasturage of 126 head of horned cattle As the soil of the tract is stony and shallow I would allot gomal lands at the rate of 75 acres for every 100 head of cattle Accordingly to this view, the village requires 900 acres of gomal, as the area of gomal assigned to the village is only 227 acres, about 900 acres of pasture lands in all has to be found for the use of the cattle of the rayats concerned I accordingly decide that the demarcation line between the south east corner and the southernmost corner of the tank (Survey No 112) be cancelled and the forest boundary made to run from the latter point southwards along the western boundary of gomal Survey No 87 and then along the southern boundary of the said survey number as also of the Survey Nos 79, 80 and 81, then along the eastern boundary of the last named survey number to its north east corner and thence almost at an angle of 16 0 through Survey No 72 so as to meet the eastern boundary of the village at a point about 47 chains from the south east gadi bandhs of the said village By this arrangement the temples of Rangaswami, Easwara and Muthuraya and a number of ponds which supply water to the cattle of the village will be excluded from the Reserve (Sd.) C VENKATA RAO, Forest Settlement Officer 14th September 1911.
8	Ranggowda, patel of Mallasandra.	12th Sept. 1911	The temples of Rangaswami, Easwara and Muthuraya and Maddumkunte, Muthurayankunte, Rangaswamikunte and 9 other tanks should be excluded from the Reserve	.	Vide claim 7	.	Vide claim 7 14th September 1911 (Sd.) 10	Narasimhagowda, patel of Malleluru, on behalf of the villagers.	Do ...	States that some more lands may be excluded from the Reserve, or the right of free grazing be conceded to the raiyats of his village.	.....	As only a small area of 69 acres 4 guntas has been proposed, it cannot be excluded.	This prayer is not entitled to any consideration as the extent of gomal and kharab lands remaining for the village is quite sufficient. The preliminary demarcation line runs touching the northern portion of cultivated land bearing Survey No. 38 and the waste weir of the village tank. It will be shifted to a point 5 chains east from the north-east corner of Survey No. 38, and be made to run in a north-westerly direction so as to meet the proposed boundary at a point about 5 chains north-east from the bandh on the right bank of the Nala or waste-weir. 11	Venkatappa, a leading raiyat of Koudapur, on behalf of the villagers.	Do ...	Represents that during the rainy season, the Kundani river becomes unfordable and that the raiyats cannot take their cattle to the gomal lands situated on the other side of the river. Therefore prays that the gomal Survey No. 81 which has been proposed to be included in the Reserve and which is accessible during the rainy season may be excluded.	.....	This I do not believe, As only a small area of 153 acres 17 guntas has been proposed, it cannot be excluded from the forest. During the rainy season, the village cattle may be taken to the forest on payment of license fees	Claims 11 and 12. The villagers pray that as the gomal lands of the village, except one survey number situated on the other side of the stream known as Kundani river, are inaccessible in the rainy season, Survey No. 81 (gomal) which is proposed to be included within the Reserve may be excluded. The	.....

12	Venkataramana Naik patel of Konddpur, on behalf of the ryots	13th Sept 1911	States that the gomal lands left for the cattle are all situated on the other side of the Kundani river which can not be fordable during the rainy season and therefore he is that S No 91 alone may be included within the Reserve		Vide claim 11		Vide claim 11

(3) Letter No. 6128, dated the 3rd February 1913, from the Conservator of Forests in Mysore.

"I have the honour to submit herewith the marginally noted papers relating to the settlement of the Gadare Betta Forest Block in the Goribidnur Taluk, received with your letter No. R. 3038—Ft. 64-12-2 of the 30th November last, with the observation that, according to the Forest Settlement Officer's decision on claim No. 1 in the "B" Register, the area of gomal land taken over to the Reserve from the Thondebhavi village should be 135 acres and not 220 acres as mentioned in the "C" Statement. Necessary corrections may be kindly caused to be made and the final notification under Section 17 issued"

(1) The "B" register,
(2) The "C" register,
(3) The draft boundary notification.
(4) The sketch map.
(5) The topo-tracing,
(6) Letter No. 4341 of 15th November 1912, from the Revenue Commissioner, to Secretary to Government, together with the Forest Settlement Officer's letter to the Revenue Commissioner through Deputy Commissioner.

(4) Letter No. 259, dated the 3rd March 1913, from the Forest Settlement Officer

"With reference to your letter No. R. 4484—Ft. 64-12-4, dated 19th February 1913, pointing out some discrepancy in the entries in the 'C' Register of the Gadare Betta Block in the Goribidnur Taluk, relating to the extent of gomal land taken from the Thondebhavi village, I have the honor to state that the area of gomal land, proposed to be included in the Reserve in question out of the Thondebhavi village according to the information furnished in the 'C' Statement prepared by the Forest Department and referred to in my decision on claim 1, is 235 acres; but according to the calculations made in my office it comes to 320 acres.

After deducting an area of 100 acres ordered by me to be excluded from the Reserve for the use of the villagers concerned, the extent of gomal land belonging to Thondebhavi village and finally taken for the proposed State Forest will, according to my decision, be 220 acres as shown in the 'C'-Register.

2. 'B' and 'C' Registers of the Block in question received with the letter under reply are herewith resubmitted."

No. R. 5984-8—Ft. 64-12-6, dated Bangalore, 21st April 1913.

Order thereon.—The settlement is approved. The block will be declared a State Forest with effect from 1st May 1913.

2. The assessment on the following survey numbers (assessed waste) included within the forest will be written off the accounts :—

Village.	Survey No.	Assessment.
Kondapur ..	78	Rs. 20 0 0
	79 ..	.. 17 0 0
	82 ...	... 11 0 0
	83 ...	... 16 0 0

	75 ...	... 8 0 0
	76 ...	... 7 8 0
	77 ...	... 6 0 0
	Total	... 102 0 0

3. For the reasons given by the Forest Settlement Officer in his letter read above, the area of gomal lands taken up for the forest from the Thondebhavi village is 220 acres and not 135 acres as would seem from his decision on claim No. 1.

4. The Deputy Commissioner, Kolar District, is requested to promulgate the boundaries of the forest in the localities in which it is situated.

READ AGAIN—

Notification No. 2706—Ft. 192-08-5, dated the 27th September 1909, declaring under Section 4 of the Forest Regulation the proposal to constitute, as a State Forest, certain lands in the Gundlupet Taluk under the name of Kaniyanpur, Block I, and appointing a Forest Settlement Officer to make the necessary enquiries.

READ—

I. Letter No. 4595, dated the 21st November 1912, from the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, submitting the Forest Settlement Officer's report on the conclusion of his settlement.

No. 4595, dated Bangalore, 21st November 1912, from the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, to the Secretary to the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, General and Revenue Departments.

I have the honor to forward herewith for the orders of Government copy of letter No. 298, dated 13th April 1912, together with its enclosures (in original) from the Forest Settlement Officer in Mysore and received through the Deputy Commissioner, Mysore District, reporting on the conclusion of the settlement of the Kaniyanpur Forest, Block No. I, in the Gundlupet Taluk and to state as follows.

2. The block is situate to the north of the Berambadi State Forest and extends as settled, over an area of 1,530 acres and 17 guntas or 2 39 square miles, which is 422 acres and 20 guntas less than that originally notified under Section 4. Four villages are affected by the proposed reservation, and the area of gomal remaining in them is adequate for their grazing needs. Only an extent of 213 acres of gomal from one of the villages, viz., Lakkipur, has been included in the reserve, the rest of the lands in the reserve, being all kharab.

3. The Forest Settlement Officer reports that a sacred temple of Gopalaswami with its "Asta Tirthas" is by the side of the proposed reserve on a hill and that, in the interests of the temple and the large number of devotees that annually gather there, he has ordered that an extent of 154 acres in front of the temple be exclusively reserved for its purposes. He further suggests that a similar extent should be reserved behind the temple in its interests, but as the lands necessary for the purpose form part of the Berambadi State Forest, he recommends the disafforestation of a plot 142 acres in extent for being added on to the temple grounds especially as the plot is quite treeless.

4. As regards the name of the proposed block, the Forest Settlement Officer says, it is strange that it has been called "Kaniyanpur" Block though the village of Kaniyanpur is far away and has not contributed any land to this reserve. He therefore suggests that the block may be known as "Gopalaswami State Forest" as being more appropriate.

5. It is reported that ten claims were advanced before the Forest Settlement Officer and all, except three, were admitted by him. No appeals were preferred to the Deputy Commissioner against the decisions of the Forest Settlement Officer and as the Deputy Commissioner has not recorded any objection to the reservation in question, the final notification may issue.

ENCLOSURE 1.

Letter No. 298, dated 13th April 1912, from the Forest Settlement Officer in Mysore, to the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore.

I have the honor to report on the conclusion of the settlement of the Kaniyanpur, Block I, in the Gundlupet Taluk of the Mysore District.

2. The initial notification under Section 4 of the Mysore Forest Regulation was issued by Government, with their Order No. R. 2705—Ft. 192-08-5, dated the 27th September 1909, which appeared on pages 498 of the English issue of the Mysore Gazette, Part I, dated the 30th September 1909. The proclamation under Section 5 of the said Regulation was issued by my predecessor Mr. M. Shama Rao, and the same was published on pages 892 and 893 of the Kannada issue of the Mysore Gazette, Part II, dated the 16th December 1909. The proclamatory notices were also served on the villagers concerned, through the Amildar of the Gundlupet Taluk.

3. I inspected and perambulated the block in question in company with the Amildar Mr. Kesaviah and the Range Officer Mr. B. Narasimha Iyengar, from the 23rd to 25th May 1911. During my perambulation of the block within the limits of Lakkipur village, I had to inspect the demarcation line of the already settled Berambadi State Forest, as I found the preliminary demarcation line of the block in question had been continued on to the Berambadi State Forest beyond the starting point, which is the junction of the Lakkipur and Berambadi villages, so as to include within the reserve the block of the District Forest known as Berambadi District Forest. This latter forest finds no mention in the statement of lands proposed to be taken up for the Kaniyanpur, Block I; nor is it sketched in the map of the reserve. The track is well studded with teak trees and I do not know why such a valuable forest was not proposed to be included within the State Forest. As no new lands can be ordered by me to be added on to the reserve, I decided that the starting point should begin at the trijunction bandhs of the Berambadi District Forest, Berambadi village and Lakkipur village and not from the junction bandhs of Berambadi State Forest and Berambadi village as described by mistake in Government Notification issued under Section 4.

4. In the course of my enquiry, one Krishnaiengar, a resident of the Gopalaswami Hill, represented that the boundary line of the Berambadi State Forest and that of the Kaniyanpur proposed forest run almost by the side of the Gopalaswami temple and consequently serious inconvenience would be caused to pilgrims who go there in connection with the annual car festival and the 'Asta Tirtha' ceremony, many of the Tirthas or sacred ponds having already been included in the already settled Berambadi State Forest. According to the sketch map, the boundary line of the Berambadi State Forest to the east of Gopalaswami temple forms an obtuse angle with the eastern boundary line of Survey No. 143 of Kannagala; but on the ground it forms a small acute angle with it, and almost touches the temple and the 'musafirkhana,' Evidently there is a mistake in laying out the boundary line of the already settled Berambadi State Forest and this is a matter for investigation by the Forest Department.

In consideration of the sacredness of the Hill and the great number of people visiting it during the occasions mentioned above, I have, however, ordered that a segment of lands in front of the temple measuring about 154 acres be reserved for the exclusive use of the visitors. A similar extent of lands behind the temple as far as the second or outer wall of the fort (coloured yellow in the accompanying sketch) is also quite necessary inasmuch as it contains some of the 'Asta Tirthas' and has to be therefore reserved for the use of the pilgrims. But as this extent has already been included within the Berambadi State Forest and as it is quite treeless, I beg to recommend the disafforestation of this plot of ground of about 142 acres, and the inclusion of the same within the temple grounds.

It is strange that the block in question has been named "Kaniyanpur Block" by the Forest Department though Kaniyanpur is far away from the tract and has not contributed any land to the reserve. I, therefore, beg to suggest its being named as 'The Gopalaswami State Forest' owing to the Himavad Gopalaswami Betta being situated almost in the middle of the southern boundary of the reserve.

5. There were, on the whole, ten claims put forward by the raiyats of the affected villages for the following rights:—

(i) 3 claims for rights of way,
(ii) 7 claims for miscellaneous rights.

All the claims in (i) were admitted. Out of the seven claims in (ii), four were admitted and three rejected.

6. After the expiry of the appeal time, it was ascertained from the Deputy Commissioner that no appeals had been preferred to him against my decision (see Deputy Commissioner's No. 2892, dated the 4th November 1911).

7. The following records are herewith submitted:—

(1) B. Register.
(2) C. Register.
(3) Sketch map.
(4) Topo tracing, and
(5) Draft boundary notification.

8. The date from which the reservation is to take effect has to be kindly inserted in the draft boundary notification.

1	Subbe Gowda, patel of Kunagahalli.	23rd May 1911	States that during the annual jatra in connection with the car festival of Hiranvad Gopalaswami, which lasts for about a fortnight, the villagers usually obtain fuel and grass for the occasion from S. No. 39 and therefore prays that they may be allowed to remove 12 cart-loads of fuel and four cart-loads of thorns for fencing purposes and 2 cart-loads of wood for putting up lofts and for making agricultural implements, for each family per annum. If these concessions cannot be granted, prays that the preliminary demarcation line may be shifted further away from its present position.	.....	Nil ...	Portion of Survey No. 39 of Kunagahalli which has been proposed to be included in the reserve is studded with dindiga trees, with a sprinking of kaggali and sandal trees. The Dindiga trees are stunted and crooked and there is no possibility of obtaining straight dindiga poles in the locality. As this species is utilized as fuel by the pilgrims and the village raiyats in connection with the jatra, I decide that this bit of land be excluded for the benefit of the raiyats and treated as an enclosure within the block. Gopalpur is a dakle village to the Kunnagala village. Survey No. 333 having an extent of 590 acres and 29 guntas is also assigned to this village as gomal. But as it is situated at the northernmost extremity of the village as will be seen from the village map, the cattle of the asli village alone can go there for grazing. The dakle village of Gopalpur is far away from the asli village and the cattle thereof can be conveniently taken only to gomal Survey No. 142. Evidently in the survey settlement one large extent of land for the Kunnagala village and another large extent of land for the Gopalpur village have been assigned as village gomal. Therefore, there is	.....

6	Krishnienger, resident of Gopalaswami Betta.	24th May 1911	States that the boundary line of the Beramabadi State Forest and that of the Kanivanpur proposed forest run almost by the side of the Gopalaswami temple and consequently serious inconvenience will be caused to pilgrims who go there in connection with the car festival and the Asta Tirtha ceremony. Therefore, requests that sufficient grounds to roam about may be allowed for the people who assemble on the hill for the above festivities. Also requests that as 'Thokli Tirtha,' 'Bhobhra Tirtha,' 'Sanka Tirtha,' and 'Chakra Tirtha,' have already been included in the Beramabadi State Forest, the boundary line of the said State Forest, and that of the proposed reserve may be shifted farther away from the temple by about ½ furlongs from their present positions	.....	Nil	...	The famous shrine of Gopalaswami is situated on Survey Nos. 142 and 143. In the Puranas the hill on which the temple stands is called Kamaladri and Dakshina Govardhanagiri. In view of the sacredness and the importance of the place, it behoves us to assign adequate grounds for the use of the visitors. I accordingly direct that a segment of lands in front of the temple conterminous with the second or outer wall of the old fort measuring about 154 acres be excluded. (Sd.) C. Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore.

READ—

Letter No. 5556—B. & R. 571, dated 26th February 1913, from the Comptroller to the Government of His Highness the Maharaja, submitting a Report on the Resource Operations in the State for 1911-12 :—

"I have the honor to submit the following, report on the resource operations in the State for the year 1911-12.

2. The actual total balances in the Treasuries exceeded the prescribed minima for all the months of the year. The excess was, as usual, lowest in February owing to the payment of the first instalment of the subsidy in January which was provided entirely out of the cash balances of the Treasuries without drawing on the balance in the Madras Bank. Turning to the figures for the several districts in the accompanying statement A, it will be seen that the actual balance was uniformly in excess of the minimum except for the month of January in the Kadur District and for February in Tumkur and Chitaldrug Districts. In the case of Bangalore and Mysore Districts, the actual cash balance had to be kept at a fairly higher level than the prescribed minimum, owing respectively to the transfer of the business of the State Huzur Treasury to the Bangalore District Treasury and to the progress of large public works in the Mysore District, viz., the Cauvery Reservoir Project, Railway Survey and the fourth installation of the Cauvery Power Scheme. In the other six Districts, the balances were kept within fair limits though some more cash could have been remitted to headquarters in the latter half of the official year as required by this office and as directed in Government Order No. Fl. 4229-38—G. F. 347-11-2, dated 4th April 1912. It is to be hoped that Deputy Commissioners will pay more attention to this aspect of their Treasury balances and remit all the available surplus to headquarters by properly husbanding the resources of their Treasuries.

3. Movement of Funds.—Statements B and C at the end of this report exhibit the amounts of inward and outward remittances of cash and currency notes in each Treasury every month. It will be seen from them that Bangalore shows the largest amount of inward remittance, and this is due to heavy demands on that Treasury on account of the headquarter payments transferred thereto from the State Huzur Treasury. Next comes Mysore which is a deficit Treasury except during the collection season and then Kadur which gets specie in exchange for currency notes, which form the bulk of its collections. In all the other Treasuries the remittances were outward. The largest outward remittance was as usual from the Kolar District Treasury. It may be interesting to note that except in the case of the Kolar District where outward remittances were both in specie and currency notes, all the important outward remittances were in currency notes. This arrangement accounts for the smallness of the remittance charges as compared with the amount of remittances involved. (Vide marginal figures.)

4. The total amount of supply bills issued during the year was only Rs. 2,41,711 as against Rs. 3,43,043 in the previous year. In compliance with the orders of Government contained in their review on the previous year's report, more Treasuries have since been thrown open for the issue and payment of these bills and all facilities afforded for important trading centres to utilize this mode of remittance. It is also being notified that applications for issue of bills in treasuries other than those now advertised will be considered if important trading interests require such a concession. The result of these arrangements has yet to be seen and I expect to report on the same in my next annual report.

5. Annexed statement D shows the amounts of small silver, nickel and copper or bronze coins absorbed in the State. As the State Huzur Treasury is now only a resource Treasury and has no dealings with the public it has been omitted in the statement. The absorption in each district during the year as compared with that in the previous year is shown below :—

6. The large consumption in Bangalore and Mysore as compared with the previous year is due to the transfer of the transactions of the State Huzur Treasury to the Bangalore District Treasury and to the increased demands on the Mysore Treasury on account of the wages of coolies employed on the large public works under execution in that district."

2. It is satisfactory to note that in spite of the heavy calls on them the cash in the treasuries was higher than usual and in consequence the total cash balance was higher. It is also noted that the remittance transactions have been mostly carried by means of transfer of currency notes and that therefore the cost of remittance was small.

Letter No. 583—A. G. B. 83, dated the 22nd November 1912, from the Registrar of Co-operative Societies and Inspector of Agricultural Banks:—

"I have the honor to submit my annual Report on the working of the Agricultural Banks in the State for the year ending with 30th June 1912.

2. I held the office of Inspector of Agricultural Banks throughout the year.

3. The data necessary for drawing up this report have been obtained from the Agents of the various Banks. The statistics relating to the working Banks are embodied in the first four statements sent herewith, and the fifth statement, which is compiled from the District Treasury Returns, shows the recoveries effected till the end of the year from both the working and wound-up Banks.

4. Working Banks.—There were nine Agricultural Banks in working order at the beginning of the year. Of these, the Banks at Haldodderi, Guloor and Rampura in the Tumkur District transacted but little business, and fell into arrears in respect of their dues to the Government. The Government, therefore, ordered their being wound-up. (Vide (1) Government Order No. Fl. 4734-6—B. 31-11-2, dated 7th May 1912, (2) Government Order No. Fl. 3556-8—B. 21-11-2, dated 4th March 1912, (3) Government Order No. Fl. 4641-3—B. 30-11-2, dated 30th April 1912.) Consequently, the number of working Banks was reduced to six at the end of the year, and they were situated in the districts of Mysore, Kolar and Shimoga as shown in the statement given below:—

Name of district	Number in 1910-11	Number in 1911-12
Mysore	4	4
Kolar	1	1
Shimoga	1	1
Tumkur	3	.....
Bangalore	. ...	.....
Hassan	... ..	.....
Kadur	. ...	.. . .
Chitaldrug	.....	.....
Total ...	9	6

5. Villages sought to be benefited.—The number of villages to which operations extended was reduced from 114 to 88 consequent on the reduction in the number of the working Banks.

6. Registered limit of funds.—The total limit of funds of all the working Banks was Rs. 2,29,385 as against Rs. 2,64,385 of the previous year. The decrease is due, again, to the reduction in the number of working Banks. The limit itself is purely nominal as the Banks have no vitality.

7. Funds how obtained.—The main working capital of the working Banks was, as usual, the balance of the Government loans outstanding against them, which amounted to Rs. 29,955-4-0 at the commencement of the year. It was supplemented by deposits from members to the extent of Rs. 4,307-9-7 attracted mostly by the Banks at Hongenahalli, Palhalli and Chamrajnagar during the year.

8. Number of members.—The total membership in the six working Banks at the beginning of the year was 267 and it was 264 at the end of the year, the admissions and cessations being two and five respectively. The admissions were in the Palhalli Bank, and, in the remaining Banks, the membership stood at a constant figure with the exception of the Bank at Nanjangud in which there were five withdrawals. Brahmins and Vakkaligars numbering 102 and 87 persons, respectively, form the bulk of the members in all the Banks.

9. Property of members.—The total estimated value of the properties of the members of all the working Banks amounted to Rs. 2,00,080.

10. Receipts and expenditure.—The total transactions of all the working Banks show a decline over those of the previous year. The receipts and disbursements during the year were Rs. 21,680-11-5 and Rs. 19,018-14-6 respectively as against Rs. 27,134-1-0 and Rs. 26,172, 13-9 of the year previous. The Hongenhalli Bank has transacted the largest business-the receipts and expenditure being Rs. 10,465-4-9 and Rs. 10,395-8-8. The closing balance of all the working Banks amounted to Rs. 2,661-12-11.

11. Loans to members.—The amount of loans advanced during the year by all the working Banks to their members was Rs. 5,937 as against Rs. 8,478-2-1 in the previous year. The Bank at Nanjangud which has paid off the Government loan has stopped its business these two years. Very little business was transacted during the year by the Banks at Chamrajnagar and Siralkoppa, and the latter Bank has even applied for Government aid for collecting its dues. The only Banks that have done any business at all are those at Hongenhalli and Palhalli.

12. Income of the Banks.—The main sources of the income of the Banks were the interest, fines and the penalties recovered from the members on their loans. The year's transactions resulted in a profit of Rs. 2,634-8-9 as against Rs. 2,548-4-3 last year. The income was utilized for paying off the interest due on the Government loan and for meeting establishment and contingent charges. Nothing was added to the Reserve Fund during the year, and even the existing reserve of the Banks was not in a readily available form as it had been mixed up with the outstanding loans of the Banks.

13. Assets and liabilities.—The balance sheets of the working Banks have been embodied in Statement IV which shows their financial situation on 30th June 1912. All of them appear to be in a solvent condition and the excess of assets over liabilities amounts to Rs. 18,045-11-4. It is unsatisfactory to note that the excess of assets over liabilities has decreased from Rs. 4,533-6-5 to Rs. 3,957-12-0 in the Nanjungud Bank.

14. Payment of interest on Government advances.—The subjoined table shows the amount of interest paid during the year by both the working and wound-up Banks:—

	1910-11.	1911-12.
	Rs. a. p.	Rs. a. p.
(a) Working Banks	1,400 7 2	681 15 6
(b) Wound-up Banks	7,057 7 8	5,256 12 7

15. Repayment of instalment.—The table given hereunder shows the total amount outstanding against the Banks, both working and wound-up, the repayments made by them during the year under report and the balance of instalments remaining unadjusted:—

Instalments up to the end of	Amount due	Repayments	Balance
	Rs.	Rs. a. p.	Rs. a. p.
1910-11	7,30,304	5,74,636 6 4	1,55,667 9 8
1911-12	7,35,854	6,40,459 11 0	95,394 5 0

The amounts of principal paid into the Treasuries by the working and wound-up Banks, respectively, are given below:—

	During the year	Working Banks	Wound-up Banks
		Rs. a. p.	Rs. a. p.
Principal ...	1910-11	10,072 9 1	48,185 5 2
	1911-12	6,387 0 0	59,536 4 8

The recoveries of Government dues have been a satisfactory feature of the administration of Agricultural Banks this year. Early in the year, I wrote to the Deputy Commissioners of Mysore and Tumkur and to the Amildars of some of the taluks in the other districts pointing out that heavy arrears were outstanding in their jurisdiction, and urging them to take the necessary steps for their recovery. My thanks are due to these officers for the increased attention which they paid to the matter. The interest which they took in settling the affairs of the Banks within their charge led to the recovery of a sum of Rs. 71,862-0-9 which is Rs. 5,146-3-8 in excess of the recoveries of last year. But I must point out that the Amildars of Devanhalli, Mandya, Kolar, Chikballapur, Honnali and Shikarpur Taluks have shown "nil" recoveries from the Banks at Ardeshalli, Mandya, Satnur, Mudavatti, Thippenhalli, Honnali and Salur respectively. Of these, the first two Financial (Banking), dated 21st April 1913.

Banks have been defaulting successively for the past three years, and it is imperative that the Amildars concerned should take early steps to recover the amounts due by the Banks. There was fair collection in other parts of the State, and as many as eight Banks as detailed in para 17 infra were able to close their accounts with the Government in respect of the loans advanced to them.

16. Inspection.—I have received no report of inspection of any Agricultural Bank during the year by the District Officers. The Banks at Hongenhalli, Mandya, Satnur, Seringapatam, Tavarekere, Subbanahalli, Sargur and Chamrajnagar were inspected by me. The affairs of the Satnur and Subbanahalli Banks were found to be very unsatisfactory, their agents being largely responsible for their bad management. The registers and account books of both the Banks are in the custody of the Taluk authorities, the Agent of the Subbanahalli Bank having absconded after misappropriating the Bank's funds. There were irreconcilable entries in the Cash and Ledger Books and it was found that most of the defaulters possessed but little property. I have written to the Amildars to proceed against the existing properties and recover as much as possible before enforcing the joint liability of all the members for the balance of the Government loan that may be left unadjusted. As a result of my instructions to the Amildar of Goribidnur it was possible to collect from the Bank at Subbanahalli a sum of Rs. 1,220-10-4 towards principal, and Rs. 305-6-1 towards interest. There is a warrant issued to arrest the Agent of the Subbanahalli Bank and I have written to the Deputy Commissioner, Mysore District, requesting him to prosecute the agent of the Satnur Bank in the Mandya Taluk.

17. (a) General remarks.—As already stated, eight Banks were able to close their accounts with the Government as regards the loans advanced to them. The number of Banks which paid up their dues in full was therefore 29 at the end of the year as against 21 at the commencement. Their names are mentioned in the margin.

(b) Most of the Banks have got a reserve of their own, but the reserve generally exists in the form of bad debts. There are a few cases where the recoveries have been effected so thoroughly that not only have the Government dues been paid off in full but a cash reserve is left in favour of the Banks concerned. But what generally happens when Government re-call the loans due from a Bank is that the amount actually required to pay of the Government loan is recovered and no special efforts are made to collect all the debts due to the Bank. This is because Regulation No. II of 1903 authorizes the recovery of Government dues only as an arrear of land revenue and not the recovery of other debts also due to the Bank. I have recently circularised all the paid-up Banks to conform themselves to the provisions of the Companies' Regulation, No. III of 1895, under which they are registered, and to take steps as per instructions contained therein for the recovery of the debts outstanding against the remaining defaulters by appointing an official liquidator for the purpose as required by Section 177 (b) of that Regulation. The circular has had little effect so far, as the Banks have been long wound-up and as no penalty appears enforceable against any member for this neglect of the duty prescribed under Section 177. The subject is important as it affects the collection of a large amount of the Reserve Funds of these wound-up Banks which will be available for expenditure for useful public purposes. It will therefore be dealt with in a separate communication with suitable suggestions for necessary action.

(c) In the last year's report, it was mentioned that the question of the conversion of the defunct Agricultural Banks into Co-operative Societies was engaging the attention of the Registrar of Co-operative Societies. After a careful consideration of the subject in all its aspects, he established, in places where conditions were favourable, 18 Co-operative Societies on the unlimited liability basis by the side of the defunct Agricultural Banks so that the credit-worthy members of the latter institutions may enjoy the facilities afforded by Co-operative Societies. From the available satistics, it is seen that 78 members of Agricultural Banks have become members of these Co-operative Societies, and have borrowed Rs. 1,760 to repay the debts due to the Banks and a sum of Rs. 9,605 for agricultural and other minor purposes. At the same time, they have contributed a sum of Rs. 1,402-8-0 to the Societies as their share capital and thus effected some savings out of their earnings which they would not otherwise have done. Most of the Societies are yet in an infant stage, and all of them bear promise of being useful to the Bank members as their financial condition improves."

No. Fl. 5924-33—B. 24-12-22, dated Bangalore, 21st April 1913.

Order thereon.—Recorded.

2. The number of working Banks fell from 9 to 6 during the year under review, the funds of the working institutions having amounted to Rs. 29,995-4-0 and deposits to the extent of Rs. 4,307-9-7 having been attracted. The receipts and expenditure of these Banks amounted to Rs. 21,680-11-5 and 19,018-14-6, respectively, leaving a closing balance of Rs. 2,661-12-11.

3. During the year collection of Government dues from both working and wound-up Banks was somewhat more satisfactory, Rs. 71,862 having been recovered as against Rs. 65,716 in the previous year. This important work would have been better done had the amounts due by the Banks mentioned in the margin been recovered promptly. The Deputy Commissioners concerned should not only see that the arrears are collected as soon as possible but will also obtain the explanations of the persons responsible for "nil" collection in the case of the Banks referred to above, and forward the same separately for the orders of Government.

4. Of the Banks that have ceased working, 29 have paid up their dues to Government in full. The Inspector is requested to submit a detailed report as to how the accumulated Reserve Funds of these Banks have been utilized.

5. That the Co-operative Societies formed by the side of defunct Agricultural Banks have attracted favourable attention of the members and have conduced to some little savings on their part is encouraging. Government, would, however, like to have a separate report from the Inspector as to whether the policy of replacing defunct Agricultural Banks by Co-operative Societies enunciated in Government Order No. Fl. 2999-3011—B. 17-08-7, dated the 6th December 1910, has been worked and, if so, to what extent and with what results.

6. Government regret to note that reports of inspection of Agricultural Banks have not been submitted as required under the Standing Orders. The attention of the Deputy Commissioners of Districts is invited to Government Order No. R. 2558-66, dated the 10th December 1901, and they are required to see that the institutions are properly and regularly inspected and timely reports are sent to Government in future.

Letter No. 946-55, dated the 23rd September 1912, from the Census Superintendent in Mysore, submitting a set of the Mysore Census Report and Tables of 1911.

No. FL. 6047-9—CEN. 1-12-26, DATED BANGALORE, 24TH APRIL 1913.

ORDER THEREON.—Variations and density of population.—The final Census taken on the 10th March 1911 shows that the total population of the State, including the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, was 5,806,193, consisting of 2,934,621 males and 2,871,572 females. The circumstance that it is less than the provisional totals by only 603 is an indication of the accuracy of the enumeration. Excluding the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, the total population of the State is 5,705,359, consisting of 2,882,869 males and 2,822,490 females.

2. Including the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, the Census shows that there has been an increase of 4·9 per cent among males and of 4·7 per cent among females, the increase for both the sexes being 4·8 per cent in the aggregate. Excluding the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, the corresponding percentage are 4·7; 4·6; and 4·69, respectively.

3. Taking the cities of Mysore, Bangalore, Civil and Military Station, and Kolar Gold Fields, the increases in the population as compared with the Census of 1901, were 3,195, 19,204, 11,235 and 10,431. The increase in the last three places was marked, being mainly due to the local industrial and commercial activities. The decrease caused by plague between the years 1891 and 1901 has been thus more than made good in all these urban areas except Mysore city. All the districts share in the increase of population from 1·98 to 10·41 per cent, except Kadur and Shimoga, where there has been a falling off, amounting to 5·8 and 2·8, respectively. The population in the malnad has been exhibiting a steady tendency towards decline throughout the past decade and the problem of its causation and the most suitable remedies needed therefor is engaging the serious attention and study of the Government.

4. The shrinkage in the population of the State caused by the great famine of 1877-78, was made up as shown by the Census of 1901, in all the districts, except Tumkur, where the present Census shows an increase of 8·05 per cent over that of 1871. The net increase of population during the 40 years (1871-1911) is 14·9 for the whole State.

5. The mean density per square mile, including the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, is 197 per square mile as against 188 during the Census of 1901, the district of Bangalore (including Civil and Military Station) having the maximum density of 307 persons per square mile. Among the taluks, the highest density of 410 is recorded in the T.-Narsipur Taluk and the lowest density of 71 is recorded in the Nagar Taluk.

6. Emigration and immigration.—The number of Mysore-born people censused abroad is 131,257 against 132,342 in 1901 and 143,533 in the previous Census; and the number of persons censused in Mysore as having been born outside the State is 312,908 or 5·4 per cent of the entire population. This influx of population is steadily increasing having been but 166,688 in 1891 and 281,526 in 1901, and the settlers themselves are found at work in almost all the important occupations, including in particular trade, industry and unskilled labour. Many of them are centred in the Bangalore, Kolar and Kadur Districts.

7. Religions.—Taking the several religionists, the percentage of increase is greatest among Jains; next come Christians, Mussalmans and Hindus in the order named; and, in every case Jains excepted, the rate of increase in population is less during the decade (1901-11) than in the two previous decades. There has been a considerable fall (16·7 per cent) among the Animists, probably due to their having returned themselves as Hindus during the Census under review. The high rate of increase among the Jains is to be ascribed to many Sadas in the Bangalore and Tumkur Districts, returning themselves as Jains.

8. Age, sex and civil condition.—Taking the whole State males outnumber females, there being 979 of the latter for every 1,000 of the former. This numerical superiority among males is common in all the districts, except Mysore and Hassan, where the proportion of females has been higher than males from the earliest census, a peculiar local phenomenon not admitting of any reasonable explanation. Arranged according to several religions, Hindus have got the largest proportion of females. Next come Animists, Mussalmans, Christians and Jains in the order named. From the statistics collected, it is seen that Mussalmans have the largest defect in the proportion of females in the age period of thirty and over. The low proportion of females among the Mussalmans is largely due to the fact that many of them are immigrants unaccompanied by the women folk. Taking the figures of the last three censuses a steady decline in the proportion of females to males is noticeable or in other words, there has been a more rapid increase in the male than in the female population during the last three decades.

9. On comparing the figures of the past three censuses regarding the proportion of unmarried children of less than ten years of age, it is found that there has been a steady decline since 1891 in infant marriage which is less prevalent in Mysore than in Madras, Bombay or Baroda. It is also noteworthy that the proportion of widows of child-bearing age has been diminishing since 1881. Of girls less than ten years old, fewer were found married than in the last two Censuses. The actual number of girls below ten years returned as married was for the entire State, 3,004 against 7,130, and 18,072 in 1901 and 1891, respectively; and the number of widows below the age of ten was 56 in 1911 against 92 and 257 in 1901 and 1891, respectively, most of these infant marriages being among Hindus.

10. As regards the early marriages of boys also, there has been marked improvement since the last Census. There were in 1911 only 1,870 married boys under fifteen years of age as against 7,223 boys in 1901, and 99 married boys under ten years of age as against 235 in 1901.

11. It is believed that the Mysore Infant Marriage Prevention Regulation has chiefly contributed towards the present improved state of things.

12. Infirmities.—The infirmities regarding which information was collected during the present Census, were, as in 1901, insanity, deaf mutism, blindness and corrosive leprosy. The figures of this Census are higher than those of the last three Censuses as regards insanity, deaf mutism, and blindness that for leprosy being also in excess of the corresponding figures for 1901 and 1881. In all cases, male sufferers exceed the female. As in 1901, a number of them were found in married condition facilitating the transmission of their infirmity to their offspring.

13. Languages.—Altogether 48 languages are returned in the present Census as against 56 in the previous one. More than 71 per cent of the entire population speak Kanarese. Next come Telugu, Hindustani, Tamil and Marathi in the order named. The total number of persons who can speak English is 40,641 for the whole State.

14. Education.—As regards education, the Census standard was the same as that in the previous Censuses, viz., ability to read and write. If a person was literate in more than one language, the names of all such languages were taken against him. Judging from this standard 6·2 per cent of the entire population was found literate. Taking the sexes separately 11·2 per cent among males were literate and only 1·2 per cent among females. There has been a steady progress since 1891, in the diffusion of literacy in the State, that made by females being more rapid than in the case of males, owing not only to the vastly larger field for improvement among the former but also to the increasing attention bestowed on female education. On comparing the figures of 1911 with those of 1901 for the several age periods, a general progress is noticeable all round except in the case of males between the age periods of 15—20. It is remarkable that in a few Provinces of British India also, e.g., Madras and Burma the percentage of literacy between the age periods of 15—20 is small. During the decade, primary education made good progress, the percentage of increase being 20·5. Literacy in English is represented by 34,469 males and 6,172 females, or a total of 40·641, which is better than 1901 by 48·1 per cent; but the progress among females was even larger, viz., 237 per cent (there having been 1,827 females literate in English in 1901 against 6,172 in 1911). Among the females returned as knowing English 662 were Hindus and 50 Mussalmans, against 297 and 11 respectively in 1901 or 84 and 17 in 1891.

15. Castes.—Out of 5,340,908 Hindus in the Province, 2,435 persons did not specify the caste to which they belonged and the rest classed themselves under 73 castes as against 64 in the previous Census. Out of 314,494 Mussalmans 6,080 persons did not specify their castes and the rest arranged themselves among 28 castes as against 11 in the previous Census. Fifty-six per cent of the entire population of Mussalmans returned themselves as Sheiks against 62 per cent in 1901. These fluctuations in the record of caste statistics confirm the general opinion that caste statistics in India can never be absolutely correct being dependent upon the varying notions of the people about caste.

16. Occupations.—The occupations are classed in this Census according to M. Bertillon's Scheme, the advantage of which is that, the Census statistics as now compiled admit of comparison with the occupation statistics of different countries in the world. In Mysore, out of the entire population 4,245,644 persons or 73·1 per cent follow cultivation, pasture and other pursuits for the production of raw materials; next in order of relative strength come those who follow industrial pursuits, being 7·6 per cent of the entire population. Trade counts 236,104 persons or 4·1 per cent of the entire population, more than half doing business in the provisions line. Extraction of minerals is the next important business, supporting 52,987 persons or 0·9 per cent of the entire population as against 14,358 or 0·3 per cent in 1901. These increases are mainly due to the prosperity of Gold Mining and Manganese Industries in the State during 1901-11.

17. About 5·3 per cent of the entire population come under Public Administration and Professions and Liberal Arts.

18. Among the population of the four cities of Bangalore, Mysore, Kolar Gold Fields and the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, Industrial pursuits engaging 21·5 per cent of the entire population take precedence over other occupations. The professional population preponderates mostly in the cities of Mysore and Bangalore with 9·9 per cent and 7·0 per cent of the population of those places; while in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, 45·3 per cent of the population are supported by Military and other services of Government. Industry and commerce with their small percentages take a secondary place.

19. Taking all occupations together, the percentage of dependants to workers is 60 and it is highest amongst those who come under Public Administration, being 76. Taking the two sexes together, 49·4 per cent of males and 12·2 per cent of females are actual workers and the rest are dependants.

20. Industrial statistics.—One peculiar characteristic feature of the Census of 1911 was that a Census of Industries was taken along with the general Census.

21. Mining is an important industry in the State and the present Census takes cognizance of Gold Mines, Manganese, Chromium and Mica Mines. The percentage of population engaged in industrial occupation is 7·6 for the whole State, while it is ·30 and ·23 in the Bangalore City and the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore respectively. In the present Census, 443,132 have returned themselves under Industries as against 489,511 in 1901. The decrease, which comes to 9·5 per cent is partly due to the displacement of manual labour by the labour-saving machinery driven by water, oil, steam or electric power and this effect is felt in almost all the industries, such as cotton, silk and woollen industry, brick and tile making, sawing and carpentry. Of the 327 factory works in the State, as many as 160 works have replaced manual labour by machinery driven by one or more of those motive powers.

22. Among other industries, coffee, cardamom and rubber come next, giving employment to 5,626 persons, skilled and unskilled all told.

23. As in agriculture, so in industry, a perceptable progress has been made during the decade, 1901-11.

24. The Census just completed, reveals a satisfactory state of affairs all round; the seasons were prosperous; the population has grown; and trade, education and industry have progressed, bringing in their train, material gain and well being. The Census was conducted under the able direction of Mr. V. R. Tyagaraja Iyer, the Census Superintendent, and Government desire to place on record their appreciation of his services in organising and conducting the Census operations and in embodying the results in a lucid and interesting report. They also note with satisfaction the good and zealous work done by the Assistants, Messrs. Mrityunjaya Iyer, M. Sadasiva Rao and K. R. Krishnaswami Iyengar.

25. The ready co-operation of the Press efficiently supervised by Mr. Yates and the Assistant Superintendent, Mr. D. B. Ramachandra Mudaliar, who officiated for him for a time, contributed in no small degree to the speedy and satisfactory printing of the Report as well as the Tables.

26. The thanks of the Government are due to the Hon'ble Mr. E. A. Gait, C.S.I., C.I.E., I.C.S., Census Commissioner for India, for the valuable suggestions made by him to Mr. Tyagaraja Iyer at all stages of the Census operations.

Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore,

READ—

Government Proceedings No. J. 1400-06—Cts. 103-06-3, dated the 27th November 1906, and Notification No. J. 3296—Cts. 198-06-2, dated the 26th April 1907, directing the abolition of the Munsiff's Court at Dodballapur and distributing the jurisdiction between the Principal Munsiff's Court of Bangalore and the Munsiff's Court at Chikballapur.

2. Government Proceedings No. J. 3731-4—Cts. 213-09-4, dated the 14th June 1910, sanctioning the appointment of an Additional Munsiff at Chikballapur temporarily to abate the congestion of work.

3. Letter No. 3242—240, dated the 19th February 1912, from the Registrar, Chief Court of Mysore, bringing to notice that there is much congestion of work both in the Principal Munsiff's Court at Bangalore and in the Munsiff's Court at Chikballapur, and recommending that to give effective relief to these Munsiffs the Dodballapur Munsiff's Court may be resuscitated.

4. Correspondence ending with letter No. 1127—82, dated the 18th September 1912, from the same officer, stating that on a further careful consideration, the Chief Court is of opinion that the Munsiff's Court to be newly opened should be located at Bangalore instead of at Dodballapur, with jurisdiction comprising over the Devanhalli, Dodballapur, Nelamangala and Hoskote Taluks.

No. J. 3152-3—Cts. 222-11-7, dated Bangalore, 21st April 1913.

ORDER THEREON.—In giving effect to certain retrenchments in the Judicial Department of the State, Government directed the abolition of the Munsiff's Court at Dodballapur with effect from 1st July 1907, the taluks comprised within its jurisdiction being distributed as follows:—

1. Nelamangala	To the Principal Munsiff's Court, Bangalore.
2. Dodballapur, Devanhalli and Gowribidnur	To the Munsiff's Court, Chikballapur.

On the representation of the Chief Court that there was such a heavy accumulation of arrears in the Chikballapur Munsiff's Court as a single Munsiff could not cope with, Government sanctioned the establishment of a temporary Additional Munsiff's Court for one year with effect from the 15th February 1911, which however was ordered to be continued pending the sanction of permanent arrangements.

2. The Chief Court now report that the abolition of the Munsiff's Court at Dodballapur has not only thrown upon the Principal Munsiff of Bangalore more work than he can get through, but has also rendered the file of the Munsiff at Chikballapur so congested as to eventually lead to a denial of justice to litigants. They are of opinion that the experiment of a temporary additional Court at Chikballapur has not proved a success and recommend therefore the immediate resuscitation of the Dodballapur Munsiff's Court. In a later communication, however, they recommend that the Court to be newly opened may be located at Bangalore instead of at Dodballapur, with jurisdiction over the taluks of Devanhalli, Dodballapur, Nelamangala and Hoskote. It is stated that the latter arrangement while securing a more equal distribution of work among the Munsiffs' Courts concerned, tends to promote the convenience of the litigant public.

3. The proposals put forward have been carefully considered by Government and they are of opinion that the temporary Additional Munsiff's Court now located at Chikballapur may be removed to and permanently established at Dodballapur, the jurisdiction over the several Courts concerned being readjusted as follows:—

Name of Court	Territorial jurisdiction	Remarks
1. Principal Munsiff's Court (to be hereafter styled First Munsiff).	1. Bangalore City .. . . 2. Bangalore Taluk	Nelamangala Taluk transferred to Dodballapur Munsiff's Court.
2. Additional Munsiff's Court, Bangalore (to be hereafter styled Second Munsiff).	1. Magadi . .. 2. Channapatna including Closepet Sub-Taluk .. 3. Kankanhalli ... . 4 Anekal ... . 5 Hoskote . . .	No change.
3. Dodballapur Munsiff s Court ...	1. Dodballapur . . . . 2 Nelamangala . . . . 3. Gonbidnur
4. Chikballapur Munsiff's Court...	1. Chikballapur . 2. Sidlaghatta .. 3. Bagepalli (including Gudibanda Sub-Taluk). 4. Devanhalli	Dodballapur and Gouribidnur Taluks transferred to Dodballapur Munsiff's Court.

It is hoped that the above arrangement will prove more suitable and convenient, tending as it does to equalise the work of all the Courts concerned and to meet the convenience and wishes of the public to a greater extent than the one last proposed by the Chief Court.

4. This arrangement will come into force from the 1st July 1913 and the Chief Court is accordingly requested to submit for the approval of Government a draft notification giving effect to the above changes.

5. The clerical and menial establishment sanctioned for the Additional Munisff's Court, Chikballapur, and part of the Process establishment of the Courts whose jurisdiction has been transferred will be utilised for the Munsiff's Court at Dodballapur and proposals for such extra establishment as may be absolutely necessary may be submitted in due course for the consideration and orders of Government.

2. Letter No. 1202, dated the 29th January 1910, from the same officer, stating that, as the number of documents registered in the Sub-Registry Offices, at Chamrajnagar, T.-Narsipur and Bangalore has exceeded 4,000 a year, each of the Sub-Registry offices may be split into two independent offices of equal rank.

3. Government Proceedings No J. 2701-2—Regis. 42-09-4, dated the 25th March 1911, sanctioning an additional clerk on Rs. 15 per mensem to the Chamrajnagar Sub-Registry office.

4. Letter No. 460, dated the 17th August 1912, from the Inspector-General of Registration in Mysore, recommending that the Sub-Registry Office at Chitaldrug may be raised from the 3rd to 2nd grade.

No. J. 3057-66—REGIS. 42-09-6, DATED BANGALORE, 14TH APRIL 1913.

ORDER THEREON.—The establishment prescribed for Sub-Registry Offices in Government Order Camp No. 1115-24, dated the 22nd January 1892, varies as shown below according to the number of documents registered in each office :—

			Rs.
I Grade. Registering 1,200 documents or more.	1 clerk on	... ...	20
	1 do	... ...	15
	1 attender on	... ...	8
II Grade. Registering between 800 and 1,200 documents.	1 clerk on	... ...	15
	1 do	... ...	10
III Grade. Registering below 800 documents.	1 clerk on	... ...	10
	1 attender on	... ...	8

The scale is exclusive of a peon and a sweeper allowed for every Sub-Registry Office.

2. The proposals submitted by Mr. H. H. Sparkes, late Inspector-General of Registration, in the first of the letters read above fall under three heads :—

(i) Raising the status of certain Sub-Registry Offices with a consequential increase in the establishments attached to them ;

(ii) Increasing the establishments of certain Sub-Registry Offices of the I grade in which the number of documents registered exceeded 2,000 a year ; and

(iii) Splitting a Sub-Registry Office into two independent offices of the same class when the average number of documents registered in a year is more than Rs. 4,000.

These proposals involve an extra expenditure of Rs. 3,792 per annum.

3. Mr. K. S. Doraswami Iyer, who was the Officiating Inspector-General of Registration in June 1911, was next consulted and he considered that the scheme should provide automatically for the needs of gradual normal expansion of work in the department and suggested certain modifications in the scale proposed by Mr. Sparkes. He also recommended that the minimum pay of a Registration clerk should be raised from Rs. 10 to Rs. 12 a month.

4. After a careful consideration of the whole question and in supersession of the scale laid down in their Order No. 1115-24, dated 22nd January 1892, the Government of His Highness the Maharaja are pleased to direct that the establishment of the different classes of Sub-Registry Offices be revised as hereunder with effect from 1st July 1913.

(i) The minimum pay of clerks in the Sub-Registry Offices be fixed at Rs. 12 and that of the attender at Rs. 8 a month.

(ii) The following scale of clerical establishment be sanctioned for the different classes of Sub-Registry Offices :—

			Rs.
(a) Offices registering less than 800 documents a year.	1 clerk on	... ...	15
	1 attender on	... ...	8

		Rs.
(b) Offices registering between 800 and 1,200 annually, consecutively for three years.	1 clerk on 1 do	... 15 ... 12
(c) Offices registering between 1,200 and 2,000 a year, consecutively for three years.	1 clerk on 1 do 1 attender on	... 20 ... 15 ... 8
(d) Offices registering between 2,000 and 3,000 a year, consecutively for three years.	1 clerk on 1 do 1 do 1 attender on	... 20 ... 15 ... 12 ... 8
(e) For every 1,500 documents registered annually in excess of 3,000.	1 additional clerk on	... 12

(iii) The Inspector-General of Registration is authorised to sanction increase of establishment in accordance with the above scale based on the figures for three consecutive years intimating the fact at the same time to the Government and the Comptroller with a statement showing the figures for three consecutive years on which the additions to the scale are based.

(iv) When the number of documents registered in an office falls below the minimum prescribed for any class for three consecutive years, it should be reduced to the next lower class with a corresponding reduction of establishment.

(v) The question of splitting up an office by reason of the work therein being too heavy for a single registering officer to cope with will be considered in each individual case by Government and disposed of on its own merits.

5. The Inspector-General is requested to submit for the approval of Government a statement showing the scale of establishment in each Sub-Registry Office in accordance with the revision now sanctioned.

6. A provision of Rs. 5,000 will be made in the Registration Budget for 1913-14 to meet the extra cost that may result by giving effect to the revision.

2. Government Order No. 6380-8—L. B. 189-12-2, dated the 21st February 1913, directing that previous sanction of Government is necessary to adopt lower rates in exceptional cases.

3 Government Order No. 7541-81—L. B 233-12-6, dated the 26th March 1913, directing that, pending the further revision of the maximum rates of tolls, no toll shall be levied from foot passengers and that the rates of toll on motor cars and motor cycles shall not exceed one rupee and half a rupee respectively.

No. 8471-511—L. B. 233-12-7, DATED BANGALORE, 23RD APRIL 1913.

ORDER THEREON.—In supersession of the orders read above and of all other orders on the subject, Government are pleased to direct that the rates for the levy of tolls on public roads and bridges in Mysore shall not exceed those given in the schedule appended to this order.

2. The revised schedule will be published in the Mysore Gazette and will come into force immediately, except in cases in which the toll bars have been already leased out and the terms of the lease provide for the levy of higher rates than those given in the schedule. In such cases, the revised schedule will come into operation after the expiry of the present term of the lease.

3. It will be observed that the rates prescribed in the schedule are only the maximum rates which in no case should be exceeded. The sanction of Government should be obtained for the actual rates at which toll is to be levied at each gate whether Provincial or District Fund. In cases of toll-gates in which the actual rates now in force have been already sanctioned by Government and do not exceed the maximum rates given in the schedule, such rates will continue in operation unless and until sanction of Government is obtained to their modification. But where the rates now in force are in excess of the maximum rates given in the schedule, they will, on the expiry of the current period of lease, be reduced to such maximum rates. If further reduction is considered necessary by the Deputy Commissioner or President of the District Board concerned, each such case should be separately reported and orders of Government obtained.

No. 8515-6—Edn. 314-12-2, dated Bangalore, 23rd April 1913.

Order.—The Arts Colleges in the State do not contain provision for the teaching of Logic, Psychology and Ethics, constituting Branch IV of the B. A. Degree Examination and the Government do not consider it feasible or necessary just at present to provide for the teaching of the said subject and affiliating in it one of the Colleges in the State to the University. Until this is done, however, the Government consider that it is necessary to offer some help to enable students desirous of studying the subject to do so in Colleges outside the State. The Government are accordingly pleased to sanction the grant of two scholarships annually from the academical year commencing in July 1913 under the following conditions:—

(1) The value of the scholarships will be Rs. 20 each per mensem and they will be tenable for two years in the B. A. "Pass" course of any University in India.

(2) Candidates for the scholarships should be residents of the State and have passed the Intermediate Examination from one of the State Colleges.

(3) The scholarships will be awarded to the two students among the applicants who stand highest in rank in the results of the Intermediate Examination of the University.

2. The maximum expenditure involved in the above scheme is Rs. 960 per annum and the necessary provision will be included in the Education State Fund budget of 1913-14.

Letter No. 438, dated the 7th December 1912, from the Provisional Secretary to the Mysore Economic Conference, communicating for the orders of Government the recommendations of the Committee for Industries and Commerce in the matter of an application from Mr Irwin Monro for certain concessions for a Company to be floated under the name of "The Mysore Chemical and Pharmaceutical Works, Limited."

No. G. 5972-7—G. M. 55-12-171, DATED BANGALORE, 1ST APRIL 1913.

ORDER THEREON.—Mr. Irwin Monro, the Promoter of the "Mysore Chemical and Pharmaceutical Works, Limited," has applied for the grant of certain concessions on behalf of the said works, and the Committee for Industries and Commerce recommend the following concessions:—

(i) Duty free, alcohol for manufacturing purposes to be supplied from the Government Distillery at cost price.

(ii) Supply of wood for distillation at very moderate rates for a period of five years and at reasonable rates thereafter.

(iii) The construction of a good metalled road connecting the Distillation Factory with the railway line.

(iv) An agreement to procure from the Company such of its manufactures as are required by the State departments.

2. It is stated that, if the above concessions are granted, Mr. Monro will undertake to float the Company with a capital of five lakhs and, as a guarantee of his good faith to deposit Rs. 5,000 in the Bank of Madras to be forfeited to Government in the event of his failure to secure the capital within a reasonable time.

3. After carefully considering the matter in cosultation with the Excise Commissioner and the Conservator of Forests, Government agree with the Committee that the Industry proposed to be stated is deserving of encouragement and are accordingly pleased to accept the recommendations of the Committee with the following modifications:—

4. The Excise Commissioner will be authorized to issue alcohol from the Government Distillery to the Company at half the actual rate of duty for a period of five years. During this period the Company will be bound not to utilize the alcohol supplied at concession rates in any manner that is likely to interfere with the Excise revenue of Government; in other words, nothing should be manufactured with its aid or sold, which, though technically a pharmaceutical preparation, can be used as an intoxicant. After five years, the Company must pay the full duty. Government consider it inexpedient to remit the duty wholly or for an indefinite period, having regard to the purely commercial character of the concern.

5. As regards the supply of wood for purposes of distillation, the Conservator of Forests thinks that, if the distillation plant is installed in the Yedahalli Sub-Taluk, about 15,000 tons of wood suitable for this purpose can be made available annually at Rs. 1-8-0 per ton, the felling and extracting being done by the purchaser: and Government direct that this concession, which the Conservator considers feasible, be also granted to the Company. If the Company do not find this spot convenient and should decide to locate their factory elsewhere, the question whether any similar concession regarding the supply of timber may be granted to them, will receive due consideration.

6. With regard to the opening out of a road from the Distillation Factory to the nearest railway station so as to minimize the expenditure on transport of the products of the factory, Government are of opinion that it is for the Company to select a suitable site affording all the requisite conveniences of transport and provide themselves with the necessary means of communication. Government will, however, be prepared to make a small grant-in-aid towards the construction of the road, if the Company succeeds in establishing a useful industry.

General (Miscellaneous), dated 1st April 1913.

7. Government will also be glad to extend their patronage to the Company's preparations, if the articles prepared are of good quality and are not exorbitant in price. The Senior Surgeon will be requested to bear this in mind when obtaining supplies for the Medical Stores.

8. The grant of these concessions is subject to Mr. Irwin Monro, the Promoter of the Company, depositing with Government an earnest money of Rs. 5,000 as a guarantee of his good faith, which amount should be forfeited to Government in the event of his failing to float the Company and collect the necessary capital within a reasonable time. It should also be made clear to Mr. Irwin Monro that no further help, pecuniary or other, can be expected from the Government by the Company.

CIRCULAR.

No. G. 6661-710—G. M. 135-12-70, DATED BANGALORE, 30TH APRIL 1913.

The attention of the Government of India having been recently called to the difficulty sometimes experienced by the authorities at the India Office in tracing the relatives of Civil Officers whose death is reported from India, it has been suggested that it would facilitate the communication of the necessary information to the India Office, if all such Officers were warned of the desirability of placing on record among their private papers particulars of the names and addresses of relatives in England to whom in the event of their death they would desire intimation to be given. The Heads of Departments are accordingly requested to communicate this suggestion to the Officers concerned serving in their respective departments, for note and guidance.

2. The information available on this point should also be furnished in the monthly return of deaths of European Officers and pensioners submitted to Government by the Deputy Commissioners. A new column headed "Addresses in England of relatives (if known)" will be added for this purpose between the 7th and 8th columns to the form prescribed for the return in Government Circular No. G. 1204-50—G. M. 77-10-7, dated the 25th August 1910.

3. The Superintendent of Stationery is requested to have the form thus revised, printed at the Government Press, supplying 100 copies thereof to each of the Deputy Commissioners and keeping a sufficient number of them in stock at the Stationery Depôt to meet future requisitions.

The Administration Report of the Public Works Department for the year 1911-12, forwarded by the Chief Engineer with his letter No. C. 385, dated the 20th October 1912.

No. G. 6001-48—G. M. 185-12-5, DATED BANGALORE, 2ND APRIL 1913.

ORDER THEREON.—The report under review contains a record of satisfactory work by the Public Works Department. The total expenditure was Rs. 43,60,340 which was about 9 lakhs more than in the previous year. The increase is chiefly due to the special grant sanctioned for the construction of the Cauvery Reservoir Works.

2. The most important administrative measure of the year was the formation of a new circle of superintendence designated the Southern Circle, comprising the Bangalore and Mysore Districts and the Water-Supply and Stores and Palace Divisions. This circle along with the existing Northern Circle, constituted in 1910, takes the place of the Eastern and Western Circles which existed prior to October 1909. Government trust that the revival of the circles of superintendence will enable the Chief Engineer to make adequate arrangements for supervision of the work of the Department and raise its efficiency.

3. Although the Marikanave Project was practically completed two years ago, yet, owing to the insanitary condition of the villages in the Canal Area, the expansion of cultivation has not been satisfactory. Proposals for the introduction of the Block system of Irrigation with a view to overcome the evils of over irrigation and to promote economy in the use of water, have since been sanctioned by Government, and steps have also been taken for improvement of the sanitation of the villages. Government have no doubt that, if the Revenue Officers and the raiyats co-operate with the Officers of the Public Works Department, these measures can be made to produce very marked results in the development of this backward tract.

4. In the case of the Cauvery Reservoir, an expenditure of Rs. 7,01,883 was incurred up to the end of June 1912, and the work consisted in the excavation of foundations and making all necessary preliminary arrangements for the work. Some of the other important irrigation works that engaged attention during the year, were (i) improving and extending the Sri Ramadevar South Channel, (ii) reconstructing the slipped portion of the bund of the Ramasagara Tank and restoring the irrigation channels under it and (iii) constructing a new tank across the Vodli stream in the Hunsur Taluk.

5. A sum of Rs. 6,91,115 was spent on Civil Buildings, of which the Education and the Medical Departments absorbed the major part. The Physics Laboratory at the Central College, Bangalore, and the new High School at Bangalore, were completed while substantial progress was made with the Chemical Laboratory at the Central College, Bangalore, and the Chamarajendra Technical Institute at Mysore. The large and elegant Minto Opthalmic Hospital was approaching completion at the end of the year.

6. Government are of opinion that the present system of sanctioning buildings without a definite policy with regard to expenditure, is not satisfactory, and there is need for greater care in the adjustment of expenditure, according to the requirements of each Department. Government will be glad if, in consultation with Heads of Departments, the Chief Engineer will submit a forecast of the minimum expenditure required for buildings and other purposes during the next five years and a programme showing the order in which the buildings are to be taken up. Pending the preparation of a general programme for all Departments, the Chief Engineer will adopt the average expenditure on works during the last five years as the normal standard of expenditure in each department.

Public Works, dated 2nd April 1913.

7. Government regret to note that the restoration of minor tanks is no receiving adequate attention in many of the districts, and they desire to draw th special attention of the Deputy Commissioners to the need for greater activity, i future, in this important matter.

8. The Chief Engineer is requested to furnish a statement, in future reports showing the actual expenditure for the previous five years as well as the average fo the same period under all the important heads mentioned in the report, to enabl the Government to follow the variations in expenditure.

Petition dated the 29th May 1912, from certain factory owners in the City.

2. D. O. letter No. 77, dated the 24th July 1912, from the Chief Electrical Engineer to the Government of Mysore, submitting proposals for reducing the rates charged for power supplied to small factories in the City and Civil and Military Station of Bangalore.

RATES FOR POWER.

With reference to your D. O. No. 121, dated the 15th June 1912, with which was enclosed a petition from the Proprietors and Managers of some of the small factories in Bangalore City, praying for reduction in rates for electricity employed for motive power, I beg to state that I have considered the subject and am prepared to recommend to you the establishment of uniform rates for all power consumers other than those at present under special contract with Government (Messrs. Binny's Mills and the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway Company, Limited), under conditions which are more favourable than will result from the new proposed rate.

At present, we are supplying power to private consumers in Bangalore at rates per unit as shewn in the following table:—

Names	No. of H. P.	Minimum charge	Rate per B. T. U.	Remarks
City.		Rs. a. p.	Rs. a. p.
1. Binny's Mills ...	642	3,210 0 0	...	·45 anna per B. T U.
2. Indian Institute of Science	129	645 0 0	0 2 6
3. Messrs. Mackenzie & Co.	9	45 0 0	0 2 6
4. M. and S. M. Railway Workshop ...	70	350 0 0	0 1 0

8. Mr. V. Krishnaiah ...	2	9 6 0	0 2 6	Rated at 25 points.
9. Mr Ramachandra Rao Scindia	4	19 8 0	0 2 6	2 Motors of 2 H. P., each rated at 52 points.

3. Elgin Flour Mills ...	27	162 0 0	0 3 0
4. Mr. Ivatt, Brewery Co...	3	21 0 0	0 3 0	Rated at 42 points.
5. „ Janakiram Mudr. ...	3	21 8 0	0 3 0	Rated at 43 points.

From the above, you will note our rates vary from annas ·45 to annas 3 per unit, the rates for small motors in the City being an ½ anna lower than those applying in the Civil and Military Station. My proposal is that all motors either in the City or Cantonment and Mysore City, excepting those installed in Messrs. Binny's Mills and the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway Company's Workshop and Pumping Station be, in future, billed as follows:—

Stand-by charges.—A minimum payment of Rs. 4 per month per H. P. or fraction thereof in the rated capacity of the motor or motors connected or installed, as indicated by the manufacturer's standard nominal ratings based upon a maximum temperature rise of 40°C, above the surrounding atmosphere when operating continuously at its or their rated capacity.

In addition to the above minimum payment, the consumer to pay to Government for the current consumed and measured by the Government's meters as follows : —

	Anna per K. W. H.
Under 25 H. P.	1·5
Over 25 „ and under 50 H. P.	1
Over 50 „ „ 100 „	·875
Over 100 „ „ 200 „	·75
Over 200 „ „ 300 „	·7
Over 300 „ „ 400 „	·65
Over 400 „ „ 500 „	·6
Over 500	·5

To encourage the prompt payment of bills by consumers, I have increased the stand-by charge (Rs. 3 net) by Re. 1 per connected H P. over the proposed net, in order that a clause might be inserted in the contract form as follows :—

"Provided the consumer pays his bill for power on or before the 15th day of the month succeeding that in which the power was utilised, the Department will allow a discount of 25 per cent off the amount of stand-by charge "

Under the same condition regarding prompt payment, the consumer will be given discounts off that portion of the bill covering the sale of current by meter and depending upon the load factor in each month as follows . —

	Per cent.
For 60 per cent load factor	5
For 65 „ „	6
For 70 „ „	7
For 75 „ „	8
For 80 „ „	9
For 85 „ „	10
For 90 „ „	11
For 95 „ „	12
For 100 „ „	13

The load factor shall be determined by dividing the total kilowatt hours used in any month (as measured by an integrating wattmeter), by the total number of hours in a month times, the rated capacity of the motors installed upon which the minimum payment is based times ·746.

$$\frac{\text{Total Kilowatt-Hours.}}{\text{Hours in the month} \times \text{rated H. P.} \times \cdot 746.}$$

Considering Government in the light of a private Corporation desirous of selling electricity, I feel that the consumer located in the Cantonment Section should receive the benefits of the same rates as the consumer in the City Section; for, while it is true that the Cantonment Section does not pay taxes to the Government of Mysore. still any industries established in the Cantonment Section to utilise the products of the State must result in indirect benefit to the State, and purely from a commercial point of view, I recommend that the present discrimination in favour of Bangalore City as regards the sale of power be terminated.

As mentioned to you yesterday, the rates which I am now submitting are the same as those charged by the Company I represented in Canada and were arrived at after a good deal of discussion by the originators of the Power Scheme to meet the demand for a rate by meter to suit those consumers whose demands were intermittent and under those circumstances were unable to pay our flat rate charge of 50·00 or about £10 per H. P. per annum.

The stand-by charge is more than sufficient to cover the electrical losses in transformers, interest on cost of transformers, meters, etc., and is a guaranteed income whether the consumer uses any current during the month or not.

I do not hesitate to state that the present rates of Re. 0-2-6 and Re. 0-3-0 are too high and are a detriment to the more general use of electricity as a motive power.

The Binny's Mills have found electric power most satisfactory and there appears no reason why the Maharaja's Mill, which now uses steam, should not also be electrically equipped. The City Brick and Tile Works, also use a certain amount of steam power as does the local Brewery and we are now in treaty with the Peninsular Tobacco Company for the supply of current to their factory now under construction.

It is therefore most desirable that a definite schedule of rates be approved by Government and that those rates should be low enough to compete with steam power or power supplied by means of oil, petrol or gas engines, and I trust that you will be able to secure the necessary approval to the proposed revision of rates, as I look upon them as being equitable.

I am having a statement prepared to show the past earnings year by year from the sale of power to local industrial establishments. This will show the rate of increase and will serve as a basis for estimating probable future earnings. I hope to have this supplemental statement ready before you leave for Poona.

3. Letter No. 94, dated nil, from Mr. A. Chatterton, C.I.E., Adviser for Industries and Commerce, giving his opinion on the above proposals.

4. D. O. letter No. 114, dated the 22nd September 1912, from the Chief Electrical Engineer to the Government of Mysore, expressing his views with special reference to Mr. A. Chatterton's letter read above.

No. 160-3—C. P. S., DATED BANGALORE, 5TH APRIL 1913.

ORDER THEREON.—Some of the proprietors and managers of small factories in the Bangalore City have represented that the rate now charged for electric power (2½ annas per unit) is too high to permit of any extensive use of the power for industrial purposes and that a reduction of the rate to one anna per unit will tend to make the use of power more popular and to revive some of the neglected industries.

2. The Chief Electrical Engineer who was consulted in the matter states that the request of the factory owners is reasonable and has in his letter dated 24th July 1912 submitted proposals for reducing the rates in force.

3. Mr. Chatterton, C.I.E., Director of Industries and Commerce, is of opinion that the rates proposed by Mr. Beames for large motors above 25 H. P. are sufficiently low but that those for small motors are high.

4. Government on a careful consideration of the subject are satisfied that the rates charged at present are not sufficiently favourable for the employment of power in the smaller industries and are accordingly pleased to sanction the revised rates noted below with effect from 1st March 1913 for power supplied for industrial concerns in the City.

RATE FOR POWER.

„ 300 „ 400 H. P.	·65
„ 400 „ 500 H. P.	·60

MINIMUM CHARGES.

A stand-by charge will be levied whether the motors are worked or not at Rs. 4 per H. P. per mensem subject to a discount of rupee one per H. P. if the monthly bills are paid before the 15th of the month following.

Discounts varying from 5 per cent to 13 per cent will also be allowed for load factors varying from 60 per cent to 100 per cent, the discounts increasing by 1 per cent for every 5 per cent increase in the load factor.

5. As the supply of power now available is limited, Government are of opinion that it is necessary to show preference to the smaller industries and the supply will therefore for the present be restricted to motors aggregating 50 H. P.

or less. No applications for higher loads should be granted without the previous sanction of Government. All recommendations for sanctions to power supply in such cases should be accompanied by full information as to the reserve of spare power available.

6. Orders will separately issue regarding the revision of corresponding rates in the Cantonment.

Note dated the 15th July 1911, by the Chief Engineer, submitting proposals for the construction of Electric Tramways in Bangalore.

2. Note dated the 15th May 1912, from the same officer, submitting a revised project amounting to Rs. 6,75,530 for the tramways including the Civil and Military Station area.

3. Letter No. 63, dated the 23rd July 1912, to the First Assistant to the Hon'ble the Resident in Mysore embodying the terms and conditions under which the Government would extend the proposed Tramway line into the Civil and Military Station limits.

4. Letter No. 4908, dated the 23rd August 1912, from the First Assistant to the Hon'ble the Resident in Mysore, conveying the acceptance by the Municipal Commission, Civil and Military Station, of the proposals of the Durbar.

5. Letter No. 6210, dated the 21st October 1912, from the same officer, conveying the approval of the Government of India to start the construction of the tramway on the basis of the above proposals.

No. 165-72—C. P. S., DATED BANGALORE, 8TH APRIL 1913.

ORDER THEREON.—The question of opening a tramway service for Bangalore has come up for consideration before Government more than once but the heavy cost of the scheme has stood in the way of its being taken up before this. The rapid growth of the City during the last fifteen years and the development of the extensions on which Government have spent large sums of money have made the need for a rapid means of communication between the different parts of the City which has a length from north to south of five miles and the adjoining Cantonment, more and more felt. On the recommendation of the then Chief Engineer, Government approved in 1911 of the introduction of a tramway worked by electric power and as the Civil and Military Station Municipal Council were also desirous of obtaining the benefit of an Electric Tramway, Government ordered the Chief Engineer to submit a revised scheme so as to include both the City and the Civil and Military Station and authorized him to enter into the necessary negotiations with the Civil and Military Station authorities.

2. Accordingly, a revised project has been prepared by the Chief Electrical Engineer amounting to Rs. 6,75,530. The total length of the line will be 9·16 miles, of which 2·66 miles lie within the Civil and Military Station limits, the proportionate cost thereof being Rs. 2,07,893.

3. After due consultation and discussion at several conferences with the Civil and Military Station authorities, the following conditions have been agreed upon as the basis for the construction and the working of the line within the Civil and Military Station—

(a) That the Durbar should maintain separate accounts of the actual outlay incurred on the Civil and Military Station portion of the line.

(b) That the Durbar should advance the initial cost of the system within the Station limits on the understanding that the Civil and Military Station Municipal Commission should make good any deficit in the interest charges calculated at 4 per cent on the actual capital outlay and in the working expenses of the scheme including the usual charges for establishment and depreciation.

(c) That the Civil and Military Station Municipal Commission should, when the net profit on their portion of the lines exceeds the 4 per cent limit noted above, agree to share such excess equally with the Durbar.

(d) That the Civil and Military Station Municipal Commission should have the option of purchasing their portion of the line at the end of every five year period and that until such time as the purchase is effected, the Civil and Military Station section shall be treated as the property of the Durbar.

Public Works, dated 8th April 1913.

(e) That the whole system be worked on a commercial basis and be under the management of the Chief Electrical Engineer to the Government of Mysore both during the construction and the traffic stages.

(f) That a Committee composed of the marginally noted officers and gentlemen be associated with the Chief Electrical Engineer (who will be member and Secretary of the Committee) as a consultative body so that the Managing Agency may from time to time be kept informed of the wishes and conveniences of the residents of both the City and the Civil and Military Station, the Committee having no executive powers as long as the work is managed as a Government concern.

Two Representatives of the Civil and Military Station Municipality;
One Representative of the Bangalore City Municipal Council;
One account officer of the Government of Mysore; and One Engineer officer of the Mysore Public Works Department.

6. The Residency have intimated the acceptance by the Municipal Commission of the Civil and Military Station of the scheme generally, and have also conveyed the consent of the Government of India to the preliminary arrangements being made for starting construction of the tramway on the basis of the proposals mentioned in paragraph 5 above.

7. The Government are accordingly pleased to sanction the revised project amounting to Rs. 6,75,530 for the Electric Tramways in Bangalore.
